VETERANS' SONS TO KEEP ALIVE LEGION IDEALS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(Sp.)—The ideals of unselfish service to country, stentily taught in camps, and on ships and battlefields of the World war, will not die with the passing of the last World war veteran. This fact has been assured through the establishment this year of a national organization called the Sons of the American Legion, states a report to be made by the Sons of the American Legion committee to the Legion's national convention in Chicago, October 2 to 5.

How the Sons of the American Legion was organized and how it will perpetuate the ideals of the American Legion is explained in the report by Bryce P. Beard of North Carolina, chairman. Establishment of the organization was authorized by the national convention in Portland, Ore., last fall, and already local squadrons have been formed in many parts of the country.

Constitution and bi-laws, manual of ceremonies, and program of activities for the new organization have been drawn up by the committee, and have been adopted by the Legion's national executive committee. All male descendants of men and women who served honorably in the armed forces during the World war are eligible for membership. The Chicago convention will be asked to extend membership eligibility to step-sons and adopted sons of veterans.

"The paramount purpose of the committee," its report states, "was to perpetuate the ideals and adopt in letter and spirit all of the great principles upon which the American Legion stands. It also seeks to inculcate in our boys while they are young these ideals, believing that when they reach their majority they will be unlikable many other sons of soldiers' organizations in which the membership was solicited after they had reached their majority, and, therefore, they were not trained and taught the great principles upon which the organization were founded, and lacked interest in perpetuating the memories of their fathers' and mothers' war service and the peace-time obligation to their community, state and nation."

"Secondly, through this organization we hope to definitely and permanently preserve the individual war World war records of all men who served in the committee was mindful to in no way encroach on the Boy Scouts of America program."

Tennessee's first school tax was levied in 1854.

Dunn At Rialto

James Dunn has the role of a young police surgeon in "The Girl in 419" playing at the Rialto theater until Thursday. Gloria Stuart, David Manners, Jack LaRue and Johnny Hines, an old-time favorite, are also featured.

Ramon Novarro Hit Comes To Craterian

Romance of the torrid variety interspersed with delectable comedy sequences make Ramon Novarro's new starring vehicle, "The Barbarian," which opens tomorrow at the Craterian, one of the most enjoyable of this star's recent photoplays.

The picture follows all the best traditions of desert drama its story making the most of several melodramatic and romantic incidents. It differs however in its decidedly different and comic central situation which introduces a character new to pictures, a phylandering, young Egyptian guide. This rascal finds that his good looks pay exceedingly well as he takes impressionable women for a view of the Pyramids.

Garage Conceals 'Hot-Car' Gang—"The Devil is Driving," starring Edmund Lowe and Wynne Gibson, opens at the Rialto today. Action is set in a New York garage, a "front" for a gang which specializes in stolen automobiles and operates a luxurious speakeasy on the top floor.

Masked Bandits Rob Oil Plant

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 5.—(AP)—Two men, both wearing black masks, broke in the Signal Oil company plant here today, overpowered the watchman, "blow" the safe and escaped with $1470 in currency, police were informed.

Ira Pfeister, the watchman, told the officers that the intruders confronted him suddenly, one producing a revolver and the other carrying a large club.

The North Carolina state prison used only 61 per cent of its appropriation during the last fiscal year.

The ALL ELECTRIC LivingRoom

More GOLDEN HOURS OF FREEDOM

The Perfect Servant

PROPER LIGHTING comes first in the "All Electric" living room and should be so distributed that the various activities of every member of the family are possible without discomfort or dangerous eyestrain. At least two floor lamps and two table lamps are necessary in addition to the general room illumination. The radio, because of its educational and entertainment value, belongs in the living room. An electric clock, because of its economy and accuracy, will also prove its value here. A sunlamp to supply the health giving rays the winter sun often fails to do will do much to build happy, healthy children. A fan to furnish cooling breezes and much needed ventilation for hot summer days and evenings should also be included.

These few inexpensive appliances can be operated for a ridiculously small sum each month and the additional comfort and health enjoyed by every member of the family will be invaluable. By all means make YOUR living room "All Electric"
