AMERICA URGED BY BAKER TO RESIST EUROPE'S HATRED

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, former secretary of war, asked today on behalf of the national conference of Jews and Christians, that "the outbreak of intolerance abroad not be duplicated in this country."

"Whatever may be the concern of any members of the conference personally about the overseas situation," his statement continued, "the conference itself expresses no opinion and seeks to have no influence beyond the happy example we hope America will set in being a country in which neither race nor religion are allowed to be used for political and economic discrimination."

"We thank God for the constitution of the United States and our whole object is to make its great principles and guarantee effective not only in the courts, which enforce them, but in the hearts and minds of our own people."

Mr. Baker said he wanted it clearly understood his remarks were not directed toward the foreign situation. His statement came after a conference of co-chairmen of the organization—Roger W. Straus, representing the Jewish religion; Professor Carlton J. H. Hayes, the Catholic religion, and Mr. Baker, the Protestant religion.

"Big Executive" Now At Rialto

Ricardo Cortez, Richard Bennett, Elizabeth Young and Sharon Lynne are featured in "Big Executive," now playing at the Rialto theater.

A story of the new-type big business man, stock manipulator, speculator, up-and-at-'em financier, the picture contrasts with him the old-type of empire builder, the man who made railroads, industries, banks, mines and a nation of pioneers.

Cortez plays the role of the modern "big executive" who has built his fortune on the misfortune of others. No one man has been able to stop him in his headlong career until he falls in love with the great-granddaughter of Commodore Richardson, the 97-year-old retired empire builder of the past.

Ladies of the St. Anne's Altar Society are sponsoring a Rummage Sale, Friday and Saturday, in the Whitlock Bldg. on West Main St.

"Paddy" Opens at Craterian

Warner Baxter and Janet Gaynor are co-starred in "Paddy, the Next Best Thing," playing at the Craterian theater until Saturday.

On the same program is the Walt Disney All-Technicolor Silly Symphony, "Three Little Pigs," with "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?" animated in typical Disney fashion.

"Paddy" tells the story of a madcap Irish lass, and offers Janet Gaynor in an absolutely new type role. Paddy's greatest asset is at the same time her greatest liability. For she possesses the uncanny faculty of enslaving the affection of those with whom she comes in contact. She is a rogue—and irresistibly charming. As the man who brings her down to earth and convinces her of his love, Warner Baxter is said to be in his most popular element. He is suave, handsome and the gentlest of lovers.

Georgia Minstrels Coming To Craterian

The minstrels are coming! Richard and Pringle's famous Georgia minstrels with 40 of the world's greatest comedians, dancers and singers, will be on the stage of the Craterian theater Sunday only.

Lionel Barrymore in "One Man's Journey" will be the screen attraction.

This year's edition of the Georgia minstrels is the greatest edition of this show ever attempted. They come to Medford direct from San Francisco en route to the Oriental theater in Portland. The show was booked into the Craterian through the Fanchon & Marco offices in Los Angeles.

Featured with the show this season are included Broomfield and Greedy, and their Harlem Night Club Girls—beautiful, high-brow, native girls recruited from Broadway's greatest night clubs. In addition, there are comedians that can really make you laugh; ballad singers that make a lump come up in your throat, and scenery that baffles description.

A monster street parade will start from the theater Sunday noon and will travel through the principal streets in Medford.

Dance at Lake Creek Grange hall, Saturday night. Butte Falls orchestra.
