

TWIN BILL SUNDAY BENEFITS INJURED ON MEDFORD NINE

The Gilmore Oil company baseball team of Medford and the Gold Hill nine have come to the front by offering their services for a benefit game to raise funds to pay medical and hospital bills for the two Medford players who were injured during the season. Luke Lange, who started the season at second base for the Rogues, sustained a broken arm when hit by a fast ball in a game at Ashland July 4th, while George Harrington had some teeth knocked out at Klamath Falls by a pitched ball.

A double-header will therefore be staged at the fairgrounds Sunday afternoon with the Gilmore team meeting Gold Hill in the first game and the Rogues and Jacksonville tangling in the second fray. The Gilmore team defeated the Gold Hillers 6 to 5 last Sunday at Gold Hill. Even though losing the game, much credit must be given Hamersley, Gold Hill pitcher, who struck out 21 of the Gilmore batters during the game.

The Jacksonville-Medford game should also be an interesting game. Ever since the Rogues overwhelming victory over the Miners early this season, the Jacksonville boys have been clamoring for a return engagement. They have strengthened their team until they feel now that it is on a par with the Rogues. Marvin Montgomery has been added to the pitching staff, while Ivan Harrington will do the receiving. Marvin held the hard-hitting Gold Hill team to six hits two weeks ago at the "Gold Rush," but lost the game 2 to 1.

The first game between Gold Hill and the Gilmore team will start at 1:00 p. m., and as soon as they finish, Jacksonville and the Rogues will take the field. The regular admission charge will prevail.

Restraint Needed By Weekly Golfer

By JOHNNY FARRELL
(As told to Artie McGovern)

Golf, more than most sports, offers everything possible in the way of healthful benefits, but a good share of its followers reap more harm than good from it, simply by overdoing.

I refer, of course, to those who confine their golf to week-ends. It is a dangerous practice for a man who gets no exercise all week, to go out on Saturday and Sunday and play up to the very limit of his endurance.

We have had several three-day holidays this year and I have seen golfers play almost without interruption over the entire period.

Thirty-six holes of golf in a single day may not bring on any dire results immediately, but the practice will take its toll sooner or later.

Of course, I realize that everyone cannot play nine holes each day but at least the week-end golf can be halved, and supplemented with some other form of exercise for a few minutes each morning or evening.

GOLFER WATCHES HOTEL GOLDFISH TO QUIET NERVES

SEATTLE—(UP)—During a tournament he watches goldfish in the lobby of a hotel until 1 a. m. Then he goes to bed and awakens the next morning—tired.

That's Albert "Scotty" Campbell, who, with Frank Dolp of Portland was a northwest sectional qualifier for the national amateur golf tournament, to be held in Cincinnati September. Dolp, ex-western champion, scored 138 and was low qualifier over the entire country.

"I play better when I'm tired," Scotty explained. "It relieves the tension and I'm relaxed and can't tighten up. But," he shrugged, "I guess the doctors think I'm 'nuts'."

Campbell is the latest sensation of the northwest golfing world.

The lad, who, on Aug. 30, enjoyed cake in celebration of his 20th birthday, never has taken a golf lesson. He started caddyding at 10.

Then this summer, within two weeks, he won the Pacific Northwest Amateur and the Canadian Amateur.

He drove back in an old car from Vancouver, B. C., to Seattle, following the latter tourney. He arrived about 4 a. m. At 7 a. m. he was on his way across the mountains to Spokane—340 miles distant—to take part in the Washington State open.

Overgolfed, he nevertheless was low amateur in the 72-hole medal test. He shot a 70 as part of the following state amateur qualifying round, and then, so tired that even his sturdy constitution could no longer function—he'd lost 14 pounds in three days—the doughy Scot declared a moratorium on golfing for awhile.

Already he has a mantelful of trophies. Seattle golf bugs hope he gets the national amateur trophy, and so will Portland golfers if Frank Dolp is eliminated, because this ruddy-cheeked lad has captured the hearts and fancies of every club-swinger in the Northwest, regardless of community.

Big College Classes Expected.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Increased college enrollment this fall is expected by Ira M. Smith, registrar at the University of Michigan, because of the many high school graduates unable to start their college education the past two years on account of business conditions.

Horseshoe Pitchers' 'Czar' Wants Place in Olympics

LONDON, Ohio.—(AP)—Horseshoe pitchers are shooting for a new "ring" in a spot on the program of the International Olympic games and world recognition of their sport.

The National Horseshoe Pitchers' association, encouraged by a growing interest in the game and success of a "world" tournament at the Chicago exposition, has mapped out a campaign to include the event at the next international sportsfest.

With a newly formed controlling body and a "czar," a magazine to record the skill, ranking and other pertinent data about players and the game, officers of the association say they are prepared to elevate the sport to major rank within a few years.

London is "Capital."

Here at London, a community of some 5,000 population, R. B. Howard, secretary-treasurer of the national association, is busy setting up a "horseshoe pitching capital." Also executive pitching of the controlling committee of five, he plans a bureau with sufficient clerical help to carry out the ambitious program adopted by the association.

The "big five" has been charged with the task of developing the sport on the professional as well as the amateur side, and setting up an international committee to break into the Olympics schedule.

Members of the committee besides Howard include B. G. Leighton of Virginia, Minn., former president of the national association; Alex Cumming of Minneapolis, president of the association, and Victor Larsen of New York, an advertising executive and horseshoe enthusiast. The national recreation council has been invited to select a fifth member.

To help this committee an advisory group of at least 300 will be named, Howard announced. They will be drawn from the legions of horseshoe pitchers in all parts of the country.

Besides Cumming as president, other officers of the association are L. E. Tanner of Anchor, Ill., first vice-president; P. V. Harris of Holden, Mass., second vice-president, and Clem Porter of Glendale, Cal., third vice-president.

DEATH RATE HIGH IN COAST TRAFFIC

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—Pacific coast states reported the highest automobile death rate per 100,000 population in 1932 and 1931. Respective death rates for combined states of Washington, Oregon and California were 33.2 and 37.2. Rate for the entire country was 21.9 for each 100,000 persons in 1932, and 25.1 in 1931. California's rate of 36.9 in 1932 was exceeded only by Nevada and the District of Columbia.

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—Four-H clubs of Linn, Benton, Lane and Washington counties recently used the state's radio station, KGAC, to advertise their county club fair.

RUTH NOT READY TO QUIT DIAMOND

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(AP)—So far from being ready to retire, Babe Ruth is looking forward to playing regularly again for the New York Yankees next season.

Indignant at reports that he had decided to "hang up his spikes," the big slugger declared he was by no means convinced he could no longer play regularly, despite his 39 years.

"So much has been written about my plans for next year," the Babe said in a formal statement, "that I wish to make myself clear on this matter. I will make no decision about retiring from baseball until I am convinced I can no longer play. I will not know about 1934 until I have had some spring training. I hope to play next year. I believe I will be able to, so, for the present at least, I am not retiring from baseball."

OREGON FAMILIES MOSTLY WHITES

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—Only 10 states have a higher percentage of native white families than Oregon.

Indiana, declaring 89.2 per cent of her families are native whites, leads. Other high ranking states are Kentucky, Kansas, Oklahoma, Virginia, Iowa, Missouri, Idaho, Vermont and Nebraska.

Oregon reported 216,000 native white families, a percentage of 81.2.

Washington's percentage of native white families was 73, California 70.5, Nevada 69.7, Montana 71.8 and Arizona 70.4.

KRUSE, CANTONWINE DRAW SUSPENSION

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—(UP)—Howard Cantonwine of Iowa and Bob Kruse of Portland, Ore., were suspended today for acting as grapplers tamely.

Chaplain Leslie C. Kelly, member of the commission, charged they disregarded a commission edict against rowdiness and clowning.

"The suspension," he said, "is going to stick."

The recent match ended with four San Francisco police in the ring, in addition to the wrestlers and the referee. It was a bloodless melee.

CCC MEN IMPROVING STATE GRAZING AREA

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—Oregon grazing areas are being improved through work of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Many crews are engaged in exterminating larkspur, a poisonous plant which causes death of hundreds of cattle.

State forest officials say stockmen will be saved thousands of dollars annually through this work. Larkspur does not effect sheep.
