

ASHLAND HORSE COPS PURSE IN FEATURE RACE

Highly Touted 'January' Finishes Third in Sunday Fairground Event — Riding, Roping Stunts Please

First money in the half mile race, run in the second day's program, sponsored by the Southern Oregon Jockey club at the Jackson County Fair grounds, went to "Yami" of Ashland yesterday afternoon, when the handsome black outdistanced by several lengths "January" of Grants Pass, highly touted favorite. The latter horse, also bowed to the Irish "Shamrock," owned by Irs Dodge and ridden by Fred Stinson, which finished second. "Yami" was ridden by her owner, Ray Murphy, "January," finishing third, is owned by George Bowers and was entered by Ivan York.

First money in bucking horse competition went to Yakima Kid, who put on a colorful exhibition, appearing first on the "Starwheat Roan," more amiable than ferocious, and next on "Black Boy," who failed to throw him.

Dr. G. A. Gitzner's famed horse, "Easter Boy" took first place in the three-eighth mile race, with Cinda Matney of Salem, who also qualified as a first class horsewoman Saturday, in the saddle.

Freddie Beck of this city won the boys' pony race, riding "Gay Girl," completing the quarter mile course in 29 seconds.

Iris Dodge of the Medford Riding Academy won two ladies' races. Riding "So Long Letty," owned by Helen Herbert, she completed the first race in 27 1/2 seconds. Second place was claimed by Helen Wood, riding "Roxy."

Riding "Morning Glory" in the three-eighth mile, Mrs. Dodge again came in first, and in the second ladies' race brought "Patches" to the front. Helen Wood was again second and Della Harris, riding "Dainty Miss," owned by Helen Dugan, came in third.

"Morning Glory" also won first for Fred Stinson, when entered in the quarter mile.

"Shorty" Lee of Beavick, Cal., who finished much entertaining clowning between acts and posing for Jimmy Daves in the fancy roping exhibitions, won the relay race and claimed first honors in the half-mile cow horse race. He rode "Kiddo" in the latter, "Muxlux," ridden by Ray Murphy, placed second in the cow horse contest. The horse is owned by Al Noble of Ashland.

In the eighth mile dash, "Scamp," with Fred Stinson in the saddle, came in ahead of all competition.

Jimmy Daves, who slung a mean rope in several events of the afternoon, also entertained with songs of the range and introduced his family in several singing and roping events, which inspired applause from the grandstand. The "Teabo" Cowboys, who located here, furnished music and songs throughout the afternoon and trick riding by Della Harris and Delbert Ross stole the show for a short period from "Shorty" Lee.

GIANTS PROVIDE TOPICS FOR HOT STOVE LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The clamor and thrills of the Giants' world series triumph trailed off today into history as baseball bowed its way out for another season and left the sports field clear for the king of fall pastimes, football.

But from now on until the major leagues gather again in spring training camps, there was material enough for the hot stove league sessions thru the long winter nights to challenge any intervening excitement in the feats of the tall thin southpaw from Oklahoma, Carl Hubbell; the home run hitting little Melvin Ott, the boy wonder of Louisiana; the flair and color of New England's blonde John Ryan, and the master minding of Memphis Bill Terry.

Rarely have newly crowned champions of baseball's realm presented such a varied cast of heroes and near-heroes as this amazing group that came from nowhere through the National league season, universally branded a second division ball club, and through sheer fight, spirit, and mastery in the pluches, climbed behind superb pitching first to the league title, then a world series triumph over the highly favored Washington Senators in five games.

"Furthermore," warned Terry today "this is a team that should be good for five more years. Pitchers like Hubbell, the best in the world right now, Hal Schumacher, Roy Parmelee and Fred Fitzsimmons will be even better next year. Everywhere else on the team are youngsters just getting good. The best days of outfielders like Mel Ott, George Davis and Joe Moore are still ahead of them; Ryan is just a kid; Gus Mancuso will be an even greater catcher next season; and I know Travis Jackson, Hughie Critz and myself are still far from through."

Besides that we've got two young pitchers in Johnny Salveson and Al Smith who'll be ready to take a turn next year and Watson Clark, who was the best left hander in the National league in 1932, will have recovered his strength. You won't make any mistake picking us right now to do this all over again in 1934."

Certainly the future of the 34-year-old Terry, who has a fifteen year old son taller than himself, seems assured for as long as he wants to handle the Giants' reins.

As a whole the series was one of the poorest financially in modern history, the players' pool dropping from $300,000 for the first time in 11 years as the crowds in Washington never exceeded 28,000 and the Giants failed to sell out in two games here.

The Giants' winning shares were only $4600 each, the Senators' $3400.

Oregon Has One-Point Edge in Game With Common Foe — Trojan-Gael Tilt Takes Main Interest South

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND Associated Press Sports Writer SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—(AP)—

Bounding along the football highway in what followers confidently believe will be a non-stop dash to both coast and national honors for a second successive year, Southern California's Trojans meet St. Mary's Gael's next Saturday in one of two outstanding games on the far western schedule.

Two years ago another St. Mary's team invaded the stronghold of Southern California to snatch a 13-7 victory over the Trojan warriors. Since that day early in 1931, Coach Howard Jones has watched his teams pile touchdown upon touchdown in a triumphal march that thus far has accounted for 24 wins and no defeats in the records of U. S. C.

Trojans Big Favorites On the strength of last week's showings of the two teams, Southern California will go into the game a strong favorite to turn the tables on the eleven which was responsible for its last defeat.

The Trojan forces ran up the unexpectedly high score of 33-0 last Saturday in winning from the powerful Washington State Cougars.

Whereas the big St. Mary's team was the victim of an upset, beaten by California's Bears, 14-13.

Oregon-Washington Meet While St. Mary's and Southern California are battling in the southern sector, Oregon and Washington will meet in one of the traditional tilts of the north.

On the comparative basis of a game each played with Gonzaga, the two conference teams shaped up on fairly even terms. Washington won from Gonzaga 13-0 and Oregon defeated the same team, 14-0. Last year the two rivals played to a scoreless tie.

Another conference game will pit Washington State against Montana. Although Washington State lost to Southern California it is expected to be an easy winner over Montana, which lost its first conference start to Oregon State, 20-0.

Non conference games will bring Oregon State to the University of San Francisco's home field while the Olympic club, oldest football rival of California, will meet the Bears in the annual contest at Berkeley. Oregon State played a scoreless tie with Gonzaga last week while San Francisco listed an open date after losing to St. Mary's 7-0, October 1.

Stanford's Indiana, who upset predictions last Saturday by defeating Santa Clara, 7-0, were enroute to Chicago where they will meet Northwestern this week-end.

Coast conference standings:

	W	L	T	Pts	Opp
Southern Calif.	1	0	0	33	0
Washington	1	0	0	32	6
Oregon State	1	0	0	20	0
Stanford	1	0	0	8	0
Oregon	0	0	0	0	0
California	0	0	0	0	0
U. C. L. A.	0	1	0	0	3
Montana	0	1	0	0	20
Idaho	0	1	0	6	32
Washington State	0	1	0	0	33

ENRIGHT EXPLAINS WITHDRAWAL AS MARTIN COUNSEL

To the Editor: As you know I have been a reader of your paper ever since coming to Medford, nearly six years ago.

Tonight's report of my withdrawing from Henrietta Martin's case, as produced in your paper might leave the wrong impression with some people so I am going to give the facts regarding the same.

I was engaged last spring to defend Mrs. Martin on the charge of riotous and disorderly conduct filed against her in the justice court, before Judge Coleman. We were going to try the case and then we heard through various sources that two of the jury drawn to try the case had expressed opinions. So we moved to strike out the jury and draw an entire new jury.

In the meantime other cases came up and the district attorney's office took the matter before the grand jury, which met in the district attorney's office, instead of trying it in justice court with the result that Mrs. Martin was indicted by said grand jury.

Later one Glenn Jack of Oregon City was retained by Mrs. Martin to assist in the trial of her case. He has never appeared with or for her in court.

We were given to understand that the case would be tried at the October term of the circuit court of Jackson county, Oregon, Mrs. Martin having entered a plea of not guilty. Then with short notice it was set for trial at this, the May term of court.

Three days ago Mrs. Martin came to the office and told me she desired to postpone until such time as her other attorney, Glenn Jack, could be present at the trial, stating that Mr. Jack's wife was dangerously ill in Oregon City and that it was necessary for him to remain there. I had also been so advised by Mr. Jack in a letter a day or two previous. I informed Mrs.

Martin that the legal way to obtain a continuance of her case was to file a motion for continuance, supported by affidavit and showing the facts entitling her to said continuance. She asked that I draw such a motion, which I did and stated that she would call Mr. Jack by long distance phone and have him send me an affidavit from a physician that Mr. Jack's wife was dangerously ill and he was needed at home and that it would be inadvisable for him to come to Medford at this time. Instead of sending the affidavit, as Mrs. Martin said he would, and as I advised her was necessary, Mr. Jack simply wrote a letter to Judge Harry D. Norton, stating that his wife was ill and that he could not appear for the trial and asking that it be postponed. Now any lawyer knows that the method or manner of obtaining a continuance, far from being just a request or an attorney's motion to file a motion for said continuance which motion must be supported by affidavit setting out the facts upon which the motion is based, and Mr. Jack should have also known that this is the statutory manner of obtaining a continuance. Mrs. Martin was so advised by the undersigned.

Naturally, the statute not being followed and no proper motion for continuance being filed, the Hon. H. D. Norton, as was his duty, refused the continuance, the case having been set for trial for some time and having been pending since spring.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Martin, much put out because a letter from her "chief counsel" as she has chosen to call him did not operate as a motion, supported by affidavit, came to my office demanding that an affidavit of prejudice be filed against the Hon. H. D. Norton, as circuit judge, she having already exercised her prejudice rights against the Hon. Wm. Duncan, theretofore.

Acting as her attorney, although perhaps not "chief counsel" if such an animal there be, I advised her against filing an affidavit of prejudice and stated to her that I would not care to represent a client who filed such an affidavit against Judge Norton.

She stated that I should do as she stated and I informed her that when ever a client refused to take my advice it was time that client engaged the services of another attorney, as I always supposed a client hired a lawyer to advise them and why ask advice if you will not heed it. I, therefore, withdrew from the case as her attorney.

Had Mr. Jack forwarded an affidavit regarding his wife's condition properly sworn to by her attending physician, there is no question in my mind but that Judge Norton would have granted her a continuance of her case and the entire controversy, if any, have been avoided. But when the law of the state says a motion supported by affidavit, maybe some of the lawyers and their clients will, some day learn, that that is what it means.

SHOO THE WILD MARES
The gentleman on your left clears his throat: "These are parlous times," he says. "The international situation trembles... is redolent of..." He snorts. He chokes. He gives up.
Did you hear that Hindenburg once said to Hitler: "If you shake your fingers at me, I'll rap them for you."
"A sales tax," says the gentleman on your right, shaking his head mournfully, "No, no. Of course, not. We'll never come to that. A throtter of business! Why, it's ridiculous."
Do you know how close we were in the last Congress to a sales tax? Do you know why it died aborning?
We side with the gentlemen on your left. These are parlous times. Do you understand them or do you let the Wild Mares of Gossip, of uninformed chatter, the yippers and yappers, trample rough-shod over your judgment?
Everybody is talking about what is going on. But how many know what they are talking about?
