

DARING OFFENSE WILL BE TAUGHT STANFORD SQUAD

'Tiny' Thornhill, New Mentor, Plans 'Take Chances That Will Make Alumni Dizzy,' He Declares

By RUSSELL J. NEULAND (Associated Press Sports Writer.)

PALO ALTO, Cal., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Claude Earl Thornhill, 230 pounds of brawn and good humor, and misappropiately nicknamed "Tiny," is going to try to coach Stanford out of the football blues this season with a daring style of offensive play he has cherished during the 11 years he served as assistant here.

Big "Tiny" knows it is a man-size job if for no other reason than he is following in the footsteps of one of football's most famed mentors, Glenn "Pop" Warner.

When Warner moved on to Temple university, he left Thornhill with a handful of experienced players, a wealth of brilliant sophomore talent and a system of football that has been tried and tested over many seasons.

Stanford's new head coach does not intend to tamper with the fundamentals as laid down by his predecessor, but the modifications and offshoots in yard gaining methods he will introduce this season mean the difference between conservative football and a stunning all-round attack that probably will surprise followers of the big red team.

"We're going to get right out and go after the touchdowns," says Thornhill. "We may not win all of our games, but nobody will be able to rule us out for not trying. We have to take plenty of chances if we expect to score."

To Have Scoring Punch.

"You can say for me the team is going to have a punch inside the five-yard line. That's been one of our troubles in the past. It is not first downs we want so much as touchdowns.

"The basic principle of our offense will not be reverse. That's why I'm so sure we will continue to move forward after we hit the five-yard line.

"We are three deep all around, but the chief problem will be whether or not our younger players hold up. Four or five sophomores will be in the lineup at all times, so it will be a question as to how they perform under steady fire. But no matter how the score board reads, Stanford is going to contribute its share of thrills this season. We'll take chances that will make some of the alumni dizzy, mark my words."

Stanford meets Washington at Seattle October 28 in its only northern game.

ELKS AND FRIENDS ENJOY BIG PICNIC

By special permission of the weather man, the Elks' stag smoker at their picnic grounds on Rogue river was enjoyed by several hundred members and their friends last evening. There was enough autumn "nip" in the air to send the hungry diners back for second and third helpings of steaming hot dogs which were consumed along with cheese, onions and other high-powered trimmings, and washed down with copious draughts of beer.

Frankie Monroe, Klamath Falls lightweight, and Ad Cadena, California fish, went six fast rounds to a draw in the main event of the boxing card prepared for the evening. Kid Fellows chalked up a technical knockout over Young Bruggers in the first round of their semi-windup, and Ruby and Aris, a pair of Klamath Falls battlers, went to a four-round draw. Rex Galinski, who stepped out of the amateur ranks in his curtain raiser with Young Luthman, was on the losing end of a second-round technical knockout.

A stirring program by the Elks' band and a huge bonfire, prepared by Chairman Bill Hammett and a corps of helpers, added to the enjoyment of the evening.

MEET THE MERRYMAKERS!

After they had learned at first hand about the remarkable performing ability of the Ford V-8 (pictured above) Frank Gill and Bill Doemling, joint Masters of Ceremonies of the new and greater Ford V-8 Merry-makers, returned to the studios of the Don Lee-Columbia Broadcasting System ready to broadcast a whole new line of fun and wisecracks each Sunday night over the Don Lee network 9 to 10 o'clock.

27 GRIDMEN GET INITIAL PRACTICE

The high school football squad held its first football practice of the year yesterday afternoon. Light exercises, relay races, and punting were engaged in by the 27 players present. Practice will be held Saturday.

The first game of the year is scheduled with the Weed high school Saturday September 23, a week after the opening of school, and Coach Burgher is trying to get his squad in shape for the opener.

The first full turnout will come Monday, as many of the squad are still working.

ROBINSON SHOWS RARE OLD COINS

An interesting and rare collection of old coins, chiefly pennies, was displayed at the Tribune office yesterday by J. C. Robinson of the Shorty Hope mine on Wagner creek.

Among the pennies, one of which dates back as far as 1776, are copper, brass and nickel coins. One bears the words "Exchange Insurance, Collection and U. S. War Claim Office, Ionia, Mich. James Kennedy, 1863." The oldest, a copper coin, bears the coat of arms on one side with the date 1776 and the word "Our Country" on the reverse.

Another coin carries the inscription "I. O. U. One Cent," with the date 1863.

In the collection are 31 of the once popular large copper pennies, dated from 1805 to 1850. One-cent pieces made of nickel and dated 1837 and 1858, bear an eagle, patterned somewhat after the present popular bird of the N. R. A.

Other interesting coins in Mr. Robinson's collection include five-cent pieces of silver, dated 1848; half-dime pieces; three-cent pieces, dated 1860; 20-cent pieces, dated 1850, and a large collection of Confederate currency, ranging in face value from five cents to $100.

EXTENSION CLASS TO OPEN HERE SEPT. 20

Announcement was made today by Dr. Arthur S. Taylor that the University of Oregon extension class in "modern social problems," which will teach here this fall, will start at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, September 20 at the Junior high school. Preliminary plans will be made and the class organized at Wednesday's meeting.

According to Dr. Taylor, the course, which will earn college credits, is creating considerable interest and a large number have signified intention of entering.

WOMAN 'KILLER' AGAIN PRISONED

JACKSONVILLE, Ark., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Tracked down by bloodhounds, Helen Spence Eaton, who has killed two men, was back in the state prison for women today, after another short-lived escape.

She was caught four and a half hours after she fled from the farm last night.

She is serving a 10-year sentence for slaying Jim Bohots, a Dewitt restaurant operator.

The first prison term—five years—was for the spectacular courtroom slaying of Jack Worls, while he was on trial for killing her father, Cleo Spence, on a boat.

Young Corbett Teaches Police

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 15.—(AP) Champion of the welterweights six months ago, Young Corbett 3rd, today prepared to become physical instructor in the California highway patrol.

Corbett, who recently announced his retirement from the ring after being knocked out by Jimmy McLarnin, was recommended by E. Raymond Cain, chief of the highway patrol, for the post.

Indian Outfielder Undergoes Knife

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Chalmer (Bill) Cissell, infielder for the Cleveland Indians, underwent an appendicitis operation early today at New York Postgraduate hospital.

Afterwards, an announcement at the hospital said his condition was "very good."
