

Medford High Defeats Roseburg 14-13 in Thrilling Fray

PENALTIES BALK BURGER'S SQUAD NEAR GOAL LINE

Upstate Squad Shows Fight Before Home Crowd—Bill Bates and Gillinsky Score—More Drills Loom

Medford high school defeated Roseburg, 14 to 13 Saturday afternoon at Roseburg, in a hard fought and thrilling gridiron battle.

Penalties at crucial stages, prevented the Burgermeisters from scoring, and the final result does not indicate the true strength of the two teams. Technical rulings by the referee marred the game.

The score was 7 to 6 at the end of the first half. Gillinsky scored the first touchdown. Bill Bates, substitute fullback, scored the second. White and Gillinsky kicked the extra points. Hamnack, Medford center sustained an injured knee, and Stewart took his place. Roseburg scored in the first and third quarters.

Medford advanced the ball twice to the four yard line, when penalties robbed them of touchdowns.

The game throughout was hard fought, and the Roseburg squad put up the battle of its life, before a partisan home crowd. Medford once defeated Roseburg 101 to 0, and this defeat still rankled. Roseburg has a husky squad, and played with a fire and dash. The Medford squad, still showing a lack of timing plays, rough edges that will be polished off with more practice.

In the backfield, for the locals, Bill Bates, was outstanding. He is a recent arrival, and showed plunging ability, and snared four forward passes. White, after returning home last night, announced the line and backfield would be put through a rigid course in fundamentals the coming week.

The line-ups: The Medford starting line-up was: Bennett and Hinman, ends; Baker and Prentice, guards; Bruce and Kindred, tackles; Hamnack, center; White, quarterback; Gillinsky and Brown, halfbacks; Lewis, fullback. Substitutions: Ghelardi for Gillinsky, Lewis for Brown; Bates for Lewis.

SONS OUTCLASS PACIFIC U., 19-0

The Southern Oregon Normal school football team, playing its first home game of the season, stepped out Saturday afternoon and defeated the Pacific University of Forest Grove, 19 to 0.

The Northerners never threatened the SONS goal at any stage of the contest, and showed more defense than offense. Three times the SONS got the ball within springing distance in the first half, only to be checked.

KANSAS OUTPLAYS IRISH TO TOP DAY OF GRID UPSETS

Famous Elevens Lose Or Tied—Pop Warner's Temple Squad Swamped—Review of Games.

(By the Associated Press) Another smashing performance by the powerful Trojans of Southern California and inspired play by California's Golden Bears and the Kansas Jayhawkers marked the nation's football program as a succession of upsets rocked the gridiron world.

While such nationally famous elevens as Texas Christian, New York University and Alabama were suffering either defeat or tie, Southern California continued its long string of victories with a crushing 33-0 conquest of Washington State runner-up to the Trojans for the Pacific coast title last year.

Meanwhile California overcame a two-touchdown lead that St. Mary's Gaels piled up in the first period and eked out a 14-13 triumph in the last period. Kansas, at the same time, turned in a sensational performance, outplaying Notre Dame in the Ramblers' seasonal debut, although a scoreless tie was the final result.

New York university, opening its second season with the coaching of Howard Knott, struck a tartar in West Virginia Wesleyan's Bobcats and went down to defeat, 3-0, when Barnum booted a field goal in the fourth period. Texas Christian, invading Arkansas' stronghold at Fayetteville, found the Razorbacks too strong there, bowed 13-0, and thus suffered a major reverse in its bid for another Southwest Conference crown.

Another result the experts hardly had foreseen came in Carnegie Tech's 25-0 triumph over "Pop" Warner's Temple Owls.

Otherwise, the east produced no major upsets, although Yale's 14-7 victory over Maine was scarcely as decisive as Eli supporters had hoped for. Princeton and Harvard, another "big three" teams, made their debuts under more auspicious circumstances, the Tigers swamped a strong Amherst college eleven, 40-0, and Harvard running over Bates, 33-0.

Syracuse and Colgate opened with easy victories, the former bowing over Clarkson, 25-0, and Colgate upsetting, untied and unscathed upon last year, swamped St. Lawrence, 49-0. Columbia found Lehigh "soft" and won, 39-0, while Brown upset Rhode Island State, 26-0. The service elevens again whipped southern rivals, Army beating Virginia Military, 32-0, and Navy winning over Mercer, 25-0. Cornell, Fordham, Dartmouth, Holy Cross and Boston college all posted victories against opposition. Pitt chalked up its second victory, beating West Virginia, 21-0.

Sharing midwestern interest with Kansas, was Nebraska's Cornhuskers who trounced Texas in an intercollegiate duel, 20-0. Indiana and Minnesota played a 6-6 tie in the second big ten game of the season, while Virginia Tech struck quickly, scoring all its points in the first period to Wallop Michigan State, 20-6. Wisconsin overcame Marquette, 19-0, and Illinois schooled over Washington university of St. Louis, 21-6. Chicago and Iowa had easier games, the former beating Cornell college of Iowa, 33-0, and Iowa, upset conqueror of Northwestern last week, spilled Bradly, 36-0.

TROUT, STEELHEAD FRY TO BE FREED IN ROGUE WATERS

The "greatest supply" of filehite ever distributed in the Rogue and its tributaries will soon be liberated from the United States hatchery at Butte Falls, Henry O'Malley, superintendent of U. S. hatcheries, stated here yesterday following his arrival from Baird, Cal., and inspection of the Butte Falls project.

BEARS RALLY AT FINISH TO ROUT ST. MARYS, 14-13

MEMORIAL STADIUM, BERKELEY, CALIF., Oct. 7.—(AP)—With a last minute finish that sent 30,000 fans into a frenzy, California's rejuvenated Bears came from behind to defeat St. Mary's, 14-13 today in a game that scrambled the early season with one of the greatest upsets of many years.

On the short end of the count until the final three minutes of play and apparently headed toward defeat by one touchdown, the Blue and Gold warriors fought their way back into the front ranks with a climax that left nothing to be desired.

The finest rally the Golden Bear has responded to in many a gridiron battle centered around the smashing play of a substitute left halfback, Floyd Blower, whose entrance into the game turned the tide.

The great Gaels team, touted as the most powerful ever to wear the red and blue colors of the little college coached by "Slip" Madigan, was leading as the contest moved into the last few minutes, and apparently able to stave off the last bid made by the Californians.

They were backed up on their own 16-yard line when Pless, Gael long-distance kicker, was rushed in to boot the ball supposedly deep over in California's ground. He was rushed by two Bear linemen, Lutz and O. Williams. They blocked the ball between them and it bounded out of bounds.

It was California's ball on St. Mary's 15-yard line. At this point Coach Bill Ingram sent in young Blower and an end-around with Jack Brittingham carrying netted two yards.

Blower was in on the next play. On a reverse he took the ball from Keeler, sub fullback. Blower banged through some kind of a hole and was passed to W. Joslin on the Gonsaga 4-yard stripe. With less than a minute and half dove over the line to tie the count. To make it a real afternoon for the football playing member of the Blower family, he place kicked the extra point, although there are several club members of the Bear squad supposed to be more accurate kickers.

With positions reversed and Californians in the lead, supporters of the Bears out loose with a cheering that thundered up from this big gray bowl. Even Coach Ingram, whose emotions usually consist of pulling his hair over his eyes, danced around in hilarious joy.

The Gaels struck early and with force to roll over two touchdowns before the game was five minutes old.

STATERS FUMBLES ENABLES GONZAGA TO PLAY TO TIE

Bulldogs' Stonewall Defense Is Also Factor in Scoreless Battle on Multnomah Field.

MULTNOMAH STADIUM, PORTLAND, ORE., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Although three times within striking distance of the Gonsaga goal, Oregon State college, battered futilely against the bulldog stonewall here today and the two football teams played to a scoreless tie on Multnomah stadium field before about 20,000 spectators.

Only twice did the Gonsaga team take the ball into O. S. C. territory and they went no nearer the Oregon State goal than the 30-yard line. Oregon State's chances were spoiled time after time by fumbles. In the second period the Staters appeared headed for a sure touchdown but Heikenen, O. S. C. fullback, muffed the ball within an inch or two of the goal and Gonsaga recovered. A moment later, however, the Bulldogs lost the ball on a fumble, but the Staters were held for owns on the Gonsaga 8-yard stripe.

Oregon State had two big chances in the last period. First they drew within one yard of the Bulldog's goal line, but Gonsaga held like a stone wall. A few moments later, after Peterson, Gonsaga left half, had fumbled, the Staters recovered on the Gonsaga 15. In a few plays the Beavers had the ball on the Gonsaga 3-yard line for the first time. They approached to the 1-yard line but the Gonsaga eleven held fiercely and O. S. C. lost the ball. Gonsaga punted to the 35-yard line and the game passed to Peterson. Gonsaga left half, had fumbled, the Staters recovered on the Gonsaga 15. In a few plays the Beavers had the ball on the Gonsaga 3-yard line for the first time. They approached to the 1-yard line but the Gonsaga eleven held fiercely and O. S. C. lost the ball.

One of the main reasons Oregon State failed to score was Captain Bellingier's extra tackle. Almost every time the Orangemen started to go place Bellingier was in there to stop the march. When Oregon State penetrated to the Bulldog one-yard line in the final period, it was Captain Bellingier who stopped the Orange battering ram, H. Joslin.

On the Gonsaga offensive a hard hitting, wringing sophomore, Justice, who at the last minute was placed in the opening lineup at fullback instead of Kearna, was the leading ground gainer for the visitors and a stalwart on defense. He netted the Gonsaga boys 39 yards for the day.

One of Oregon's big chances came in the second period when McIntosh punted to the Gonsaga seven and the Bulldogs' fourth punt went only to their own 20-yard line. Heikenen fumbled but recovered for a yard loss. Gonsaga suffered a 5-yard penalty for offense, then after McIntosh lost another yard, Heikenen slipped through center for what looked like a sure touchdown. But he tumbled in a short of the goal and Cunningham recovered behind the goal line for a touchdown.

Plans for the football benefit to be held at Hunt's Craterian theatre in the near future are being quickly formulated, it was announced yesterday by Dr. R. E. Lee, chairman of the civic affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Within a few days Dr. Lee will announce the names of the committee chairmen who will work with him and also the exact date when the benefit performance will be shown.

Inasmuch as everything for the affair is being donated, the Chamber of Commerce is endeavoring to obtain the interest of Carl Laemmle, president of Universal Pictures of Fifth Avenue, New York, and accordingly sent him the following telegram today:

JOCKEY CLUB TO CLOSE RACE MEET FAIR TRACK TODAY

Thoroughbreds on the track and bucking horses in action, with yodeling ropers sandwiched in between the racing events kept crowds which flocked to the Jackson county fair grounds yesterday afternoon thrilled through a three-hour program, as the show, sponsored by the Southern Oregon Jockey club, progressed through its first day.

Carrying many old timers back to the good old days, when it wasn't so long between races, the events drew cheer upon cheer from spectators and a record crowd is anticipated for the second show at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Relay racing honors went to California, when Shorty Lee of San Jose, Cal., riding a prize animal from the Vack Millrick stables, came in first. Medford came in the first, however, in the quarter mile, Gordon Benson of the Medford Riding Academy winning in 26 seconds.

The first three-eighths mile race was won by Fred Stinson of Albany, riding "High Flight." The horse completed the course in 36 seconds. The second three-eighths mile was won by a feminine contender, Cinia Marney of Salem, riding "Fred Archer." Time 36 1/2 seconds.

The half-mile race ended in a dead heat and will be run again this afternoon. Additional horses are being brought for today's events and the lineup will include "January," thoroughbred from Grants Pass, owned by Dan Bowers. Six other horses will be entered from Josephine county, in addition to those on the tracks yesterday.

The 16 bucking horses will be featured again today and the fancy ropers and yodelers. A $75 race has been made up for the matched race, in which "January" is scheduled to run.

The program will open at 1:30 and continue until 4:30 o'clock, as outlined yesterday. "Entertainment, supreme, for all race fans," is the promise of the Southern Oregon Jockey club and all who reported on yesterday's events, declared the declaration "no exaggeration."

MEDFORD JUNIORS DOWN ASHLAND HI

Exhibiting some real football prowess here Friday, the Junior high school team defeated a team of Ashland Junior high students and sophomores to the tune of 19 to 0.

The game was attended by the largest crowd in the history of Junior high football, and a dit of cheers expressed adequately just what the onlookers thought of the playing.

WARBURTON RUNS AND TROY POWER CRUMPLE COUGARS

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(AP)—With Irvine (Scooter) Warburton setting a fast pace for his fellow Trojans, the University of Southern California won its first Pacific coast conference victory of the season today at the expense of Washington State 30 to 0.

Warburton, wearing a grotesque mask to protect a nose injury suffered two weeks ago, looked like a clown but ran like a football player as he personally gained 230 yards against the rugged Cougars, scoring three touchdowns during his afternoon work. The little quarterback made runs of 80 and 75 yards to score and then in contrast punted his third with a buck of about one foot.

The Washington State lads started with a rush and a scoreless first quarter suggested a battle to the finish but after Warburton started a one-man parade in the second period, the Southern California team play reached its highest point of the abbreviated season and the Trojans began to shake their backs loose with surprising frequency.

The winners ran up a total of 19 first downs, all but one from scrimmage, and amassed the surprising total of 477 yards gained during the afternoon.

The game would have developed into a rout with a less courageous team suddenly tossed from the position of a contender to a sadly distanced also ran. In the last stages of the contest the Cougars were only trying to score while they started the game at little worse than an even choice to win.

The visitors had the first chance to score. In the middle of the first period a short kick gave the Cougars the ball in the center of the field. Phil Sarboe tossed a pass to Ted Christofferson and the Norwegian from Hawaii was not stopped until he had scrambled to Southern California's 23-yard line. This brave beginning developed a weak ending and the attack bogged down, a wild pass finally sailing over the goal line on fourth down.

The Cougars continued to dominate the first quarter, taking a kick in mid-field and running off a first down right away and picking up another 13 yards on a roughing penalty. A fumble stopped their drive. Just before the period ended, a 16-yard pass was completed through the same Sarboe-Christofferson medium, Washington State's last gesture of the half.

It was a crushing finale for the American league champion, frustrated at every critical turn of the five-game series by a fighting band of Giants, who simply refused to be licked and out-played their previously favored opponents by a wide margin from start to finish. The Senators had lost a bitterly fought game the day before to Carl Hubbell, southpaw winner of two contests. They were making a last-ditch fight today before the biggest crowd of the series in Washington, numbering 28,456 cash customers.

They had seen their veteran right-hander, Al Crowder, knocked out of the box for the second straight time as the rampant Giants piled up a 3-0

GRAYSON FIGURES IN STANFORD WIN

STANFORD, CALIF., Oct. 7.—(AP)—The Stanford Redskin roped the Santa Clara Bronco today, but got scored almost into the "happy hunting grounds" before clinching the contest 7 to 0.

The Indians pushed over their score by line bucks, after Palomountain recovered a fumble on the 15-yard mark in the first period.

The crowd of 35,000 spectators saw a battle that surged from one end of the field to the other, filled with thrills chiefly as the result of Santa Clara's spectacular passing attack. The mighty throwing arm of Sobrero, Santa Clara's left halfback, shot the ball into all corners of the stadium, and on virtually all but scoring chances a Santa Clara receiver was there to receive it.

Grayson, Stanford's fullback, and Maenta, half, had all they could do by brilliant line plunging, off tackle smashes and occasional sparkling returns of punts, to offset Sobrero's passing and fullback Paglia's kicking. Paglia kicked out of bounds nine times to prevent the flashy Stanford safety man from getting a chance to break into the open.

Grayson carried the ball for 53 yards on 16 tries, and Maenta 54 yards on 12 tries.

OTT'S HOMER WINS FOR GIANTS OVER SENATORS' PLAINT

All four finally agreed that it was a legitimate homer, on the basis of the standing rule that a ball coming off a player's body or glove into the open stands is good for the circuit. It would have been a double under ground regulations only if it had gone into the bleachers on the bounce, but the ball was sailing over Schulte's head as the outfielder gabbled for it.

This provoked another outburst by the Senators, reminiscent of their row with Umpire Moran at first base Friday, when Heinie Manush was ejected from the game, but they were once more on the losing end of an argument, as they saw their last, lingering hopes flying away.

It was a crushing finale for the American league champion, frustrated at every critical turn of the five-game series by a fighting band of Giants, who simply refused to be licked and out-played their previously favored opponents by a wide margin from start to finish. The Senators had lost a bitterly fought game the day before to Carl Hubbell, southpaw winner of two contests. They were making a last-ditch fight today before the biggest crowd of the series in Washington, numbering 28,456 cash customers.

They had seen their veteran right-hander, Al Crowder, knocked out of the box for the second straight time as the rampant Giants piled up a 3-0 led in less than six full innings. They had then rallied in their own half of the sixth to pound young Hal Schumacher, brilliant right hander, out of the box and tie the score again to a tumult of shouting as big Fred Schulte walloped a home run into the left field pavilion crowd, with Heinie Manush and Joe Cronin on the bases.

From there on, into extra innings for the second straight day, it was a pitching duel between the 42-year-old Cuban, Luque, making his first appearance in the world series since he was with the Reds in 1919, and the fast-ball reeler star of the Senators, Russell.

Russell choked off Giant threats in the eighth and ninth and there were two out in the tenth when Ott came up for the fifth and last time of the day. "Little Mel" had not gotten the semblance of a safe blow up to that time. He was fanned by Crowder on his first two trips to the plate. He flied out to Manush on the next two times. There were two strikes on Ott when the chunky little outfielder took his familiar windup, hoisted his right leg and lashed into the ball.

Ordinarily, Ott is a pull hitter, who slings his drives to right but this time he lifted the ball high and far into left-center. Schulte was off with the crack of the bat and so was Manush. The center-fielder was nearer and the ball touched his outstretched glove as it caromed into the crowd. Schulte after it. It was a desperate effort, even though it failed, and Schulte clambered out limping.

The Senators, with two out in their last turn at bat, made one more effort to avert defeat. Manager Cronin, who recovered his batting eye for the first time in the series, lashed his third straight hit to left field after Goslin and Manush had been retired. The dangerous Schulte was passed and Kerr dispatched to run for the beleaguered outfielder, but Joe Kuhel ended the game and the battle by striking out.

This was the climax of a great piece of relief hurling by the Cuban curver, Luque, who choked off the Senators in the sixth after they had rapped Schumacher for five straight hits, and then limited them to two singles in the last four innings. Old "Dofie," a squat, seasoned campaigner, who has been in the big leagues for 18 years, struck out the Senator side in the seventh. Russell, Myer and Goslin, as he duplicated Hubbell's opening game feat and furnished additional proof of the Giants' extraordinary pitching resources.

COLUMBIA BEATEN BY OREGON 14-7

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 7.—(AP)—University of Oregon defeated the Columbia university football team of Portland, 14 to 7, here today. The two teams battled on even terms during the first half. In the third period Oregon ran over a touchdown, and added another in the last quarter. Columbia scored and converted in the final frame.

One and a fourth million chinook salmon eggs in the incubation stage at the Butte Falls hatchery, are also to be distributed in the Rogue. At the water's present temperature hatching of the eggs will require about 50 days' time.

Mr. O'Malley plans to visit the hatchery at Diamond Lake before returning south early in the week.
