Funeral services will be held at the First funeral home Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. W. R. Baird officiating. Interment in Medford L. O. O. F. cemetery.

ALFRED J. WEEKS FUNERAL WILL BE WEDNESDAY, 2:30

Alfred J. Weeks, prominent resident of Jackson county since 1887, always associated with projects for the advancement of the Rogue River valley, particularly through the fruit industry, died at his home here late Saturday night, following a short illness, his death coming as a shock to relatives and friends throughout the valley.

Born in Woodstock, Ontario, Mr. Weeks came to Medford 46 years ago and with his brother, Arthur Weeks, and brother-in-law, Eugene Orr, entered the fruit business, setting out and operating the well known Bear Creek orchard. He was also interested in the development of a number of other orchards throughout the valley.

In 1907, with his sister, Mrs. Edith Orr, and the late F. K. Deuel, Mr. Weeks purchased the old White place at Rock Point, 14 miles from Medford. It was developed into one of the finest orchards in southern Oregon, known as the Del Rio orchards. The place was operated by Deuel, Weeks and Orr. Mr. Weeks continued as one of the active owners until his death.

Mr. Weeks was a member of a family of seven, and was always interested in sports as well as the industrial life of this community. He belonged to the Champion Amateur Active baseball club of Canada in 1879 and never lost interest in the game, attending all contests here, whenever possible.

As a man of sterling character, cheerful disposition and kindness, Mr. Weeks was known throughout his many years in the Rogue River valley, where he was beloved by all who knew him. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, order, having a 25 year membership, and was also affiliated with the Medford Elks lodge.

He is survived by three sisters: Miss Gertrude Weeks and Mrs. W. H. McGowan of Medford, and Mrs. H. P. Hargrave of Berkeley, Cal.; two nephews, Albert E. Orr and John Stewart Weeks of Medford; and by three nieces, Miss Florence Weeks, Mrs. Grace Joyce and Miss Gertrude Hargrave of Berkeley, Cal.

Funeral services will be held at the Conger chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. W. J. Howell of the Presbyterian church delivering the sermon. Services will be followed by interment in the family plot in the L. O. O. F. cemetery.

A resolution, expressing the loss realized by the Rogue River Traffic association in the death of Mr. Weeks and extending sympathy to his relatives was passed today at a special meeting of the traffic association, and fruit shippers of the Medford district. It reads: "Be it resolved that this association, and the fruit shippers of the Medford district, feel deeply the loss we have suffered in the passing of our esteemed friend and fellow-worker, Alfred Weeks, and that it is our desire that an expression of our greatest sympathy be extended to those bereaved."

"Be it further resolved that this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the association, and the secretary directed to communicate the same to the bereaved family."

SILVER SCREEN REVIEW

By Mary Greiner Kelly. There are three classifications of people who should see "Another Language," Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery starring vehicle which opened at Hunt's Craterian. First are those who have an acute mother-in-law complex, with that kind of a mother-in-law thrown in. Second, those who haven't. Third, those who are just window shopping and haven't selected their husband's masters yet.

The first group will be able to release a carload of repressed emotion in the well chosen words of Daughter-in-law Helen Hayes, (Louise Closser Hale is the mother-in-law and she's a proverbial honey). The second group will be so happy over their own good fortune they'll send their mothers-in-law a bouquet of roses after the show. The third crowd will no doubt be grateful for the tip and when they go home (or wife) hunting, they'll make each likely prospect trot out samples of his family first for at least a squirt of shrewd appraisal. Personally, I'm shopping for roses.

Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery and Louise Closser Hale turn in their usual splendid performances in this piece, which really carries along a whole bundle of recognizable human problems. Characterizations are finely drawn and the direction throughout is up to M.G.M. standard. From an entertainment standpoint the play is well worth seeing.

Irene Dunn Coming In Rialto Picture A mother who uses her own strings to their fullest length to retain her sons in a sort of slavery called mother love, is defeated by Irene Dunne as the star of Sidney Howard's vital drama "The Silver Cord," at the Rialto tomorrow.

This REO-Radio picture invades sacred territory because of the general concept of sanctified mother love; but it reveals the subconscious evil behind that very tradition. The normalcy of a daughter-in-law's affection for her husband finds a rival in his mother's inordinate love for him.

Irene Dunne scores a peak dramatic triumph in her characterization. She is ably assisted by the featured group of prominent players, Laura
