KINGDOM COME.

There seems to be some dissatisfaction around the street corners with the current form of government, and the opinion has been expressed that a monarchy would be just the thing to increase human happiness and provide funds quickly for the needs of the hour, and transportation to a fairer spot in which to starve to death.

The first job confronting the Royalists is to find a King or a Queen, as no monarchy can be a success without one, or both. A little later, when candidates for office next spring are a little riper, maybe a King can be found, but he really should be crowned, and start functioning before winter sets in.

Another wing of heavy thinkers feel that a dictator should be named, but they have been swallowed by those who favor a king. It is not likely that anybody would pay any more attention to a dictator than they do to the legislature, or the traffic laws. So the dictatorship is out of consideration.

Then there is another section that feels all governments should be abolished and everybody allowed to run wild. They do not realize that many are doing that now, and still the fish do not bite, or the price of pears soar.

George (Machine Gun) Kelly, America's Desperado No. 2, was captured at Memphis, Tenn., with his pants off, his gun out of reach and no lawyer handy.

3.3 beer, a federal survey shows, has failed to diminish the number of home brewers. Be this as it may, 3.3 beer did diminish bragging by home-brewers on the quality of their product, and their guests lying about how good it tasted.

Oregon Needs More Nuts!

OREGON has a bumper crop of nuts. This is no attempt at humor, it is solid fact gleaned from the Portland market report. Last year's nut crop established a new record... This year exceeds it.

And prices are good. Ninety percent of the Oregon filbert crop has already been contracted for at from 17 to 20 cents per pound, f.o.b., for large sizes. This nets a sweet profit to the grower.

Jackson county has a few acres of filberts, but only a few. The nuts are of fine quality and have already been sold at a good price. Why not have more of them?

Excellent English walnuts can also be raised in Southern Oregon. And according to our information there is a genuine opportunity, in chestnuts—with the eastern production steadily declining. Why not have more nuts of all kinds,—except HUMAN, of course, in which direction we are already over-supplied.

NUTS have many advantages over deciduous and stone fruits. They are not perishable—at least not as pears and peaches and apples are perishable. They don't have to be sold at a certain time. They can be stored until the market is right.

But even a greater advantage is the low cost of production. The nut trees in Oregon to date have no pests. They require no spraying. After the first few years they require no pruning. Of course with a larger acreage worms might appear in the nut groves as they have in California. But outside of worms the nut trees appear to be immune to common horticultural infections.

So although while nuts might never return, what high grade pears in normal times would return, the low production cost would always make a net profit more CERTAIN, in a given period of time, while heavy losses would be practically IMPOSSIBLE.

WE ARE not suggesting pulling out pear trees and putting in nut trees. We are not even suggesting that an attempt be made to make nuts a MAJOR crop. But we do believe, producing more nuts,—making nuts a substantial secondary crop, is worthy the most serious consideration.

Finally there would be slight danger of overproduction. For a majority of the nuts consumed in this country today, are imported. The nut market would not be abroad but right here at home,—the American market always being a great advantage over foreign.

SO LET'S LOOK INTO THIS NUT BUSINESS. Pears are good,—at least they are going to be. We have no doubt of that. But it's seldom wise to put all the eggs in one basket. Adding a few acres of nuts to the many acres of pears, might well prove a life saver to the pear orchard, in another year like the present one.

At least it would do no harm to thoroughly investigate the possibilities now, and if what appears to be true—IS true, be ready to put in some nut trees for next season.

Will Uncle Sam Go Red?

AS THE letter box in this paper demonstrated yesterday, many good people believe that if the N. R. A. effort fails, nothing can save this country from Bolshevism.

Others have what appears to the present writer, an even more bizarre idea,—that if the N. R. A. fails, the Republicans will make a clean sweep of the next presidential election.

IN OUR judgment both schools of prophecy are mistaken. We believe the N. R. A. will SUCCEED,—at least in its main purpose of returning this country to industrial, economic and social stability.

But IF it fails,—then we predict neither Bolshevism, nor a Roman holiday for the G. O. P. We predict an American form of Italian Fascism—not a dictatorship of the workers or of capital, but a dictatorship of business men,—a dictatorship of the backbone of this country,—the MIDDLE CLASS.

WE base this view not only on the European example, where only one great nation (and that essentially a primitive one, Russia) has gone Red, while Italy, Germany, Poland, Spain and Austria, are going, or have gone, FASCIST; but upon our understanding of the essential American temperament and character.

OUTSIDE of a few congenital "dynamiters" and radical doctrinaires, we believe there are not 10,000 thorough-going communists in the country today,—that is individuals who actually believe in tearing down the form of government under which we live, and erecting on its ruins, the sort of government that now exists in Russia.

If the New Deal fails, if the effort to bring order out of chaos, via a PLANNED economy in harmony with the constitution, is a flop; then we expect to see neither armed revolution, nor a repetition of Harding's "return to normalcy,"—but ANOTHER new deal,—an actual dictatorship backed up by force instead of a quasi-dictatorship supported alone by existing law and public opinion.

We don't believe the American people as a whole, will tolerate anything else. We believe they are as strongly opposed to ADVANCING to the Russian ideal, as they are to RETURNING to the antiquated and outmoded G. O. P. ideal.

THEY may not know precisely where they are going; but they do know where they are NOT going. They are not going Bolshevick and they are not going Republican.

This is assuming the N. R. A. fails. But, to repeat, we don't believe it will fail. In which case, a continuation of the Roosevelt policies will be as certain as anything in politics can be.

ASHLAND LEGION NAMES LEADERS

ASHLAND, Sept. 28.—(Sp.)—The largest and most entertaining meeting of the American Legion for the year was held Tuesday night at the Pioneer hall, with election of officers taking a prominent part in the activities of the evening.

WHO IS UNETHICAL NOW?

A physician writing on stationery of a state board of education and signing himself Supervisor of Health and Physical Education, says a newspaper article of mine pointing out the peril to the victim when the peculiar method of resuscitation taught by the American Red Cross is applied instead of Schaefer's pre-pressure respiration has been brought to his attention by a member of his class in First Aid for Girl Scout executives.

These great ones never see anything in the paper. It has to be brought to their attention. The doctor assures me that my criticism of "pulmotors" and "lung motors" is substantiated by himself and others affiliated with Red Cross first aid work. But he seriously objects to "any destructive criticism of the splendid program" of the Red Cross.

"To ridicule our procedure in teaching the pre-pressure method and to brand us publicly as teachers of funny stunts is unethical to say the least. If our present method is so entirely out of order, and you have proof to that effect, would it not be a service to humanity for you to meet the staff in Washington and demonstrate the correct procedure."

How am I to meet the staff in Washington. Shall I go hat in hand and try to crash the gate at one of the meetings of the august staff? I have here a simple little booklet which describes precisely what is wrong with the method taught by the Red Cross and also describes the correct method which was given to the world by Sir Edward Schaefer—Red Cross version of the method. I think even a physician "affiliated" with the Red Cross can understand my criticism of the method. I should be glad to send any physician or any Red Cross employee or representative who asks for it a copy of the resuscitation booklet, provided he or she sends a stamped envelope bearing the address. To others the booklet will be mailed on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope and a dime.

I don't care a hoot whether my criticism of the fatal error in the Red Cross method is "unethical," wheels of a passing train yammered tap-oca, tap-oca. It would have probably gone on and on had we not come to "Aunt Agatha's White Hen," a prin-a room, suggesting a turkey wing cluster behind the kitchen stove. We disembarked for tea. The tea destroyed a few miles to see Deerfield, famed for sausage.

Near Greenfield, with many signs, "Worms for Sale," really begins the trip. A host of beauty through magnificent hills. At one point by spiraling three tiers one may see on a clear day four states—Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and New York. Also partake of "Snows Ice Cream." Dips into cool valleys reveal streams ankle deep and rock bottomed. At Charlemont, a throwback in a covered wooden bridge, dull tobacco brown and eucalypt. Along the trail near-rookish Indian tepees dotted hillside.

The Harpin Turn corkcrews its dizzy, abrupt twist near here. College boys hawk souvenirs at the summit. The Hoosac Tunnel is also on the way. At the celestial peak of the turn a lanky New Englander, unfolding like a carpenter's rule, arose from his shelter to come to the car. "Huntin' lodgin's?" he drawled. We explained we only wanted a view of the sunset. He grumbled off: "That's all they do. Just come and look!" Harry Silvey glared him off again by asking if they had had a good tapoca season. I perched on the roof. "Lots of laughs. It's all Bridgeport!"

CALL POLICE FOR BOLD SQUIRRELS

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Everything seems to be going along satisfactorily in the neighborhood in which Mrs. Fred Lindstrom resides, except the conduct of the squirrels. She complained to the police that large herds of squirrels were infesting the neighborhood and that they had grown so bold that now and then one would take a nip at the heels of a passerby.

The police looked the squirrel situation over, fired a few shots, but Mrs. Lindstrom said she didn't think that any of them were hit. Mrs. Lindstrom is the wife of a member of the Pittsburgh club of the National baseball league.

NEWSOM LEADING COAST CHUCKERS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Louis (Buck) Newsom, Los Angeles speed ball flinger, led the Pacific Coast league pitchers today with the season almost ended. He holds 30 victories against 10 defeats for a .750 average for games, including those of Tuesday.

CLOSE RESIGNS AS ANTI-RUM LEADER

PORTLAND, Sept. 28.—(AP)—His resignation as superintendent of the Anti-Liquor league of Oregon, a post he held for the past 11 years, was announced here last night by the Rev. R. E. Close. The Anti-Liquor league was until a short time ago known as the Anti-Saloon league.

E. M. Heacock, president of the league, said a successor to close will be announced soon. "Should the 18th amendment be repealed," Heacock said, "we will unite with the league of other states and the Anti-Saloon league of America in an aggressive campaign to place a new prohibition amendment in the constitution of the United States within the next seven years."

Close, who last July told police he had been kidnaped by two "Chicago gangsters," whom he later threw from his automobile, said he was resigning "to take up other responsibilities."

BEAVERS, INDIANS SPLIT TWIN BILL

(By The Associated Press) With the 1933 Coast league pennant won, Los Angeles and Buck Newsom have eased up a bit to give San Francisco a victory. It took the Seals 11 innings to beat the Angels and the league's leading pitcher, 5-4. The defeat was Newsom's first after 15 consecutive wins and prevented his tying Buck Browning's Coast league consecutive victory pitching record set.

The Missions engaged in a slugfest with Hollywood and came out ahead, 6-5. Portland, still trying to take the second place berth away from Hollywood, split a twin bill with Seattle. The Beavers took the opener, 7-6, behind Joe Bowman's steady tossing Pillette, Indian veteran, bled the Portlanders, 5-0, with two hits in the seven-inning nightcap.

Frenchy Uhalt had another perfect day at bat as he paced the Oaks for the second straight win at Oakland, 12-10.

FRISBIE IN DRAW WITH DEMETRAL

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 28.—(AP)—George Wilson, 195, of Seattle, took two out of three falls from Al Karasick, 190, of Portland, to win the main event of last night's wrestling program here. Wilson won the first fall with a flying tackle in 20 minutes. Karasick came back to take the second fall in 15 minutes with a Boston crab then Wilson finished the match in 2 minutes, with another flying tackle.

Noel Franklin, 149, Pocatello, Idaho, defeated Herb Bergeon, 147, Portland, in the semi-windup, getting one fall. Ray Frisbie, 205, Medford, and Harry Demetral, 192, Chicago, went three rounds to a draw. Turfy Davis, 182, Portland, won one fall and the preliminary from Jesse McCann, 150, Portland.
