

Levinsky Hammers Sharkey for Impressive 10 Round Decision

FORMER CHAMPION IS HOLLOW SHELL AFTER FIRST BLOW

Boston Gob Takes Seven Count in Opening Frame and Head Muddled for Remainder of Battle

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—(AP)—King Levinsky, Chicago west side battler, today has his eye on Primo Carnera's world heavyweight boxing title, following his defeat of Jack Sharkey, former champion, in a rough and tumble battle at Comiskey park, home of the Chicago White Sox.

Matchmaker Mike Lewis of the Chicago stadium, much impressed by Levinsky's marvelous showing against Sharkey last night, said he would open negotiations with the Carnera management at once. The bout, if arranged, will take place in the Chicago stadium this fall. Carnera has met and defeated Levinsky twice.

Has Money Coming. The defeat practically eliminated the ex-gob as a heavyweight threat, although he has another bout booked with Tommy Loughran at Philadelphia, September 27. However, his share of the receipts in both fights is $25,000.

Sharkey entered the ring a favorite, glimmering in the first round when Levinsky rocked Jack with a hard right and followed with another that floored the ex-champion for a seven count. Later, in his dressing room, Sharkey admitted that he never recovered from that first blow. King had Sharkey staggering in the second round when he again scored with rights.

When the bell ended the third round the Boston fighter was so dazed from the constant hammering of Levinsky's fist that he walked to a neutral corner and had to be helped to his seat.

Science Unavailing. Sharkey was unable to use any boxing science against the bull-like charging Levinsky, and hit low in the fifth round. The seventh was the only round that Jack won. He appeared to have recovered somewhat and peppered the King's head with his left and shot hooks to the body. King came near scoring a knockout in the next round with his wild swings, and won the last two by wide margins.

A smarter boxer would have knocked Sharkey out. King failed to take advantage of the opportunities when Jack staggered around the ring in a daze.

Sharkey weighed 201 and Levinsky scaled four and a half pounds more. Promoter Sammy Wolff announced the show was a financial success. The attendance was 20,317 and the gross receipts $52,999.40. Sharkey received $25,000 and Levinsky about $8,600.

UNBALANCED LINE MAY AID HUSKIES BELIEVES PHELAN

Change in Luck for Washington Outfit Is Coach's Objective—Sees Hot Race in Coast Football Year

By FRANK G. GORRIE, Associated Press Sports Writer.

SEATTLE, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Jimmy Phelan, University of Washington football coach, plans to unbalance his team in an effort to balance his luck this season.

"We have been working toward an unbalanced line for some time, and this year we will use it altogether," said the former Big Ten coach who is starting his fourth season on the Pacific coast. "Maybe it will change our luck. We need something to balance our wins and losses and a dwindling budget."

Phelan was forced to make changes in his backfield because of the departure of Burt Bufkin, brilliant blocking halfback who went to West Point. The unbalanced line is expected to help maneuver Art Ahonen, a light but slippery running back, into the open, with Jay Hornbeak, quarter, Paul Sulkoski, battering fullback and Matt Muczynski, blasting half, paving the way. Ahonen moves up from the reserve list to fill the gap left by Bufkin.

"Where Washington will finish, I cannot guess, with Stanford, California, Washington State and Oregon much improved and Southern California as strong as ever," said Phelan. "I look for the hottest battle in a long while on the coast."

Shy On Reserves. "We have a fair ball club, but are shy on reserves, good ones. Both of our best hitters—Muczynski and Ahonen—are in the same backfield. We gained little help from the freshmen, so we are starting with virtually the same personnel."

"We lost the trains of our machine in Dave Nisbit, a sparkling end, and the sparkplug of the outfit by Johnny Choberg, quarterback."

"One thing I am sure of is that we will have an end who will compare with any in the country. Bill Smith is one of the greatest pass receivers I have ever seen and we will have plenty of aerial plays mapped out for him."

The schedule includes a game with Oregon at Seattle October 14.

In the Series

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Ty Cobb, when he was managing Detroit, sent Carl Hubbell back to the tall timber with the warning that he never would be a big league pitcher if he insisted on fooling around with his "screw ball."

That same "screw ball" today is the most dreaded delivery in the National league. Upon it hinge most of the hopes of the Giants in their approaching World Series with Washington's slugging Senators.

If the Senators' bats can be silenced the tall, slender lefthander from Oklahoma is the man who will do it. He is certain to start two games in the big series and might appear as many times more in relief roles. He is the Giants' ace in the hole.

One of the Greatest. Pitching records have fallen like duck pins before Hubbell's assault this summer. Ten of his first 20 victories were shutouts. Any day he allowed more than one run his mates began looking around for a doctor. The man must be sick.

In addition to the many complete games he has hurled, Carl has been the most active relief pitcher on Bill Terry's staff. He looks a little frail, but it's an optical illusion. He has intrinsical control for a southpaw. In fact, Terry doesn't regard him as a lefthander in the true sense of the word.

"He's just a great pitcher," declares Bill. "He's equally effective against left and right hand batters. I'm glad we haven't had to hit against him this year."

Born at Carthage, Mo., 30 years ago, Hubbell kicked around in the minors and majors, up and down for five seasons before he finally mastered his "screw ball" while pitching for Beaumont of the Texas league in 1928.

The Giants grabbed him for a reported price of $40,000, and he won for McGraw from the start. He pitched the only no-hit, no-run game of the 1929 major league season.

GIANTS NEED ONE VICTORY TO CINCH NATIONAL HONORS

New Yorkers Muff Chance When Fred Fitzsimmons Injured and Successors Unable to Halt Cardinals

By HERBERT W. BARBER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Baseball prosperity, represented by the National and American league pennants, was just around the corner today for the New York Giants and Washington Senators, rivals in a dramatic world series just nine years ago.

All the Giants needed to clinch the National league flag for the first time since 1924 was one victory for themselves or a defeat for their only rival, Pittsburgh. Washington, seeking the American league bunting for the first time since its two-year reign in 1924-25, was just half as well off. The Senators needed two victories, two New York Yankee defeats or a combination of one triumph and one Yankee reverse.

Giants Expect Clincher. It was possible neither flag would be clinched today, but the Giants, slated to play their final game at St. Louis while the Pirates tangled with the Phillies in a doubleheader, expected to end the National league race by nightfall.

They let just such an opportunity slip through their fingers yesterday, but the 4-3 decision they dropped to the St. Louis Cardinals worried them less than the narrow escape "Fat Fred" Fitzsimmons had from serious injury.

The veteran right hander held a 2-1 lead with two men out in the second inning when a line drive from Bob O'Farrell's bat cracked him on the neck. Fitz went down in the dirt and lay gasping as his teammates rushed to his aid. Soon he staggered to his feet and was led to the clubhouse, where an examination revealed he had suffered no serious hurt.

Successors Impotent. Herman Bell succeeded Fitz, but retired in some disorder in the fifth after O'Farrell and Pepper Martin had singled. That brought Carl Hubbell to the mound and for once the slender southpaw was not equal to the occasion.

The Cardinals then won the game in the eighth on Leo Durocher's triple and a single by Tex Carleton, who gave the Giants only two hits in the last five innings.

Despite this defeat, the Giants moved closer to the pennant for Pittsburgh got no better than an even break in a twin bill with the Phils. Paul Waner's homer in the eighth gave the Corsairs the first game, 2-1, but Ed Holley came back with a four-hit shutout in the nightcap, and the Phillies won, 6-0. The Boston Braves pounded out 14 hits to wallop the Cincinnati Reds, 8-2, while Brooklyn beat the Chicago Cubs, 6-4.

Senators Also Aloud. Following the Giants' lead, Washington also picked up ground, although beaten. They bowed to the St. Louis Browns, 4-2, but moved one game closer to the flag when the Yankees split a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox.

Johnny Allen held the Whitesox to two hits as the Yankees won the first game, 6-1, but the Pale Hose came back to take the nightcap, 4-3, behind the steady pitching of the Dallas recruit, Leslie Tietje. Lou Gehrig hit a homer in each game to bring his season's total to 29.

Oral Hildebrand also pitched two-hit ball as Cleveland blanked the Boston Red Sox, 9-0. Homers by Cramer, Johnson and Higgins helped the Philadelphia Athletics nose out Detroit, 9-8.

HEAVY LINE AND FAST BACKFIELD TIGER PROSPECT

Coach Burgher Has Hopes of Better Than Average Grid Machine — First Game Here Sept. 30 With Weed

Medford high school's football squad, under direction of Coach Darwin K. Burgher, started its 1933 drill yesterday afternoon, with prospects for a better than average team, and a lot of big, long-legged chaps to draw from. Indications are that all opponents will know they have been in a football game. There is also a delegation of husky, square-shouldered lads with plenty of beef, built close to the ground, and ideal for stopping fullbacks, who have been sold in in their home town papers that they are good.

The Burghermasters started observing training rules right off the bat, and the first athlete who gallivants around nights and don't keep up with his spelling, will be evicted from the team right now, the coach says.

Line Heavy, Backfield Fast. The line will be heavy and the backfield fast, with lots of reserves. The tentative schedule calls for the first game here Saturday, September 30, with the Weed, Cal., team. It will not be definitely known until the end of the week whether or not Weed will be able to come, as the Northern Californian conference has not been completed. There might be an interfering game in their circuit.

Medford is scheduled to journey to Roseburg Saturday, October 6, for the first out-of-town tilt. Saturday, October 13, is an open date, and so is the following Saturday—October 20. Willamette valley teams—Corvallis and Salem—will be invited to fill in the vacant dates.

Pelicans Would Switch. The Burghermasters play Klamath Falls at Klamath Falls, October 27, and it will be the "big game" of the year for the Pelicans. They want to play Saturday, October 20, but Coach Burgher is firm for the later date. He wants to take the team across the Cascades primed and ready for their traditional foe, and in mid-season form.

A game is scheduled with the Eugene high school on Saturday, November 4. Armistice day, November 11, a game is scheduled with the Chemawa Indian squad, long a popular visitor to this city. The colorful redskins always played the Callison squads when other teams were shy. This year the administration economy plan may cut football off their list.

Eureka Alternative. If Chemawa cannot come, the Eureka, Cal., team will. The Californians have appeared here once, and are tough competition, with plenty of action.

The "big game," as far as the Burghermasters are concerned, comes Saturday, November 18, against Grants Pass at Grants Pass. The Josephine county squad is figured hard to beat, if all their prospects come back to school.

The Ashland high school game will be played Thanksgiving day at Ashland, in accordance with long established custom.

Besides the above contests, Medford and valley fans will have an opportunity to see the University of Hawaii and the Southern Oregon Normal school clash on the local field. Hawaii is coached by Otto Klum, who held the same position in the local school 15 years ago. The game is scheduled for October, according to present plans.

Heating costs can be reduced. For complete heating service call Art Schmidt 418-1692.

SEASON FOR ELK HUNTING IS SHORT

The dates are October 23, 24 and 25. Limited hunting will be permitted in all of Grant county and most parts of Union, Umatilla and Walla Walla counties.

used by all dealers selling hunting licenses. Each hunter will be permitted to kill only one elk, which must be a bull having at least two prongs on either antler.

The hunter also must buy, in addition to his regular hunting and fishing license, an elk tag which must be attached to the carcass of the slain animal. These tags will cost $2.50 for Oregon residents and $50 for nonresidents.

WHO is this victim of the sea's fury? What is his babbling of emeralds, intrigue, murder? WAS it coincidence only that brought two women to the hospital, one seeking her husband Jimmy Riddell, the other her cousin Jim Randal? THE answers to these questions are woven into a thrilling, gripping story—

Outrageous Fortune

by Patricia Wentworth

- Caroline Leigh reached the hospital five minutes after Nesta Riddell had left with the man who didn't know his name but whom she claimed as her husband.
- Caroline might have been satisfied about Nesta's identification until she learned about the paper found in the man's pocket, a scrap apparently torn from a letter and bearing one word—a signature—"Caroline."
- And because she "played a hunch," Caroline was dragged into the Riddell affair, a weird train of events, a nightmare of suspense, with a dramatic climax that transformed blind despair into radiant happiness.
