

DEPOSIT GUARANTY POOR LEGISLATION DECLARE BANKERS

Association Asks President Roosevelt to Create Commission for Drafting of New Law Immediately

CHICAGO, Sept. 7. (AP) — The American Bankers association expressed its opposition to the federal guaranty of bank deposits today in a resolution asking the national administration to create a commission to draft new banking legislation immediately.

Under the act of 1933 the government has undertaken to insure deposits of $2500 or less after Jan. 1, 1934.

The resolution, sponsored by the national banking division of the association and adopted by the full convention, pointed out there still remained time for a commission to study the entire American banking system and prepare legislation to supersede the guaranty act before it became effective.

Would Postpone Act "We recommend," it said, "to the national administration at Washington that it seek means for postponing the initiation of deposit insurance which under provisions of the banking act of 1933 would be in operation at the beginning of 1934."

Cooperation between state and federal authorities in the authorization of new banks and branches, the divorcing of bank supervision from politics, modification of eligibility provisions of the federal reserve act and gradual extension of branch banking were urged today by George V. McLaughlin, president of the Brooklyn Trust company.

Unified System Needed McLaughlin said a unified system under a single supervision should be attained, but temporarily he suggested legislation to remove the possibility of "competition in laxity" between the two sets of supervisory authorities—federal and state.

"It has been said that we should not permit our banking system to become a football for speculators. To this I will add that neither should we permit it to become a football for politicians. In the past it has often been kicked all over the field by both teams," he said.

He urged repeal of permanent deposit insurance provisions of the Glass-Steagall banking act which become effective July 1, 1934. "As soon as the public realizes this act does not mean that the government guarantees bank deposits, but merely that the banks insure each other, its value as a builder of confidence will be seriously impaired if not destroyed."

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Walter J. Cummings of Chicago and E. G. Bennett of Ogden will be the directors of the federal deposit corporation.

Announcement of the selection of the men to manage the Bank Deposit Insurance corporation was made before the American Bankers' association today by J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency.

O'Connor himself is expected to collaborate closely with the directors, as he is, ex-officio, a third director of the corporation.

One-Armed Heroes In Golf Tourney

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Sept. 7.—(P)—Forty-four golfers who had left an arm on one of Britain's far-flung battlefronts, came from all parts of the United Kingdom today to participate on the first championship for one-armed golfers.

Forty of the players lost their arms in the World war, the other four in engagements before 1914.

304 CARS PEARS SHIPPED TO DATE FROM THIS AREA

Up to last night, pear shipments from Medford and Phoenix stations over the Southern Pacific, totaled 304 cars. Of this number 218 were packed pears, and 86 cannery consignments.

At this time last year approximately 450 cars of pears had been shipped. The 1932 season was more advanced, which explains the discrepancy. According to railroad attaches, the 1933 shipments, considering the number of shipping days, is favorable.

It is expected that Bartlett picking and packing will be completed this week. Threatening weather Tuesday delayed the picking in some orchards. Some Howells are being picked now.

Picking and packing of Bosca is expected to start next week, closely followed by D'Anjou.

According to orchardists, Prof. F. C. Helmer, and County Horticulturist L. P. Wilcox, the Bosca market prospects appear favorable. Shortness of the Bartlett crop in California, Yakima, and this valley is held as aiding the pear market in the east for Bosca and other late varieties.

Some orders for D'Anjou from France have been received, and await the establishment of the September quota by the French government. It is expected to be announced about September 15.

All packing plants are operating on full time, and close to 2000 people are engaged in various phases of the pear harvesting work. The highest percentage in years of this employment is being performed by home folks, packing managers say.

HOLINESS ASSOCIATION WILL MEET ON FRIDAY

Hoover Household Backs Blue Eagle By Signing Pledge

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Herbert Hoover household, citizen consumers, is signed up under the wide-spreading wings of President Roosevelt's blue eagle.

The query whether the former president has signed an NRA consumer's pledge was made to him through his secretary, Paul Sessions.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover are the only members of the family living at the campus home here. But the "household," Session said, includes secretaries of both and servants.

PRIZED POMERANIAN FOUND FOR TOURISTS BY HUMANE SOCIETY

An illustration of the valuable service extended the public by the Jackson County Humane society in locating lost animals was realized recently by the Graton's of Klamath Falls, who lost their prized pomeranian "Sally," on the Crater Lake highway.

The little dog strayed from the car while the family stopped by the roadside, and her absence was not noted until the Graton's had continued several miles up the highway. The search was then begun but the little dog was not located. When the case was reported to the humane society an advertisement was immediately placed in the Mail Tribune and a radio announcement made. A few days later "Sally" was delivered to the Humane society by S. H. Hawk.

Then on to her mistress. And the pleasure expressed by the little dog upon sight of her owner, Mrs. Elyne Richardson of the Humane society stated yesterday, would have repaid anyone for finding her.

Reporting the case, Mrs. Richardson emphasized the need for all persons finding lost or stray dogs to report them immediately to the Humane society. The dogs, she stated, suffer more than their masters when they are separated, and this cooperation of the public will aid the society greatly in recovering animals, as most persons who lose dogs immediately inform the Humane society.

WARM LUNCHES FOR NEEDY CHILDREN TO BE PROVIDED AGAIN

The Lincoln Service club, which offered such splendid aid during the past year in bringing warm lunches to many school children, who otherwise would have been without, and much other needed relief, is ready to renew activities again with the opening of the school year. Mrs. Roy Buckingham announced today, issuing a call for donations of tomatoes and pears to be preserved for the needy.

Half gallon jars are also needed by the service club for canning foods to be consumed in the school lunch room, and anyone having fruit or jars to give is asked to telephone Mrs. Buckingham at 528. Arrangements will be made for someone to call for the donations. The relief room at the school house will also be open for receipt of donations from 10 a. m. to 12 noon on Saturday, and from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. next Monday.

Any persons in need of help are also asked to call at the school during these same hours. Thirty-five needy children were served lunches, free of charge, each school day last year by the Lincoln Service club, which also prepared lunches for many other children able to pay for the hot dishes. The tomatoes and pears donated this year will be canned in the homes of the club members.

First Methodist Choir Organizing For Coming Year

The choir of the First Methodist church is organizing for the winter season. A number of new voices are being added. Mrs. C. H. Paske will again direct the choir and Mrs. F.

Huenergardt continues as organist. A number of sacred concerts and cantatas are planned for the season as well as the regular anthem work. The first practice of the season will be this evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the church. Any singers wishing to become members of this choir are invited. There also will be a young people's choir for the evening services, arrangements for which will be announced later.

Notice. School District No. 102 wishes to call for bids for a bus driver for the coming year. Bids to be in hands of clerk by Friday, September 8. JOSEPH E. LESTER, Clerk. Rt. 2, Box 23, Biddle Road.
