New Serial Opens at Rialto

William Gargan is the wise-cracking, cynical, devil-may-care newsreel cameraman in "Headline Shooter," at the Rialto theater today and tomorrow. Frances Dee is the girl who cannot picture herself as marrying a man whose entire life is one hazardous job after another. Ralph Bellamy, Jack LaRue and Wallace Ford are also featured.

Saturday the Rialto will start its new serial, with Buck Jones as the star of "Gordon of Ghost Valley." He is a daredevil compuncher hired by a rancher to rid the country of cattle rustlers, and in so doing, runs into one exciting adventure after another. As a special inducement for kiddies, the Rialto is giving away free ice-cream bars to all those attending the Saturday matinee.

On Saturday, February 25, it was noted around the streets that Mrs. Martin contemplated giving Leonard Hall a "whipping." Mrs. Martin took umbrage at a squib published in his weekly "Agitator" by Hall articles on his business methods. In the late afternoon, people commenced to gather on both sides of Main street, in front of the News office, to see the fulfillment of the threat.

In due time, according to the testimony the state says it will introduce Mrs. Martin, her father, C. H. Brown, and the missing VanWagon drove in in the latter's auto. Fitch was already on the ground. The state and city police had wind of the fracas, and lurked in doorways and nearby autos. Hall came out of the News office Mrs. Martin is then alleged to have called to him, and when he approached her, started swinging the buggy-whip. VanWagon and Fitch attempt-

MRS. MARTIN GOES ON TRIAL DESPITE NEW DELAY MOVE

"Defendants could delay a trial a thousand years, just by hiring a new lawyer," remarked the court. There is no reason why these defendant's should be shown more consideration than other defendants who come to trial when scheduled to do so."

The case is the outgrowth of the Banks-Fehl agitation last winter, in which Mrs. Martin played a leading ed to hold Hall. He broke loose and started hugging Mrs. Martin in self-protection. He was hit in the face once.

Taken to Station. By this time, the police—city and state—swung into action, and escorted the combatants to the police station, and they were afterwards freed.

The state expects to introduce evidence by former "Banks guards," that the "whipping" was discussed by Banks at the "inner circle" sessions at his home, and that it appealed to all concerned as "a good idea."

Mrs. Martin, the district attorney's office states, recently informed them that she had "severed all connections with the Good Government Congress."
