

HIGH WATER HOLDS TRAGIC REMNANTS OF WRECKED TRAIN

Repair Crews Forced to Wait Abatement of Flood—Ninth Fatality May Result From Severe Injuries

TUCUMCARI, N. M., Aug. 30.—(AP) In a flooded arroyo, usually dry, the Golden State limited lay today, mute evidence of the tragedy which took eight lives and injured more than two score.

Repair crews waited for abatement of the torrent to salvage the wrecked cars and repair the bridge, while a board of inquiry was called to investigate Tuesday's early morning wreck. The board will be composed of railroad officials and members of the New Mexico state corporation commission.

Physicians cared for about 35 of the injured here in hospitals or hotel rooms. Most of those able to travel left last night for the east on a special train made up here and routed via Delhart, Texas.

The revised death list, with two victims still unidentified:

- C. J. Croft, engineer, Tucumcari.
- James Randall, fireman, Tucumcari.
- W. H. Varley, Quincy, Ill.
- Mrs. Varley.
- F. D. Cook, Southern Pacific employe, El Paso.
- Sister Mary Cecelia, Tucson, Ariz.
- Two unidentified women.

Of the injured, Sister Mary Rosa of Tucson, Ariz., was not expected to live. She suffered a skull fracture, severe cuts and was badly scalded.

Train Going Slow. The train was proceeding slowly about five miles from here in a heavy rain. Then, as survivors tell it, there was a sudden lurch as the engine and five cars of the 11-coach train toppled off the trestle and piled up in the torrent. The engine was buried deep in mud and water.

Screams of the injured and dying, prayers and curses mingled in the darkness and confusion as terrified passengers sought to escape. Chauncey Dewey, conductor of the train, escaped from one of the rear coaches which had remained safely on the track and made his way through the storm, over rain-soaked roads, to summon aid from Tucumcari.

Bridge Carried Away. The concrete and steel bridge, 100 feet long, spanned the arroyo at a point where the bed is approximately 40 feet deep. Residents of the vicinity said a wall of water about 30 feet high had swept down the arroyo, after a cloudburst in the "Malpais"—badlands—upstream. Unknown to its engineer, the eastern section of the bridge had been carried away.

Grand Jury Ends Criminal Probes. The grand jury yesterday completed its investigation of criminal matters, without filing any further indictments, due to the absence of Judge H. D. Norton in Klamath county. Any true bills returned will be sealed, and opened upon the return of the court next week.

The grand jury convened today and inspected the county jail, poor farm, and other county establishments.

The grand jury has inquired extensively into the case of Charles W. (Chuck) Davis, held in the county jail. Davis engaged in a street altercation with Joseph B. (Bud) Johnston, which resulted in Johnston's death, when blows were assertedly struck, following a dispute over the ballot theft convictions. Davis entered a plea of guilty to ballot theft. Sentence was deferred pending conclusion of the present inquiry.

It is reported that in its inquiry into the case, witnesses that did not appear at the coroner's inquest were heard, including a man and his wife residing in the Jacksonville district, who were eye-witnesses of the fatal affray. The grand jury investigations into the case have been extensive.

SALSM, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Eventual canalization of the Willamette river between Oregon City and Salem is the hope expressed by the chamber of commerce committee here, which backed the project rejected here yesterday by Mayor-General Brown, chief of engineers at Washington.

HANSON WANTED AS HOLDUP MAN. Carl Hanson, who was arrested Friday night by city police and Sunday sentenced to thirty days in the county jail on charges of petty larceny, is wanted in Oregon City on a holdup charge, according to a warrant received by the state and city police Tuesday. The warrant was issued for George Henderson, one of the aliases used by Hanson.

Police records show that Hanson has served in San Quentin, California penitentiary, having been paroled February 26, 1930, and discharged while on parole April 22, 1931. Hanson was convicted in Humboldt county on a robbery charge, and in Los Angeles county on two counts. He was arrested in Clackamas county in 1931 on charges of larceny.

Hanson, under the name of Carl Alfred Henderson, was sentenced to the Oregon state penitentiary from Portland on charges of larceny of an auto, and assault and robbery, when armed with a dangerous weapon. He was discharged from the penitentiary in 1932.

Hanson, who gave his age as 25, will be returned north as soon as his sentence is completed here.

INVITE MAYOR WILSON VISIT STATE FAIR AS GUEST G. PASS MAYOR

Mayor E. M. Wilson today received an invitation from Mayor W. W. Stockwell of Grants Pass, to be guest of honor at the state fair on Labor Day to witness the presentation of the world's largest bouquet to Mrs. Julius L. Meier, the state's first lady. The huge floral piece will be made up of gladioli, all from Grants Pass and Josephine county.

More than 20,000 gladioli blooms are being shipped to Salem from Grants Pass. The bouquet will be 100 feet long and 30 feet wide, and will be held in place by 3,000 separate vases.

The mayor's letter states that the presentation ceremony will be witnessed by thousands. News-reel photographers will be there to record the event. The presentation will be made by J. O. Holt of Eugene, chairman of the board of agriculture. The bouquet's freshness will be maintained through far week, September 4-9, by new arrivals of gladioli from southern Oregon. Four truck lines have been chartered to do the carrying.

Less than two minutes later they were outside the building and in an automobile in which a fourth man and a woman had waited. The automobile sped from the scene.

Police this morning located Sonia Drenick to whom the automobile that had been used by the two victims in going to the restaurant, was registered. From Miss Drenick, who said she came to Los Angeles three years ago from Kansas City, police located an apartment used by the two women.

Searching the apartment, police said they found two suitcases which contained approximately $1,000 worth of narcotics.

Much credit was being voiced for the exceptional life-saving work of George Tako of Tofo, who Sunday was successful in saving Victor Hugo Daley, Jr. from drowning in Kelly's slough.

Tako, who is crippled, is seventeen years old, and attends the Central Point high school. Members of the boat crew who recovered Daley's body from the river, were today making efforts to obtain a life saving award for young Tako.

Three Stride Into Hollywood Cafe and Murder Pair Seated at Table—Pretty Girls Acted As Decoys

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A four-year-old mystery, all but forgotten by the police, was revived today as authorities sought the solution to the double assassination last night of Harry Mackley and Frank Keller, both of St. Louis, Mo.

The pistols of three men, roaring their message of death in the quietness of a fashionable Italian restaurant, moved down the two men as they were eating dinner.

Gangster reprisal was advanced by police as a motive for the crime.

Mackley, alias Harry Frank and Abe Frank, who had also lived in New York city, had been arrested here in 1929 as a suspect in the mysterious slaying of David Antink, secretary of the Sun Realty company.

The slayers of Antink have never been apprehended. Antink was shot down in front of his home September 26, 1929. He was to have been the state's star witness against Morris Moll, Kansas City gangster, who had allegedly sought to rob Antink and whose extradition had been sought by Los Angeles authorities without success from Kansas City.

Clues Unrevealed. Although police did not reveal what clues they were working on, they expressed the opinion the Antink killing and its subsequent developments may give the solution to last night's deaths.

Chief of Detectives Joe Taylor announced he was looking for two attractive young women who apparently served to lure Mackley and Keller to their deaths last night. The two young women had dined the previous night with the two men at the restaurant and it was believed they had made arrangements to meet them there again last night.

The three men who did the killing walked quickly into the restaurant and surrounded the table where Mackley and Keller were seated. They started firing without warning, and riddled the heads and shoulders of the two men in a cross-fire.

GEARY BATTLES COPS' CLAIM OF DRUNKEN DRIVE

Briefs have been filed by the state and defense in the case of Ben Geary of Elk Creek, arrested for alleged drunken and reckless driving. The state specifically alleges that Geary backed up and turned around on the Crater Lake Highway on August 19, last, contrary to traffic rules and public safety.

The defense, in its brief, contends that Geary was not intoxicated, that he had drunk nothing but three bottles of legal beer at Trail, that he was able to relate the conversation he had with officers when arrested, and that he was able to perform the "difficult feat" of backing up an auto.

The state claim that Geary had "a papillary acceleration" and "increased pulsation" due to the presence of intoxicants within, is contended by the defense to have been due to the excitement of being arrested.

The defense also avers that the state, in its brief, and syllabus, failed to state the law covering intoxication in full, and hints that it was for the purpose of "deceiving the honorable court."

The defense also cites opinions and definitions of intoxication, and that it is very difficult of definition by lawyers or determination by laymen.

The state contends in its brief that Geary comes within the law covering intoxication and reckless driving, and
