

TIGER BACKFIELD BOASTS SEVERAL NEW DISCOVERIES

(By Harold Gorve.)
 Medford high school's backfield this year reveals a few new faces. Including Bill Bates, Alan Gebhardt, full-back; Bennett Lewis, Russell Brown, Olaf Severson and Stanley Kunzman, half-backs. Among the returning veterans are Tommy White, Max Gillinsky and Leo Gehlardi.

Max Gillinsky is playing his fourth and last year of football for Medford. The first year out Max showed a lot of fight and earned his school letter. The second year he displayed an up-and-coming type of football and was just starting to get "cooky." Last year the cockiness began fading and now he is ready to put out a real brand of football.

Max weighs only 138 pounds, but is husky for his size, and very quick and active. His main ground-gaining is done by the open field route. Especially on the returning of punts.

Leo Gehlardi, another "little big man" of football, is light but a great little ball totter. Leo is often called "Leaping Leo," because of the manner in which he runs, with his knees high in the air. It is just too bad for the person in front of them.

The first year out for football, "Leaping Leo" was troubled with "feetitis" or big feet, but as two years rolled by little Leo developed those feet into a pair of "hot dogs."

Leo weighs only 133 pounds and is a trifle taller than Max Gillinsky. Leo has been the understudy of Max, but he is going to show Mr. Gillinsky that he isn't the only football player on the team.

Tommy White, the "blond terror," is playing his second year as a first string man. Last year he played left half, but this year he is in the role of field general—the most important position on the team.

Tommy isn't the fastest runner on the squad, but is good at blocking, punting and passing. He has been punting on an average of 30 and 40 yards in practice and in recent games.

He is a good defensive player as well as good on offense. Tom is not a flashy or spectacular player, but when there is a hole in the line to be blocked, Tom is always there. He is not classed as a light backfield man, but weighs around 187 pounds. His favorite block is on the opponent's knee. He enjoys putting them out of commission that way.

Bill Bates, a newcomer to Medford football fans, is a rough and tough fullback. He weighs 174 pounds and is a great line plunger. He broke into the limelight recently at Roseburg when he snagged four passes and plunged over the line for one of the two touchdowns. He is fast and a hard man to tackle.

Stanley Kunzman is in his second year of high school football. Last year he made his letter at end. Due to the fact that Stan is light and speedy, Coach Burgher has shifted him to the backfield. He has not been able to show much so far this season because of an injury sustained in the first week of practice.

Alan Gebhardt, another boy who has been out of competition because of an injury sustained in the first game of the season, is a hard driving fullback and is going to give Bill Bates plenty of competition for that fullback position. He doesn't weigh quite as much as Bates but has the ability to fight hard, along with 161 pounds of muscle.

Ole Severson, in his first game of football, broke through the line of vicious ends and tackles and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. That was all Coach Burgher wanted to know. Now Ole is playing on the first and second string. Ole is the lightest player on the team. He weighs 128 pounds, and can he travel? I believe Ole can make the hundred-yard dash in about 10 seconds flat.

Bennett Lewis is a husky lad with two years experience behind him. Last year "Toughy," as he is commonly called, was out of practice most of the time because of an infected finger. This year, so far, he has earned a first string berth. How long he will keep it remains to be seen.

Russ Brown, last year third string center, has been showing the boys out at the football field a few new steps in the dancing and prancing act. Coach Burgher first shifted him to guard, where he played nicely, then he was shifted to the backfield, where he has been playing even better. He earned the right to start in the Roseburg game, and showed up very well.

Some of these players will have to step mighty high to keep up to their record of last year.

STATE WORKERS SAVE MANY FISH AT SAVAGE DAM

Concerning the current reports that hundreds of fish are dying daily at the Savage Rapids dam, where they could not get over the dam, members of the game division of the state police, who visited the place Tuesday afternoon, reported that a state man and state truck had been salvaging the fish, and had saved between 15,000 and 20,000.

A number are also dying, they stated, but not nearly as many as have been reported, since the water has been turned out of the irrigation ditches.

"It is the belief of the people in that area that fish have been pumped into the ditches," they said this morning, "but the large ones couldn't possibly get through the pump without being ground to pieces."

The game men say that some of the fish had gone up Jones creek, and by that method had gotten into the ditches.

It is expected that work will be completed by the middle of next week by the workmen who are fixing the aprons that are back of the turbines. At that time the water will be turned back so that the fish can get over the south side of the dam, next to the highway, the same as they did last winter.

TO PLANT STEELHEAD IN ROGUE NEAR DAM

GRANTS PASS, Oct. 11.—(Sp.)—The state game commission has made

To Spend $75,000,000

ARRANGEMENTS to plant $75,000 steelhead in the Rogue river below Savage Rapids dam, and in the Applegate river, according to Everett Moore of the Butte Falls hatchery, who was in Grants Pass Monday making arrangements for trout to be taken to the Bolan and Tanen lakes.

The federal government has already planted a number of steelhead salmon in the Rogue river, it was announced.

STEPFATHER SHOT TO SAVE FAMILY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—(AP)—In protection of his wife and mother, George Randall, 30, told police early today that he shot and killed his stepfather, H. W. Williams, a signalman.

Randall, whose story was verified by the women, said Williams had been drinking and had attacked Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Randall with an ax and knife. They fled into a bedroom and barred the door.

Randall said Williams obtained some kerosene and threatened to fire the room with it. He said he warned his stepfather to keep away, but when the older man continued to advance, he fired a warning shot. Failing to halt, Randall said he fired again, the bullet piercing Williams' side. Randall was held on technical charges.

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—(AP)—An American business man, Roland Vels, a native of Maryland and a former Connecticut resident, who now lives in Berlin, was struck twice in the face by storm troopers because he did not salute a Nazi procession, he reported today.

The incident occurred in Dusseldorf on Sunday, while he was walking with Mrs. Vels.

GLEE CLUBS WORK HARD FOR OPENING SEASON PROGRAM

(By Mary Klem.)
 Under the direction of Miss Harriet Baldwin, the glee clubs are now working diligently on songs for their repertoire of this season. They have three set dates for this year: Open house in the near future, the operetta given every year by the high school glee club, and the Ashland Music Festival. This is held yearly in Ashland at a gathering of all the school glee clubs in southern Oregon and northern California.

Four numbers, which are to be sung by the girls' glee club for open house, are "Prayer Perfect," by E. J. Stinson, the well-known and beloved "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer, "Sylvia" by Oley Speaks, and a Negro love song "My Little Banjo" by Dickmont.

The boys' glee club plans to give three numbers for open house. "The Bell of St. Mary" by A. Emmet Adams, "Three for Jack" by W. H. Squire, and "The Ragged Vagabond," by Eric Randolph.

Formerly, two days were devoted to the mixed chorus work, but due to changes in schedules, it has not been organized as yet. Miss Baldwin hopes to arrange the chorus soon, as practice for the oncoming operetta is impossible without it.

The glee clubs are also practicing to give programs at the Ashland Normal school and various school activities.

Sacred Heart church will give benefit card party at the Parish hall, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Refreshments, prizes for high score and a general good time, for 25 cents Everybody welcome.
