

SHORT AND LONG COURTSHIPS GIVE HYMEN A HAZARD

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—(AP)—University of Chicago scientists have come to the conclusion that either extremely long or unusually short courtships and the same way—in matrimonial difficulties.

They came to this conclusion by studying the answers of 6000 married couples to questionnaires.

There's a considerable hazard in courtships lasting less than three months and great risks in those that drag along for more than five years.

From three to five years was held to be an ideal length of time.

College graduates were given a 25 per cent better chance for happiness in marriages than persons with eighth grade educations.

Couples living in cities, the investigators concluded, find it more difficult to adjust themselves to married life than do their country cousins.

FORD V-8 STARTS TEST OF ECONOMY

Starting off with flying colors at the scheduled time this morning, the Ford V-8 test car began its 1000-mile economy run with Hobar Price at the wheel. George Gates of the C. E. Gates Auto company will relieve Price as chauffeur tonight.

Previous to taking off, the Ford was serviced and the oil cap sealed with a soldered band. The speedometer was also checked in the presence of Lee Garlock of the A. A. A. and Herb Gray. Gasoline for the trip was secured at the Standard station at Sixth and Riverside, the key being left in possession of Blondie Zundel, who will check the gasoline consumption at the end of the drive tomorrow.

A regular stock Ford V-8 which had traveled 9000 miles, was selected for the test, and no mechanical adjustments were made other than new distributor points and the installation of new spark plugs.

It Really Was Colder in Grandpa's Day, Say Records Hinting Mild Winter Coming

By F. B. COLTON
(Associated Press Science Writer)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — When Grandpa tells how the winters were colder and the snows deeper in his day it's more than just hazy memory. It's a fact.

Winters now aren't as cold as they used to be, says J. B. Kincer, climatological expert of the weather bureau. In fact, they've been growing warmer for more than 20 years.

Mild Winter Probable.

"We are now in the midst of a period of abnormal warmth," Mr. Kincer goes on, "which has been coming upon us gradually for years." Judging from this warm trend, he sees another mild winter as probable.

Though winters have been growing warmer for many years, they are the most finicky of the four seasons. A cold winter may pop up unexpectedly in the midst of several warm ones. For example, whereas last winter was mild in accordance with the trend, the coldest officially recorded temperature in United States history was registered in February in Yellowstone National Park—66 degrees below zero.

But, regardless of reports of wild fowl flying south early, of squirrels laying up unusually large stores of nuts, and the hair growing thick on rabbits, the weather bureau pins its faith to pendulum-like swings of climate recorded during the past 100 years, moving first in the warm direction, then in the cold.

Swings Like Pendulum.

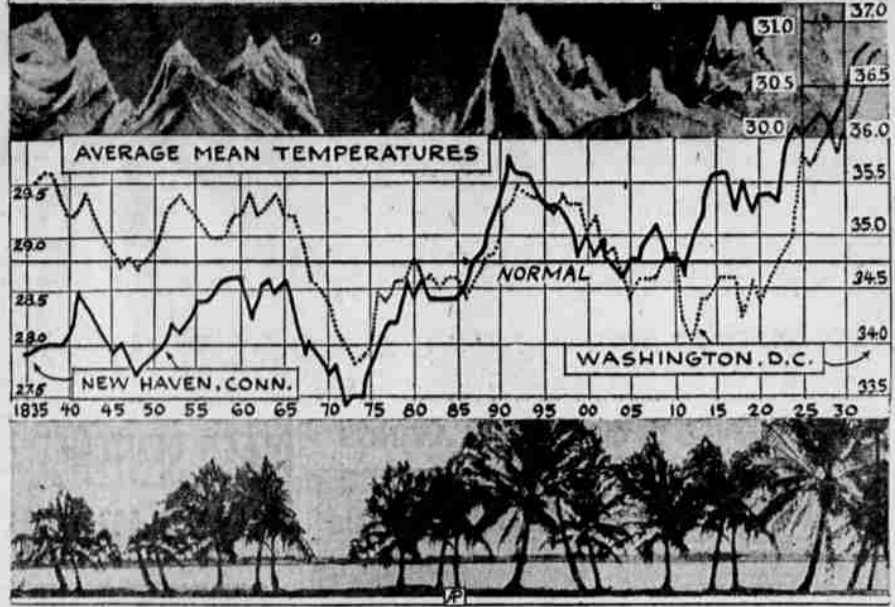

For example, here's how the trends have swung, first to warm then to cold, at New Haven, Conn., where weather records go back to 1801:

Rising temp. 12 yrs. 1801-1812
Falling temp. 37 yrs. 1813-1849
Rising temp. 15 yrs. 1850-1864
Falling temp. 9 yrs. 1865-1873
Rising temp. 19 yrs. 1874-1892
Falling temp. 20 yrs. 1893-1912
Rising temp. — 1912-7

There is no evidence yet of a swing back toward cold weather.

Eighteen of the last 21 winters at Washington, D. C., have been warmer than normal. All of the last 13 there have been mild. The warmest winter in more than 100 years was that of 1931-32. This contrasts, for example, with 19 typical winters of "Grandpa's day"—1854-1873—all of which were colder than normal. That of 1855-56 was the coldest in 100 years of weather bureau records.

All four seasons have been growing warmer for a long period, records show.

This chart apparently is all that the "oldest inhabitants" need to prove their contention that winters have been growing warmer. Each point represents the average temperatures for the previous 20 years. It was prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau to show the trend of winter temperatures over 100 years, at Washington, D. C., and New Haven, Conn.

PARK LANDSCAPER TO HAWAIIAN ASSIGNMENT

Mere Jager, landscape architect for the national parks in the western area, who has spent the greater part of the last two summers at Crater Lake national park, left Tuesday evening on the Skaats for San Francisco, from which port he will sail to Hawaii to be with the park service in the islands.

Mr. Jager will sail October 17 on the Matson liner Monterey, and spend a year in the islands, developing two of the national parks there.

ROXY ANN CCC PROJECT FAILS

The selection of winter camps for the CCC camps was closed September 15th and it will be impossible to get one of the camps moved from Crater Lake to Roxy Ann park, as desired, to build trails and roads this winter.

A representative of the national park service may visit Medford soon to look over Roxy Ann park, with a view of including it in the spring program of work to be done in municipally owned parks.

SOCIETY and Clubs

Mrs. Lamm Entertains At Tuesday Dinner.

Mrs. A. H. Lamm was hostess Tuesday evening at dinner, entertaining for Judge and Mrs. James A. Fee, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Day, Judge and Mrs. Earl B. Day and Miss Jessie Mastin.

Judge Fee is conducting the southern Oregon term of federal court here and Mr. Day, United States marshal, is also here for the court session.

YODELING ROPERS ARE HIT OF RACING MEET

The Yodeling Ropers, versatile entertainers who appeared at the fair-ground race meet Saturday and Sunday, proved to be one of the hits of the two-day program.

The group includes Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Doss and their three children: Lloyd, 11; Denny, 8, and Alma, 5. All contribute their part to the act, even to tiny Alma, who can yodel with the best of them.

Doss does fancy roping, assisted by Mrs. Doss, and the children have a share in the rope twirling and singing.

Preaches Tonight

Cecelia Nixon.

A unique and beautifully illustrated sermon, "The Tower of Jewels," will be preached tonight at the Medford Pentecostal Church, 4th and Barlett streets, by Evangelist Cecelia Nixon. The meeting begins at 7:45 p. m. The pastors, Rev. and Mrs. David Cameron, are arranging special music for the evening. Mrs. Nixon will be in the Medford pulpit only one night.

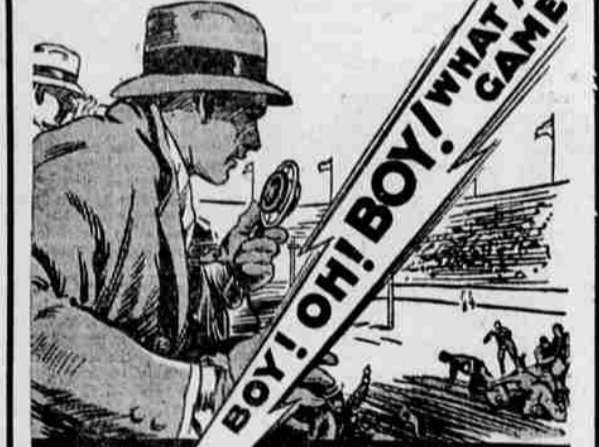

Heating costs can be reduced. For complete heating service call Art Schmidt 417-1892.

ACTRESS QUESTIONED IN ATTACK

A grand jury in Los Angeles investigated charges of John Warburton (lower left), actor, that he was robbed by Russell Brown (warburton center) and Martin Black (lower right) who attempted to disfigure him. Alice White, actress, and her screen writer sweetheart, Sidney Bartlett (upper left) denied the attack; was inspired by them. Attorney Gerry Geisler (upper right) accompanied them to the courtroom. SLOT MACHINES MUST CEASE WORK MONDAY

County and state authorities today advised all places where slot machines are stationed, that beginning next Monday the gambling devices must be turned toward the wall, or otherwise rendered impotent for playing. The rule applies to city and country alike.

Roadhouses, under the slot machines law, are not "private homes," and are subject to the same provisions as stores, clubs and pool halls.

The sheriff, district attorney, state police and the city police of Ashland and Medford are cooperating in the campaign.
