WELLS DESCRIBES EUROPE'S FASCISM AS CLUMSY LOUT

British Writer Slaps at Conditions in Germany, Italy and Russia — Thought, Sanity, Books Dangerous

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—H. G. Wells, British writer, addressing 1000 persons today at a Grosvenor House luncheon party celebrating his 67th birthday, bitterly attacked the Hitler regime in Germany and criticized conditions in Italy and Russia.

"Just now in many regions of the world there is an epidemic of intolerance which takes ugly and novel forms," he said.

"The German affair is not a pogrom. The Jews make the most noise, but it is not only the Jews who suffer.

Thought, Sanity Dangerous

"To me it seems more than anything else a rebellion of the clumsy lout against civilization. It is the clumsy lout's revolution against thought, against sanity and against books.

"Where it will take Germany no one knows.

"It is not only in Germany that the wide tolerances are disappearing. The clumsy lout is rampant everywhere with idiotic symbols and idiotic salutes contriving imbecile cruelties."

The speaker said: "Are we safe in England? Personally I do not feel a bit safe for ten years ahead."

Dig at Mosley

He then added, causing laughter: "Luncheon parties for literary men may give place to lynching parties before my time is out. I may be taken from here and be beaten up by Sir Oswald Mosley. (Sir Oswald Mosley is leader of the British fascists.)

"... about one thing I feel safe—in the long run books will win. The clumsy lout will be brought to heel. We shall have Hitler weighted accurately to his last yelp.

"We shall know the truth about Goering and Goebels and about the foul murder of Matteotti and the subtle issues between the administration of incapacity and sabotage in Russia."

(Wilhelm Goering and Dr. Joseph Goebels are German cabinet members. Senator Matteotti, a wealthy Italian, was killed several years ago.)

THEOSOPHIST'S BODY CREMATED ON PYLE

MADRAS, India, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The body of Dr. Annie Besant, world Theosophical leader, who died Wednesday, was cremated today on a pyre of sandalwood near the mouth of the Adyar river. A large gathering chanted verses from the Bhagavad Gita, an ancient philosophical poem.

PIONEER HONORED BY GRIFFIN POEM AT ANNUAL MEET

A tribute to the late Grandma Lewis, beloved southern Oregon pioneer, was read at the Pioneer Reunion in Ashland Thursday by John B. Griffin of Medford, oldest native son of Jackson county. Written on the anniversary of her birthday, by Mr. Griffin, it reads:

Another year has passed and gone, And we are here again, To celebrate Grandma's birthday, But our hearts are filled with pain.

For Grandma has passed away, Her days on earth are o'er, She'll never meet with us again; We will not see her any more.

Until the end for us has come, And we are called to go, To Heaven above, that blessed land Where no sorrow we'll ever know.

Yes, Grandma she has passed away, Her body laid to rest, But her Spirit's gone to Heaven, And is rooming with the blessed.

Where angels dwell, the land of love, Where sorrow never comes; Where all who go are welcome there In their everlasting homes.

And there we all will meet again The friends we love so well, To never separate again, And there forever dwell.

So let us gather around the table, And leave an empty chair, And eat our dinner just the same As if she were sitting there.

Perhaps she may be looking on, To see that all is well; Who knows, the world's a mystery; No one on earth can tell.

So now, dear friends, I'll say to you, Be always good and kind; Let only loving thoughts be yours; Keep evil from your mind.

EXPECT 600 STUDENTS WILL BE ENROLLED AT HIGH DURING SEASON

(By Helen McAllister.) With a large group of students registering from outside districts, Medford Senior high school enjoyed a decided increase in enrollment this week, bringing the total well beyond last year's figure. Many former students have not reported as yet, due to jobs that have been carried on from the summer. The opening day found 30 more students registered than on the opening day last year. Up to the present the enrollment is 319 students, but information from the office states that a quota of 800 students will be expected before September 29.

A general assembly was held September 20, for Principal C. G. Smith to make announcements concerning the plans for the coming year. As yet the school term is still indefinite, but the program of course of study has been made out for the regular term.

All the extra curricular activity plans are under way and the schedule for these is being made out by Noel Benson, student body president.

BY-PRODUCTS OF BEER DECLARED EXCELLENT ITEM IN DIET OF COW

WOOSTER, O., Sept. 22.—(AP)—The barnyard bill of fare has a new item for dairy cows now that beer is legal—and the dairy experts say it's quite all right.

A. E. Perkins, dairy chemist at the Ohio agricultural experiment station, declares that herd owners may forget about feeding their prize cows bran or oats, and give them the brewers' grains that are a by-product with a high crude-fiber content, and most of the protein, fat and mineral water.

Already brewers' grains have appeared on the market in wet form, and the supply will increase as soon as the beer concerns have an opportunity to install drying equipment, Perkins says.

To keep the cows contentedly chewing their cud, the dairy chemist suggests, just add a dash of bone meal—about one per cent—to the grain mixture, bringing up the phosphorus content.

P. T. A. WILL STUDY EDUCATION CRISIS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The national board of the Parent-Teachers' association plans to devote next year to an intensive study of the financial crisis in education.

The textbook will be the recent report of the national conference on the finances of education which said the free school system in this country was threatened.

Mrs. Hugh Bradford of Sacramento, Cal., national president, told reporters today she had heard state superintendents discussing a definite possibility of tuition for all high school students.

Miss Tharl O. Williams, Washington, D. C., education director, said: "I am afraid the American people will not wake up to the critical school situation until every parent has to pay high school tuition as well as school tax."
