

1 DEATH, SCHOOLS CLOSED BY EARLY MORNING SHAKEUP

felt with the exception of the one of March 10 last, which resulted in more than 120 deaths and property damage running into the millions. Superintendent of Schools Frank Bouelle of Los Angeles, called a conference to meet at dawn between business managers and members of the school board to make a decision as to the advisability of having pupils occupy buildings before an official inspection can be made by competent engineers.

Of the four injured in Los Angeles only one, Mrs. Marie Benedict, 61, was hurt critically. She suffered possible skull fracture when a medicine cabinet in the bath room of her home fell during the shock and struck her on the head. Others who were injured slightly and treated at the receiving hospital were: Miss Charlotte Wilson, 28; Miss Helen Apodac, 26, and Lewis Montay, 26.

Only one building collapsed, police reports showed. That was a market building on Central avenue in the southern section of Los Angeles. More than a ton of bricks were thrown from the front of the old central police station into the street. One woman sitting in an automobile, was said to have been injured slightly by the falling masonry but she did not appear at any hospital for treatment.

Newspaper offices and police were swamped for hours with telephone calls inquiring the extent of the damage. The telephone and telegraph companies also reported they were swamped with queries to Louie Besch, which suffered the brunt of the damage in the March 10 shock. Houses and hotels were vacated speedily when the shock was felt, occupants running to the streets in their night clothes. Many remained walking the streets, with a coat thrown about them, for several hours after the quake, fearing to reenter their dwellings.

TRUCK AND BUS STILL IN FORCE CLAIMS THOMAS

SALEM, Oct. 2.—(AP)—All provisions of the motor bus and truck transportation act, with the exception of a few minor features against which the Marion county circuit court has issued a restraining order are enforceable, and all carriers are required to pay fees and comply with other provisions, Charles M. Thomas, public utilities commissioner, announced here today.

He stated that since the injunction was issued and an appeal taken to the supreme court, "there seems to be an uncertainty as to the position of the enforcement agencies concerning the administration of the act passed by the last legislature." The injunction just had to do with relieving contract and private carriers from filing the good faith bond and from filing copies of contracts by contract carriers, and relieving carriers from the necessity of going through a formal hearing to obtain permits. The common carrier and the special carrier were in no manner affected by the court order.

Ye Poet's Corner

Fools Paradise
Now poems really do not take my time—
I have no flights of the imagination;
Why bother with the rules of prose or rhyme,
To me a depot simply is, a station,
The sky seems blue, what need to gaze beyond it—
Most flowers seem so near alike to be,
Why should one strive to variegate the species.
I find a tree is only, just a tree,
What matter whether blue-breast soars, or red-breast—
Ain't each wing as, another good to fly?
Small difference whether winter 'tis or spring-fest,
Umm, Jolly! Glimpse that luscious apple pie!
—Mrs. W. H. Anderson.

SPECIAL BENEFITS NOT TO BE GIVEN OVER OTHER MEN

ernment has a responsibility for and towards those who suffered injury or contracted disease while serving in its defense.

No Special Benefits
"The second principle is that no person, because he wore a uniform must thereafter be placed in a special class of beneficiaries over and above all other citizens. The fact of wearing a uniform does not mean that he can demand and receive from his government a benefit which no other citizen receives. It does not mean that because a person served in the defense of his country, performed a basic obligation of citizenship, he should receive a pension from his government because of a disability incurred after his service has terminated, and not connected with that service."

The president went before the opening session of the convention immediately upon his arrival here just before noon after a last minute decision yesterday to break up his summer White House at Hyde Park, N. Y., and visit both the convention and the Century of Progress.

Plans Relief Corporation
As he rode westward last night to the mid-west metropolis he announced from his special train the creation of a gigantic government corporation to purchase and distribute the necessities of life to the destitute this winter. This program, involving about $300,000,000, calls for about the same amount as we reduced from veterans allowances under the economy plan.

Discussing other national affairs, the president warned that the realization of the domestic recovery drive cannot be attained in six months, but he reported progress. "Reemployment has proceeded only a part of the way," he said, "from week to week there will be ups and downs, but the net result is a consistent gain. The freezing of credits has been stopped and the ice is definitely melting. Farm income has been increased; it must be further increased. Industry has picked up, but an increased purchasing power must stimulate it further."

Crays, home economist of Pasadena, Cal., who addressed the club on the subject of "Optimism." "Hundreds of homes are broken up today because of poor management and inability of the people to live within their budgets," Mrs. Crays declared, asking that housewives "learn to shop intelligently and to buy home products, expressing loyalty to the community."

An optimistic outlook for the coming year was voiced by Mrs. Crays, who stated that less welfare work will be needed, since more people are prepared to live on a small amount and more of them employed.

The mental attitude throughout the nation, Mrs. Crays also described as improved.

EXTRA SESSION DECIDED IS WORD

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Journal said today that "definite report has it the governor will call the legislature into special session" between October 20 and November 1." It was believed certain the session would be called for a Monday opening, the date on which regular sessions convene by statute. This would mean operations would start either on Monday, October 23, or Monday, October 30.

Under the 20-day limitation put on special sessions by the constitution, the non-emergency laws enacted during the session would become effective on Friday, February 12. If the session closed November 18, emergency acts would become effective on the day signed by the governor.
