

SENATORS PROFIT BY SCOUTING EYE OF JOSEPH ENGEL

Chattanooga Is Man Who Saw Undeveloped Talent In Joe Cronin When Hitting Averaged Only .210.

By Cecil M. Jones
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The pennant winning march of the Washington Senators has pushed Joseph W. Engel into the limelight again although Dr. Engel is the type of fellow who doesn't need much pushing.

In fact if there is no limelight around when Mr. Engel is serving as president of the Chattanooga Lookouts of the Southern association he will make some and push himself in.

He's the man who hung canary birds in the Chattanooga stands, signed a girl pitcher, made his players greet him with a military salute and swapped a shortstop to Charlotte for a Thanksgiving turkey.

Takes Job Seriously
But he takes his job as scout for the Senators seriously and enjoys the confidence of his boss Clark Griffith.

Engel once bought a minor league shortstop who was hitting .210.

"What do you want with a fellow who hits like that?" Griffith asked. "I just like him," Engel replied and Griffith left him on the payroll.

His name was Joe Cronin and he's now hitting above .400, is about the best all-around shortstop in the major leagues and manager of the American league champions.

Alex McCall's Backer
Griffith called Engel by telephone a few weeks ago and said "send me a pitcher." Engel went down to the station and bought Alex McCall, a ticket to Washington.

Now Mr. McCall is 29 years old, which is considered aged as pitchers go, and had never seen the inside of a big league. The wise boys thought Joe was slipping but Alex has done right well with the Senators and is likely to see some world series service.

Engel also is responsible for Joe Kube, Buddy Myer, Cliff Bolton, General Crowder and other Washington stars.

He has lots of friends and they'll come through for him in a pinch. When Paul Strand was burning up the coast league Griffith sent Engel across the mountains five times. Each time he came back and said "No."

Griffith on Strand
The Athletics finally paid a fancy price for Strand and when they came to Washington Joe went down to the bull pen where Walter Johnson was warming up and pulled the Big Train aside.

"Barney," he whispered, "this Strand is liable to cost me my job if he hits a lot of home runs, go out there and show the big mug up."

Strand fanned three times and didn't even hit a hard foul.

CLINGMAN PINS DON HILL TWICE

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Taking two falls out of three Otis Clingman of Oklahoma City won the main event on last night's wrestling program here from Don Hill of Berkeley, Calif. Clingman weighed 160, and Hill 161.

The Oklahoma man got the first fall with a reverse chin lock in 23 minutes. Hill evened the match in eight minutes with a reverse body scissor, but lost the contest five minutes later when Clingman successfully applied a flying key arm scissors.

Sandy McShain, 150, Pasadena, Cal., defeated Dorry Detton, 157, Salt Lake City, taking two falls out of three in the semi-windup.

The "masked marvel" (name unannounced), 145, took two falls out of three to win the opener from Hugh Adams, 150, Portland.

NRA DECLINES TO WORK FOR CUPID

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 26.—(UP) What this country seems to need is a national matrimonial bureau. The Portland NRA headquarters, however, declines the nomination.

A Huntington, West Virginia, woman recently wrote them asking for names of two men with whom she could correspond with matrimonial intentions. More than a dozen Portland men volunteered.

Today's mail brought letters from men in Dillon, Mont., Stuttgart, Ark., Yenderson, Minn., two from Chicago and Charleston, West Va.

The honest Stuttgart swain confessed his morals were "only fair," but specifies his prospective must not have been a gangster's or politician's wife. One Chicago suitor wrote a burning missive full of gush and "X's." The other Chicago Romeo trusts the woman is not a cigarette addict. The Minnesota entrant unashamedly admits he is a "model husband."

OSSIE BLUEGE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ossie Bluege has been described by those who should know as the greatest fielding third baseman alive.

Bluege is what is known as a baseball player's player—that is, while the average fan may not appreciate his worth, opposing athletes regard him as the best word in third-sacker.

Strange, too. When Ossie was a boy, the doctors told him he must avoid strenuous exercise. His reply was that life was not worth living if he couldn't play baseball and that he would play if it killed him.

This is his fifteenth season as a professional, in addition to a few years as a Lutheran Institute and semi-pro player, and he still is going strong.

Bluege signed with Peoria in 1920 as a shortstop. Two years later Washington bought him. He was sent to Minneapolis for seasoning and when he returned was assigned to third, because Roger Peckinpaugh was starting at short.

"This will be his third world series," he is the only member of the Goose Goslin and Sam Rice outfit, who took part in the world series of 1924 and 1925.

Bluege was born in Chicago and is 33 years old. He weighs 160 pounds, stands five-feet, 10 inches, bats and throws right-handed.

FIRST TIGER TEST SLATED SATURDAY WITH WEED SQUAD

(By Leonard G. Hicks.)
With a scant three weeks' practice, Coach Darwin K. Burgher's Medford high school football team will have its initial test on the VanSooye field when they play the Weed high school this coming Saturday, September 30.

Coach Burgher would not say anything definite as to his opinion of the team's chances in the first game of the season, except that he still has some players who are working in the fruit and who would be out for practice before the clash with Weed.

The future first string, second string and Tiger Cubs are just beginning to get their muscles loosened up in readiness for some hard scrimmage before their first game.

Arms are being unlimbered and legs put into shape so that Medford high school football fans can see some real passes and punts.

Football is self-supporting and all gate receipts go into the student association coffers. Any football fan who buys a ticket to the game is helping Medford high school have the snappy and good-looking football outfit now possessed. Recently, new shoes, pants and shoulder pads were purchased and should aid the team in showing their heels to the Californians.

FIGHT OVER CHICKENS PUTS ONE IN HOSPITAL

CHEHALIS, Wash., Sept. 26.—(UP)—In a fight over chickens, Andrew Labish, 42, was shot and critically injured by a neighbor, Anton Kasezky, 50. Labish is near death in a local hospital with a 23 calibre bullet in his temple.

Kasezky declares he laid in wait outside his chicken house last night to catch the person who had been poisoning his chickens. Seeing Labish approaching with a jar containing liquid, he opened fire.

PETER DUNNE, FORMER S. P. COUNSEL, PASSES

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Peter J. Dunne, 73, San Francisco attorney who from 1902 to 1910 served as general counsel for the Southern Pacific company, died at his home here last night. He was a native of San Francisco.

TRIO IN NATIONAL BATTling ON FOR FINAL STANDINGS

Pirates, Cubs And Cardinals Carrying On Brisk Warfare For Second and Third Places As End Nears.

By ORLO ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
The National league race is over, as far as the pennant winning New York Giants are concerned, but the Pirates, Cubs and Cardinals are carrying a fight right down to the finish in their battle for second and third places in the final standings.

With only one game remaining on their schedule, and that with Cincinnati on the final day of the season, Sunday, the Pirates hold an upper hand in the contest for second place. They can be ousted by Chicago, however, if the Cubs take their two final games with St. Louis and the Reds from the Corsairs.

Cards Seek Third Hung.
The Cardinals, with no chance of finishing in the runner-up position, have their eyes on third place. Two victories over the Cubs will place them in that position and shove the 1932 champions into fourth place.

Here is how the three teams stand:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.	Play
Pittsburgh	83	57	.599	1
Chicago	84	68	.553	2
St. Louis	82	8	.543	2

The Pirates lost a chance to clinch second place yesterday when they dropped a 6 to 3 decision to St. Louis in one of the two games played in the major leagues. The defeat left Pittsburgh with a one-game margin over the Cubs.

Pound Three Hurters.
The Cardinals, with Bill Walker pitching effective ball, pounded three hurriers, Hall Smith, Larry French and Bill Swift, for 14 hits. One of the blows was Joe Medwick's 18th homerun of the season and another was a triple by Gene Moore, rookie outfielder.

Walker allowed the Pirates 10 hits, but all of them were singles and except in the fifth and seventh, he kept the Corsairs away from the plate.

In the only other game, the Brooklyn Dodgers strengthened their hold on sixth place by defeating the Philadelphia 7 to 2, behind the seven-hit pitching of Walter Beck.

With Glenn Wright, Hack Wilson and Linus Fry connecting with three hits each, the Dodgers collected 18 hits off Snipe Hansen and Cy Moore. They hit safely at least once in every inning.
