

TREASURY GIVES REGULATIONS FOR GOLD SHIPMENT

Newly Mined Metal Must Contain at Least Two Ounces Refined Gold and Two Parts Gold in Five

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Under new regulations issued by the treasury, consignments of newly mined gold intended for sale or export must contain at least two ounces of refined gold and at least two parts of gold in five, by assay.

The gold will be receivable in the form of bars, kings, buttons, retort sponge, lumps, grains and dust in their native state free from earth or stone or nearly so.

All consignments must be accompanied by an affidavit showing the source of the gold and the time it was mined. Persons delivering gold must keep an accurate record of all gold mined or acquired, and these records must be available for examination by representatives of the treasury for at least a year after a consignment of gold has been delivered.

The regulations said: "When, after a delivery of gold on consignment for sale, the mint is satisfied that the same may properly be sold under the provisions of the executive order of August 29, 1933, and these regulations, and that the consignor has fully complied with the same, and after assay, it shall certify to the federal reserve bank in the district in which the mint is located that it has available for sale, in accordance with the said executive order, for the account of the person by or on whose behalf the gold was consigned, the amount of gold shown by such assay, and shall also certify the mint charges applicable thereto."

The said federal reserve banks are authorized to sell such gold, as nearly as may be in the order of certification, to persons licensed to acquire gold for use in the arts, industries or professions, at the price determined by the secretary of the treasury from time to time. The secretary of the treasury will telegraph daily to the federal reserve banks the price which he determines is equal to the best price obtainable in the free gold markets of the world less expenses incident to shipment and sale.

The said banks shall notify the respective mints of sales made by them. If such gold is not sold upon the day of and the day following its certification to a bank it shall be offered for sale to foreign purchasers by the federal reserve bank of New York.

SUGAR PINE SOLD AT HIGHER PRICE

Three carloads of rough sugar pine lumber have been sold by the Owen-Oregon Lumber Sales company to the government this week at the highest price for rough lumber in the memory of James H. Owen, general manager of the local plant. The three cars brought from $900 to $1700 per car.

The lumber shipment was consigned to the navy yard at Bremerton, Wash., where it will be used in making patterns for naval construction.

All the lumber was clear, sawed to assorted sizes and lengths, and before accepted was inspected by the lumbermen's association and government inspectors.

VISCOUNT GREY PASSES, AGED 71

CHRISTON BANK, England, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Viscount Grey of Fallodon, who, as Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, gave Germany the ultimatum plunging Great Britain into the world war, died today at the age of 71.

He virtually retired from public life in 1916 because of failing eyesight and had been seriously ill for more than a week.

Death came to him at Fallodon, his beautiful home on the Northumbrian coast, and was believed to have resulted from high blood pressure.

As foreign secretary for the eleven years from 1905 to 1916, Viscount Grey was famed to play a leading role in the destinies of Europe. He never wavered in his stand on behalf of Belgium after exhausting every effort to avert the war.

DOG HERO SAVES FIRE PATROLMAN IN BEAR BATTLE

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 7.—(AP) John Huelsdonk, famous "Iron Man of the Hoh," whose wilderness feats have become almost legendary in the Olympic peninsula, grappled for his life Sunday with a she-bear and survived.

Huelsdonk was out on fire patrol on the Swamish trail when his cougar dog Tom scared up a bear a few feet off the trail. With one smash of a huge paw, the bear hurled the dog 30 feet across the trail and took after him. The dog ran and the bear attacked the 66-year-old pioneer instead of pursuing the hound.

Biting and clawing, the bear carried Huelsdonk down while the man battled fiercely. Then the cougar dog, who is nearly as famous on the peninsula as his master, charged the bear so ferociously the brin's attention was diverted. Huelsdonk dragged himself to his rifle. A single bullet dispatched the bear as it and the dog were locked together in combat.

With one leg mangled and bleeding from a dozen claw wounds, Huelsdonk and the lacerated dog limped their way five miles to their ranch home in the middle Hoh river valley, 17 miles by trail from Forks in Clallam county.

District Fire Warden Charles Crippen hurried to the ranch by horse to remove Huelsdonk to the hospital at Forks. But the settler gruffly remarked he had lived in the wilderness 43 years without going to a hospital and "he wasn't going to start now because of a few scratches."

He admitted he had a close call and credited the dog with saving his life. Some 50 years ago scores of Peninsula settlers declare Huelsdonk carried on his back a full size cook stove with a sack of flour in the oven. He transported the load from Forks, 17 miles by trail to his wilderness home. A forest ranger who met him on the trail commented on the size of the load but Huelsdonk, thinking nothing of it, said the only thing that bothered him was the sack of flour shifting around in the oven and unsettling the load. Even now at 66 his physical strength is said to be remarkable and many campfire tales have been woven about his feats.

BUSTER KEATON IN 'WHAT! NO BEER?'

Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante turn the laugh on the beer question in "What! No Beer?" now at the Studio.

Between them these comics turn 3.2 per cent beer into 100 per cent laughs.

"Its price is so small and its value is so great that it simply doesn't pay to be without it"

Saving strength is not a luxury. It's the thrifty thing to do, in household or business. An old subscriber tells us, who discontinued her telephone in recent months and now is ordering her service restored, "I found that my telephone saved strength and time more than I had ever dreamed, and more nickels, dimes and quarters than its monthly service costs." Nothing does so much for so little as your telephone.

FARM PRODUCTS AT LOWER PRICE IN RECENT DAYS

Grain and Butter Considerably Under Values of Month Ago — Farm Income Is Over Year Ago

SALEM, Ore. — (UP) — Prices of most farm products are now lower than during early summer, reports the bureau of agricultural economics, department of agriculture. Prices of grain and butter are considerably lower and hogs and other products slightly lower than a month ago.

Though farm income has declined somewhat, it is still much higher than at the same time a year ago, the bureau reported. Most recent estimates placed average prices 76 per cent those received in 1910-14, regarded as normal years. This is compared 64 per cent early in June of this year, 57 in July, 1932, and the all-time low of 49 in February, 1933.

Costs Grow Slowly. Average prices paid by farmers, while running higher than those received, have not advanced so rapidly, the economists say. Exchange value of farm products for commodities purchased now stands at 72 per cent, compared to pre-war values of 100 in each case. Exchange value percentage was 62 in June and 63 a year ago.

Employment and payrolls have continued slow gains. Latest survey indicated factory employment was 64.9 per cent normal, factory payrolls 46.1 per cent.

Industrial activity, report the economists, is now entering a test phase of the business cycle. The past four months have been a period of building up inventories, accompanied by only a moderate increase in retail sales. Should consumer purchasing continue to increase in the next few months, further improvement in general business conditions may be expected.

Wheat Surplus Cut. Average farm price of wheat in July was 89.6 cents a bushel, compared to 88.7 cents the previous month and 85.6 cents in July, 1932. Price in the United States is almost high enough to start imports over the tariff wall, as world price has not markedly increased. Wheat surplus in the United States was considerably decreased by a short crop this year, less than what is normally consumed.

Potatoes this year are showing a noted increase in price. During July the average U. S. farm price was 97.5 cents a bushel, compared with 49.8 in July, 1932, and 81.3 for the average of last five years.

Hog Market Poor. Hog market, on eve of the government reduction plan, remains depressed, with prices low and feed costs mounting. With increasing slaughtering because of poor pasture and feed prospects, beef cattle prices are likely to rise during coming months.

Butter prices mounted rapidly during the early part of the summer, but have since declined somewhat. Price of butter has followed closely depreciation and appreciation of the dollar value on foreign exchanges. Egg prices are increasing slowly, despite the fact that production is greater than a year ago.

Farm prices of chickens showed a slight increase during July, compared to a usual mid-summer decline. Wool market is not active now, but prices are holding firm.

The pugnacious general met these open challenges in the press immediately.

The Strange Case of little Mary Dodd

[A REAL LIFE MOVIE]

1. How puzzled Mary Dodd's parents were! She had always been such a bright, vivacious little girl. So full of life and interest in everything about her. And now... so listless, irritable. Not herself at all!

2. So Mrs. Dodd took Mary to Dr. Kent. How surprised she was when he mentioned—constipation. And then... more outdoor exercise, fresh fruit and vegetables, lots of water between meals—and added bulk in the diet."

ble than any other in recent years. If the soft coal men are to be believed they have reached the end of their rope. They say they have been living on capital for some time and simply cannot stand an additional burden of increased wages and shortened hours.

Mr. Roosevelt told leading bituminous operators they were over-producing. This was nothing new to them. They know it only too well.

As matters now stand, the bituminous operators are looking at a federally-written code only because they have nothing else to do.

But they have an answer. It is to accept the inevitable against which they have been fighting for years and close down about 50 per cent. This would solve the problem of over-production and eventually bring about economic readjustment of the industry.

Such a move would wreak havoc however with the general idea of putting more men back to work.

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, is fighting this contingency to the last ditch. He has just doubled his membership, drawing almost entirely from hitherto non-union fields, on a promise of better working conditions.

"Ah me," say the operators, "there have been too many of us for a long time. Right now mine that should be filled in anticipation of winter are only 25 per cent of last year. We'll have to give up the ghost."

Uncle Sam seems to be in a very uncomfortable middle.

MORE HOURS OF FREEDOM LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING is unexciting work at best... why make it harder by dark kitchens, cupboards, closets, cellars? It doesn't pay to grope in the dark. Lamps cost only half what they did six years ago. Electric light costs only one-hundredth as much as the same amount of light from candles. Improper lighting makes the children's school work harder. A writer in the New York Medical Journal says, "By far the larger proportion of functional depressive disorders in the young are due to eye-strain." Some authorities even go so far as to say that poor eyesight is often to blame for seeming stupidity, restlessness and truancy. A new lighting development makes it unnecessary to take poor lighting risks at least in the living room. A new type floor lamp floods the entire room with shadowless light or serves as the conventional reading light... or both. Made by several manufacturers, it is for sale at your dealer. Why not by one in your living room tonight?
