MARY M'CORMIC TELLS SOME ON PRINCELY HUBBY

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mary McCormic, petite opera singer, sued for divorce by Prince Serge M'Divani in Los Angeles in a bill charging an affair with Samuel Insull, Chicago utilities king, until he went broke, said all the charges would be made to fade as snow in sunshine when the case went to trial.

Insull, now 74, is fighting extradition in Athens on charges of fraud. He used to be father of grand opera in Chicago. Miss McCormic said Insull had been and still was her friend and financial adviser, that her husband had depended on money she had made under advice of Insull and that his charges of drinking and physical brutality might better have been made against himself.

She said her friendship for Insull was "perfectly wholesome," and the prince was trying to "twist it into a whip for use in the divorce case."

"It's a shame to bring that old gentleman into it. He's doing this just to hurt me. I'll prove to the world at the trial that he has tried to use my friendship with Mr. Insull and others to advance his own financial interests. It's wholly absurd.

"Serge never had a red cent that I didn't give him. He drew huge sums out of the treasury of California Oil company I had a half interest in. He took $10,000 when he started for his father's funeral and then stopped off for a week to see New York."

BIGGEST LEGION CONCLAVE SINCE WAR TO BE HELD

CHICAGO —(UP)—Men who 18 years ago were fighting on the war-torn battle front of France meet in Chicago, Oct. 2, for what is expected to be the greatest American Legion convention ever held.

It marks one of the mightiest assemblages of war veterans the nation has seen. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself, is the legion's most distinguished guest.

More than 150,000 veterans are expected to jam the city, attracted by the central location of the convention and A Century of Progress exposition. Another hundred thousand people will come as friends, relatives and spectators.

The unofficial opening will come Sept. 30, when legionnaires gather to watch the Big Ten football game between Iowa and Northwestern at Soldier Field. Governors Clyde L. Herring of Iowa and Henry Horner of Illinois will be present.

On Sunday, Oct. 1, memorial services to men slain in war and veterans who since have died will be conducted.

The convention proper opens Oct. 2 in the Chicago stadium on the west side, where the Democratic and Republican national conventions were held last year. Here, where he was nominated for the presidency and where he ended his dramatic flight to make his speech of acceptance, President Roosevelt will address the veterans.

For many, the mostthrilling event comes Oct. 3, when the Legion marches in parade.

It will be a mighty event—138,000 men marching 16 abreast. It will take 10½ hours to pass a given point.

Business Sessions

Principal business sessions occupy Oct. 4 and 5. Questions of veterans legislation, national defense, internal policies, and resolutions will be discussed Oct. 4. On Oct 5 the Legion will elect its new officers and complete the business duties.

Miami, Fla., is expected to be chosen for the next encampment, and Los Angeles, Cal., also has entered a bid.

Ed Hayes, Decatur, Ill., national committeeman and vice-chairman of the national Legion committee on rehabilitation, is leading other candidates for the post of National Commander to succeed Louis A. Johnson.

Concurrent with the American Legion convention, three other gatherings will be held. These are of the American Legion Auxiliary, the Society of the 40 et 8, and their auxiliary—the 8 and 40 Society.

POPE HOLDS HOPE DEPRESSION WILL CONTAIN LESSON

VATICAN, Sept. 26. (AP)—The hope that the lessons of the crisis will not soon be forgotten by the peoples of the world was expressed by Pope Pius today in an audience with Cardinal O'Connell of Boston.

The pontiff said he sincerely trusts the people of the future will be more careful to preserve the fruits of prosperity will avoid luxury and will accustom themselves to pay as they go.

Pope Pius commented thus following the cardinal's observations that the depression seemed to have brought religion home to the American people as never before.

Following the audience which lasted an hour the cardinal said the pope disclosed astonishing knowledge not only of economic conditions in the United States but also of the monetary situation.

Cardinal O'Connell gave the pontiff statistics showing an appreciable growth of the Catholic population and activities in Boston. More than 125 new parishes were established during his tenure, he said, and there are now 1,250,000 Catholics in the Boston area.

Many new high schools and several colleges have been built, he said.

His eminence found the pope extremely busy with his calendar full for the day, but the pontiff told the American that he was feeling fit and not at all tired by the added duties of the holy year.

The pope was quoted as saying that he is stimulated by the large pilgrimages to Vatican City.
