Many Church Circles To Meet Tomorrow

Tuesday, always favored as a day for meeting by church circles of Medford, will be unusually busy this week as many groups resume activities for the fall and winter season.

The calendar for the day is crowded with meetings. Grace circle of the Presbyterian church will hold its first session of the new year at the river cabin of the Charles Reames. A covered dish luncheon will be enjoyed and each member of the circle is asked to bring her own table service.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the First Baptist church will meet in the recreational hall of the church at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow to complete the work started for the rummage sale.

Mrs. Fredrick Johnson of 2322 East Main street will be hostess to members of the East Side circle of the Presbyterian church, who are asked to gather there at the luncheon hour. Following luncheon, time will be devoted to sewing for the Red Cross.

The Merit club will also be meeting tomorrow. The session will be held in the church parlors at 1 o'clock, when a pot luck luncheon will be served.

The Ever Ready Circle of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Lindley at 225 Mistletoe street Tuesday, and the Sunny Sisters of the same day with Mrs. Maude West, at 425 North Holly, at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Wm. Hollway will be hostess to the Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday afternoon, when the program will be directed by Miss May Phipps.

Eugene Jacksons Honored at Two Affairs

Mrs. Eugene Jackson, the former Ellen Wilson, whose marriage to Mr. Jackson was an event of August 30, was honored Friday evening at a surprise shower, given by a group of her friends, who called at her home, where bridge was enjoyed, following the presentation of gifts.

Prizes at cards were awarded Miss Viola Strong, Mrs. Jackson and Miss Ruth Adkins. Present were: Mesdames Jackson, Charles Brown, J. E. McAllister, John Elson and Ray LeFevre and Misses Ruth Adkins, Viola Strong, Jean Fitzgibbon and Marquette McAllister.

Saturday evening another surprise affair was arranged, complimenting both Mr. and Mrs. Jackson. Many of their friends gathered at their home to extend congratulations and home to extend congratulations and the evening was devoted to dancing.

Eagle Point P. T. A. Names New Officers

Officers to head activities of the Eagle Point Parent-Teacher association were named at the meeting last week and are: Mrs. W. H. Young, president; Mrs. A. Tingleaf, vice-president; Mrs. C. Hickson, secretary, and Mrs. Hazel Stover, treasurer.

Committee heads were also announced for the coming year, as follows: Mrs. G. E. Ousterhaut, membership; Mrs. N. B. Newcomb, publicity; Mrs. P. Barrett, hospitality; Mrs. Ruby Bitterling, child welfare study club, and Miss Wilda Darnelle, program.

An invitation to join in the Parent-Teacher work at Eagle Point, is extended every parent and patron of the school, it was pointed out at the meeting.

Mrs. Bohmert Honored at Birthday Party

CENTRAL POINT, Sept. 11.—(Sp.)—A complete and happy surprise was given Mrs. Otto Bohmert Wednesday evening when a group of her friends arrived at her home to honor her birthday anniversary.

Games were enjoyed and prizes given to Ed Vincent, Mrs. Harry Dunn and Otto Bohmert. Refreshments were served, the birthday cake, with candies being made by Mrs. Arnold Bohmert. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vincent, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Roger von der Heilen, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bohmert and the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bohmert. Mrs. Bohmert was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Phi Sigma Kappas To Dine Here Tuesday

With school plans monopolizing the time and thoughts of many members of the younger set, it is quite appropriate that social events for their pleasure should begin to appear on the local calendar, preparatory to the opening of universities and colleges.

Phi Sigma Kappas are among the first from the fraternity group to announce entertaining. All alumni and active members are invited to gather at the Hotel Medford tomorrow evening for dinner. Members from Ashland, as well as Medford, are invited by Dick Isaacs, chairman of the event.

Mesdames Lageson and Fish Entertain

One of the loveliest parties of the past week, utilizing the wealth of vivid blooms of autumn in table decorations, was given by Mrs. Burt Lageson and Mrs. Raymond Fish at the former's home in Glen Oak court Saturday afternoon.

Twenty-four guests were invited to luncheon, followed by bridge. Prizes went to Mrs. Jack Porter, Mrs. Flavia West and Mrs. David Yale.

Writers' League In Meeting Tonight

The Southern Oregon League of Writers will meet this evening at the Lathia hotel in Ashland and all persons interested in writing are cordially invited to attend the gathering, called for 7:30 o'clock.

The last invitation to charter members will be issued at tonight's meeting.

Mrs. Hebec Returns To Home in Eugene

Mrs. George Hebec, who was home for last week of Mr. and Mrs. Porter J. Neff, left yesterday for her home in Eugene, joining Dr. Hebec there, who continued north earlier in the week, after a visit here.

Mrs. McCaskey Expecting Guests from Pennsylvania

Welcome guests to the valley in the near future will be Mrs. Emily Fuller Layman and daughter, Miss Emily Fuller, sister and niece of Mrs. H. D. McCaskey and Mrs. L. A. Salade. They will be house guests of Mrs. McCaskey, who has not seen her sister-in-law for 16 years, and considerable entertaining at the McCaskey and Salade homes is expected to mark their stay here.

No-Host Party at Bonney's Grill

A number from the local younger set motored to Bonney's Grill Saturday evening for a no-host dancing party. In the group were Misses Billie Hammett, Clara Mary Fuson, Peggy Miller, Elsie Reed, Frances Moller, Dorothy Stead and Justine Miller and Messrs. Don Moore, Bill Cunningham, Tom and Bob Emmena, Chas. Gray, Bob Boyl and Bill Walker.

Enjoy Trip to North Bend

BALLOONISTS FEAST AFTER LONG TRUDGE

RIVIERE A PIERRE, Que., Sept. 11.—(AP)—Refreshed after two nights of sound sleep and a number of hearty meals, Captain Franciszek Hynek and Lieutenant Zbigniew Brynski, Polish balloonists, who landed in the wilds of the Laurentian mountains, were today eager for news of their rivals in the James Gordon Bennett balloon race.

The two Polish officers suffered acutely from hunger and cold in a 90-mile tramp through forest and mountain from their landing place to the railway.

BALLOT BOX ON BEER BARREL IS PROTESTED

WAERVILLE, Wis., Sept. 11.—(AP)—A beer barrel pedestal for the ballot box in one Waerville precinct at the repeal election today brought protests from dry workers.

The keg was rolled into the ward room after objection was made that the ballot box was too low.

Following the dry objections, the barrel was turned around to conceal the label and voting proceeded.

Dripping radiators repaired. Brill Metal works.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS WILL BE SUBJECT EXTENSION COURSE

EUGENE, Ore.—(Sp.)— Salem, Roseburg, Medford and other cities in the state will each become a miniature campus of the Oregon state system of higher education this fall, as plans for extension courses for these localities have been completed. It was announced here this week. Class groups have been organized and will be taught by regular faculty members of the university, state college or state normal schools. The extension courses are planned primarily for those who are unable to attend one of the higher institutions. Through this system hundreds of people throughout the state are given the opportunity to continue their education.

Five courses will be offered at Salem. At Roseburg, Dr. E. W. Warrington, professor of religion for both the university and state college, will teach a course in character education.

A course in social problems will be offered in Medford by Dr. A. S. Taylor of the Southern Oregon Normal school.

Requests for courses have also come from Grants Pass and Klamath Falls and organization work on these is under way. Any communities that are not too great a distance from one of the institutions of higher education may have the opportunity of organizing extension classes. It was said. Classes should be large enough, however, so that most of the expense for the instructor could be borne by student fees.

Students who do not have contact with extension courses may obtain correspondence courses from the extension division, and, in many cases, may organize study groups. Both extension and correspondence courses will carry full credit in any institution of higher education in Oregon for those who complete the work and pass the final examination.

New Director

ALBERT BURCH, recently appointed a director of the Chamber of Commerce to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of A. P. Johnson. Mr. Burch is a prominent Rogue River valley fruit grower and comes to the directorate of the local organization with a wealth of knowledge, especially along horticultural, mining and educational lines.

TERRIER'S IMAGINATION IS WELL DEVELOPED

HOOD RIVER, Ore., Sept. 11.—(UP)—Pat, a Chihuahua terrier, belonging to Dr. C. W. Hamilton, is a dog with an imagination.

Suspended by his harness over water, Pat goes through vigorous motions of swimming. Released, the dog will then shake himself, to rid his coat of imaginary water.

ORGANIZED LABOR UNENTHUSED OVER LADY SECRETARY

to take care of as many people as possible. We don't want that. We are perfectly capable of fighting our own battles—and not on the basis of bread-and-butter treatment."

Labor men call Madam Perkins' assistants "cotton batting experts." Many of them were recruited from Brookings Institute and similar institutions of higher learning.

"Does this administration expect to get its votes next year?" queried one of the snubbed, "from Brookings Institute or does it expect votes from the ranks of labor?"

One of the moves apparently in prospect that annoys union men is the unofficial consolidation of the bureau of labor statistics and the U. S. conciliation service. The first-named branch is in control.

The latter branch, with highly-trained men, has been mediating strikes of all sorts for years. After making their party calls, those who constitute the backbone of the A. F. of L. are leaving the department of labor and saying: "Imagine sending a conciliator out in the field to settle a strike with a head full of deerskin points!"

under way to distribute union cards among the great bulk of those who earn a living from a definite line of endeavor. Many thousands of workers already have been gathered in the field.

Two highly representative spokesmen of labor sit at lunch. One has fought the lone fight for two generations and more. He has learned the art of introspection in half a century. The other, although his hair is gray, still feels the vigor of his powerful physique and has a reserved desire for further battle with the barons of industry.

Both agree that the laboring man must survive this shuddery era or all the gains of our comparatively young nation are lost. Both point to the fact—based on census bureau figures—that whereas wages have pyramided several times over since the Civil war, returns to the employer stand at a ratio of 9 to 1 in favor of the top dog.

"Machine age," they both summarize the situation and add—"greed on the employer's part."

Here our labor spokesmen diverge in their viewpoints.

Says the older man: "We have fought for years to get what we have now. The LaGuardia anti-injunction law protect us against the general antagonism heretofore displayed by all branches of government. Superimposed on that is the National Recovery Act which guarantees us the right of organization and collective bargaining. Our leaders are taking a long-range view of the situation and labor will be well entrenched before long with strong-arm methods."

The younger man interjects: "True that Green and the others don't want strikes and are building for the future. But as I see it we are going through a period comparable to the world war only worse."

"During the war employers operated on a 'cost-plus-ten' basis. The higher the wages the higher their ten per cent. Yet we had strikes all over the country despite our most patriotic appeals.

Today the employer is being asked to raise pay and lower hours and work out his own salvation. He's choosing to do it. Wise words may come from headquarters to sit tight until things are adjusted but a lot of the workers will say: "We'll bring the boss to our terms immediately; we'll strike."

Patience or action—and patriotism is the administration line.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

"Bring'em back alive is a job packed with thrills, excitement, and real danger," says Frank Buck. "I never would have been able to populate half the zoos in this country, and save my own life a half dozen times by quick action, if I didn't have healthy nerves. I am a heavy smoker, as you noticed if you saw my picture, 'Bring 'em Back Alive,' but I can smoke all I want because I smoke Camels. They don't upset my nerves. I prefer their mild, rich flavor, too."

Turn to Camels and find out for yourself how true it is that Camel's costlier tobaccos taste better... and do not jangle the nerves. Begin today!

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. You'll appreciate the mildness...the flavor...the added pleasure in costlier tobaccos.
