BANKS GRANTED ADDITIONAL TIME

An order granting L. A. Banks, local agitator now serving a life term in state prison, for second degree murder, 30 days additional time in which to file a bill of exceptions has been granted by Circuit Judge George F. Skipworth of Lane county. Banks is planning an appeal to the state supreme court.

Defense counsel in seeking the time extension set forth that another month is necessary to permit the court reporter to transcribe stenographic records of the trial. Time for filing the petition expired today. Sixty days grace for filing of appeal paper expires this week in the case of Gordon L. Schermerhorn, former sheriff, under a three-year sentence for ballot theft conviction. Schermerhorn is at liberty on $7500 bonds, pending filing of the appeal.

was substantially the same as the master compact except in regard to store operation. It contained an additional price control provision, however, to limit discounts on trademarked drug articles. This section, made applicable to any retail establishment handling drug products, read:

"No retailer shall sell standard trade-marked drug products whose retail prices are advertised to the public or indicated on the goods, their packages, or containers, at a discount greater than 21 per cent from such declared retail prices. "In case the retail sales of such goods are slow or unsatisfactory the retailer may give the manufacturer or wholesaler from whom such goods were purchased, if his address be known, the opportunity to repurchase such merchandise at the wholesale delivered price as hereinafter defined less delivery costs. "In the event that the manufacturer fails or refuses to repurchase such goods within five days after the retailer has sent such notice, such goods shall at the option of the retailer be classed and treated as clearance merchandise as provided for in section 2 of this article. "Section 2 was identical with that of the general retail code.

He is 26 years old. Is making lots of money. Is good looking. Has a very southern drawl (one from the old south), lives in Hollywood, and hasn't been married yet—"Strange As It Seems" That's not the story John Hix, originator, writer and cartoonist of the famous newspaper and motion picture feature of that title, suggested for his column when he arrived in Medford today. But it's the one he admitted under cross-questioning. Sans pen himself, he declared, "I'm on a vacation."

MOODY RETURNING SOON TO TAKE UP TRIAL COST CASES

Assistant Attorney Ralph E. Moody, who handled the prosecution of the ballot theft case, is expected to return from a vacation within a week, and take up the cost bills, filed against the defendants by the state. The state seeks, under Oregon statutes to secure the costs of the trials, which totaled approximately $25,000. County officials estimated that between $8000 and $12,000 may be returned by the actions, and the county reimbursed that much for its financial outlay in restoring law and order and community peace.

Under the Oregon law, the costs of the trials are docketed as liens, and are enforceable as judgments, against property of the defendants. Heaviest expenditures were entailed in the trials of L. A. Banks, former local agitator, serving a life sentence for murder, and E. H. Fehl, serving four years in state prison for ballot theft. Banks secured a change of venue to Lane county, and his trial cost $7,700. Fehl's trial was held in Klamath county and cost approximately $5,000.

The trials of LADieu, Jones, Schermerhorn, and Glenn each cost in the neighborhood of $2000. They were held here.

Turning to the Carolinas, he went back to his first newspaper job. "I did a daily cartoon for the Greenville Daily News, when I was in high school. In order to be sure that the people saw it, I also delivered papers on the side. I got seven dollars a week for my full services."

"I happened to be lucky enough later on to do editorial cartoons for the Washington Times. Then I started syndicating my feature six years ago. I've been on the alert most of the time during those six years. This is the first vacation in a long while. I could have found some good ideas on the trip, I know. But I just shut my eyes and said, 'I'm on a vacation.'"

Asked about hobbies, the cartoonist insisted he had no time for them either. A little golf, a little tennis, a swim about once a year, he said composed his recreation. A desire to fish the Rogue, he did add to his wants, however, and declared he would get around to it some day.

Mr. Hix has a staff of seven men working under him now, his feature appears daily, and in full-page Sunday dress, in so many newspapers of
