LEGION, AUXILIARY INSTALL JOINTLY MONDAY EVENING

Medford Post No. 15, American Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary will hold their annual installation of officers for the coming year at a joint installation to be held at the K. P. hall on North Grove street Monday evening at 8:30 p. m. District Commander Elwood Husey of Kerby Post will be installing officer and Past Commander Wm. S. Bolger will open the meeting in the regular form.

Delegations from Kerby, Grants Pass and Ashland posts will be present and Commander L. C. Garlock urges every member of Medford post to be there to start the new officers off to a flying start for the next year. "Give them the support they deserve and help them put Medford post over the top early in membership," was Garlock's parting injunction. "The new cards are here and the new adjutant will be glad to accept your dues at any time. Don't wait for someone to call on you and ask for them. This is the beginning of the Legion year, with the installing of new officers, the start of our membership drive and various other Legion programs, it is well to pause in Legion introspection."

"What questions can we ask ourselves? Wherein have we failed and how can we be better Legionnaires? Have we done our best to gather members into the fold? Have we participated in the various activities to the best of our ability? Worst of all, have we stood on the sidelines and criticized, while others have tried to carry the burden of our share? What better time than now to show the proper spirit toward the greatest veteran organization in the history of America?"

If we feel that we have a grievance, why not bury the hatchet (but, not in the other fellow's neck) and try each in his own way to do his bit toward making his own post bigger and better?

"The natural satisfaction in being a part of an up-and-coming post will be its own reward. To try our best, to do our best, is indeed honorable—and in serving the Legion we honor ourselves."

"Out of our self-examination on Legionism is there one among us so bold as to declare he could have done no better? Indeed the number is small, and the speck rare. It is indeed a fitting time for resolutions. In our self-analysis we each know best wherein we can improve. Let's each one of us put our shoulder to the wheel for a bigger and better Legion."

Home from Hospital—Mrs. Polly Barr of Albert street has been returned to her home from the Community hospital, where she recently underwent a major operation. Her condition was reported as much improved yesterday. Mrs. Barr's brother, John Husley, and her step-daughter, Mrs. Frank Veckus, both of Corning, Cal., visited her here.

FIRESTONE TIRE CHIEF HERE WINS TRIP TO CHICAGO

Mr. W. G. Cool of this city, representative of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, left Wednesday for Chicago to attend the Century of Progress Exposition, accompanied by C. L. Hopkins, manager of the Firestone Service Store of Medford. The Chicago trip was awarded Mr. Cool in recognition of his splendid sales record for the Firestone company during the recent nationwide contest. The Medford man secured third place in a field of 48 competing Firestone salesmen in eleven western states. The nationwide Firestone contest was conducted on the basis of increased sales percentage and Mr. Cool's exceptional showing reflects a steady improvement in general business conditions throughout his territory and southern Oregon. While in Chicago, Mr. Cool and Mr. Hopkins will confer with Firestone officials and will inspect the elaborate Firestone display at the Century of Progress exposition. This display is replete with a miniature factory showing the process of tire manufacturing and also includes a novel series of "singing fountains."

Under the management of C. L. Hopkins, the Firestone Service Store in this city placed fourth in a western sales contest securing this coveted position in competition with 89 stores in 11 western states. Mr. Cool and Mr. Hopkins expect to return to their homes in Medford about December 18, after visiting the Chicago fair and attending conferences of Firestone officials in the east and in Portland.

HUNT ANNOUNCES FILMS TO APPEAR IN HOUSES HERE

Assurance that Medford will be given the best in motion picture entertainment was given by George Hunt yesterday when he announced forthcoming attractions for the next year. From the new Twentieth Century company will come one of the most imposing list of pictures ever released by United Artists. These include such attractions as "The Bowery" with Wallace Beery, George Raft and Jackie Cooper; Emperor Jones with Paul Robeson; Noel Coward's "Bitter Sweet"; Charles Laughton in "The Private Life of Henry VIII"; "The Palooka" with Jimmy Durante, Stuart Erwin and Lupe Velez; Eddie Cantor's "Roman Scandal"; Walter Winchell's "Broadway Through a Keyhole"; George Bancroft in "Blood Money" and several other noteworthy productions.

"Morning Glory," the new Katherine Hepburn picture that is now in its third week in Portland will be shown here starting Wednesday. "Ann Vickers," the widely-read Sinclair Lewis novel, and with Irene Dunne in the lead comes soon, Frank Buck's "Wild Cargo"; "Flying Down to Rio" with Dolores Del Rio, "Little Women" with Katherine Hepburn, Joan Bennett, Frances Dee and Paul Lukas, are a few from RKO.

"The Hollywood Party" with practically every star on the MGM roster, has been booked as has been "Night Flight" with Helen Hayes, John and Lionel Barrymore, Clarke Gable and Robert Montgomery. Jean Harlow, Clark Gable and Wallace Beery will appear in "Soviet"; an all-star cast will be seen in "Broadway to Hollywood" and several other like attractions will come from the same studio. The already widely-heralded "Lady for a Day" with May Robson and Warren William heading an all-star cast will soon be shown, as will Leslie Howard in "The Lady is Willing" and also in "Berkeley Square." "Blossom Time," the famous Schubert production, is being made into a motion picture. "Saturday's Millions," the football story which was recently run in serial form in the Saturday Evening Post will be a future attraction and from the same studio will come another of the popular Slim Sumnerville-Zasu Pitta feature comedies.

Will Rogers and Zasu Pitta are now making a co-starring production tentatively entitled "There's Always Tomorrow." Rogers will also be seen in "David Harum," Clara Bow will be shown in "Hoopla" and James Dunn and Sally Eilers are making "Jimmy and Sally." "Paddy, the Next Best Thing" with Warner Baxter and Janet Gaynor is dated for an early showing with the first Lillian Harvey production "My Weakness" to soon follow. Spencer Tracy and Colleen Moore are starred in "The Power and the Glory" and "Pilgrimage," one of the outstanding hits of the year, has also been booked.
