Entertaining Here Adopts Hallowe'en Decorative Notes

Although Hallowe'en is still more than a week distant, shades of the holiday were noted last week in the arrangement of many luncheon tables, and several organizations came right out and announced they were holding Hallowe'en parties. So society this week may expect witches, bats, owls and their traditional comrades to hover over tables, swing from ceilings, and dominate all festivities, until the spooky day has come and gone.

An increase in entertaining is also expected, just because the holiday is nearer.

Among hostesses of the past week, was Mrs. G. M. Roberts, who gave a badminton luncheon yesterday at her home on Crown Hill. Covers were arranged for 16. Mrs. Roberts' daughter, Mrs. Robert Munn, who had been her house guest for several weeks, left Thursday for her home in Palo Alto.

Other guests leaving the valley were Messrs. Harold and Edward Colby of Pasadena, who spent two weeks visiting Mrs. Alex Sparrow and daughters, Misses Frances and Harriett, at their ranch home. Mr. Edward Colby is a sculptor, who is rapidly gaining a reputation in the south.

Miss Anne Livingston was hostess Friday at luncheon for eight at her country home near Jacksonville. Covers were arranged for Mrs. L. A. Salgado, Mrs. L. A. Salgado, Jr., Mrs. H. D. McCaskey, Mrs. Paul Janney, Mrs. J. C. Mann, Miss Margaret Hubbard, Mrs. Alice Holloway and Miss Livingston.

HILL, Calif.—At a lovely bridge luncheon Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. J. R. Colby of Denver, Colo., was entertained by her daughter, Mrs. M. M. Self, of this city. Places were arranged for 14 guests at the turkey luncheon and bridge was played during the afternoon. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Emma Gusmanne, Miss Mae Roberts, Mrs. Mary Keable and Mrs. Pearl Hess.

While Mrs. Colby opened many birthday gifts, refreshments were served by the hostess during the tea hour.

Invited guests were: Mrs. Colby, Mrs. Lucille Anderson, Mrs. Elia Holmberg, Mrs. Elma Gusmanne, Mrs. Margaret Crow, Mrs. Pearl Hess, Mrs. Mary Keable, Mrs. Bernice Clark, Mrs. Ann Francis, Mrs. Mable Williams, Mrs. Marie Brooks, Mrs. Mattie Phoenix, Mrs. Luella Wilson, Mrs. Austrid Peterson, Miss Annabelle Self, Mrs. Tillie DeKirk, Mrs. Madeline Van DeWeghe, and Mrs. Katherine Hartnett.

S.O.N.S. Glee Club To Have Busy Year

The Women's Glee club of the Southern Oregon Normal school is an organization, which will contribute much to the Rogue River valley music world this coming season. The singlets are already preparing for participation in numerous programs for the near future, and work on Christmas productions, to be presented December 10 is underway. The Men's Glee club will also be reorganized.

The president, Margaret Poley, has appointed a committee to take care of the program to be given before the assembly some time soon. The committee is composed of Catherine Chaney, Beth Cummings, Irene Peterson and Aileen Guy.

A committee has also been appointed to prepare a float for homecoming. It is composed of Jenny McKnight, Janet Rae Gould, and Katherine Hoffman.

Next Thursday the women are going to try out before Miss Woodruff, who will choose a few to represent the club along with the women's chorus in the midnight matinee during homecoming, November 18.

The women's club was well represented Thursday night at the chamber of commerce dinner, by Aileen Guy who sang two selections, "Happy Song" by Del Riego and "Song of Songs." Miss Guy was accompanied by Juns Aiken, a former glee club accompanist. Madge Masder, also a former glee club member, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Millet, played two violin solos, "The Swan by Saint Saens and "Salut d'Amour."

Eastern Wedding Interests Many Medford People

Of interest to many Medford folk is the announcement received here the past week of the wedding September 30 of Miss Vivian Harner Ward and John Roger Padack, formerly of this city, and brother of Rychen M. Padack, who resides here at present.

An account of the wedding that appeared in the Washington, D. C. press follows:

The wedding of Miss Vivian Harner Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ward, and John Roger Padack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Truman G. Padack, of Cincinnati, took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the Foundry Methodist Episcopal church, with the Rev. Dr. Frederick B. Harris officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned on prince lines, with small puffed sleeves and a long, square train. The veil of tulle was edged with old lace and fell from a cap of the same lace. She carried a bouquet of roses, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Elizabeth Hoge, maid of honor, wore a black gown with a brief jacket with wing sleeves lined with white moire. She also wore a small black velvet turban and carried a muff of white gardenias.

Mr. Robert Burton was best man and the ushers were Mr. Tom Groom, Mr. Fuller Highsmith, of Georgia, Mr. Francis Stephens and Mr. William S. Hoge Jr.

A reception followed at Tilden Gardens for the bride party, relatives and a few close friends. Later Mr. Padack and his bride left for a wedding trip, the latter wearing a dark blue ensemble, trimmed with orange, and a dark blue hat. They will make their home at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Ward, Jr., of Philadelphia, and their daughter, Miss Eleanor Ward; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Smythe, of New York and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Padack, parents of the bridegroom.

Study Club Devotes Time to World Affairs

The Wednesday Study club continued study of world conditions Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. F. K. Deuel presenting the discussion with a most enlightening paper, "Collapse of Cycle." Many are asking the question in these severe times, is this a collapse of civilization? We are now entering on the fifth year of the eleventh depression that has come upon the world's civilization.

Mrs. Deuel reviewed the causes of many of the past depressions and their recovery, as given by eminent economists. Some say the country is entering a social revolution, and that the New America will not be either socialist or capitalistic. But there will be a better understanding among the people. We are now at the crisis of the greatest moment of all time. Is America prepared to meet it without collapsing? The students of social economy are hopeful of a speedy recovery.

Mrs. A. J. Hanby reviewed Prof. H. A. Overstreet's book, "We Move In New Directions." The author says "The profit-economy is fated to pass away. This now seems certain, for three major reasons. The basic motivation is too low for what we have come to expect of civilized life. In the second place, the system is too wasteful to recommend itself to an intelligence grown accustomed to the precisions of economies of science. In the third place, it is inherently self-contradictory. The author says we are now passing through three revolutions, an economic, a cultural, and a spiritual.

Humanity, says Jan Smuts, "has struck its tents, and is again on the move. It is civilization that is moving, an old civilization advancing into a new one.

Mrs. C. A. Meeker reviewed world's events from the conditions in Europe to those of our nation and state. The next meeting of the Wednesday Study club will be November 1, with Mrs. W. H. Warner, Mrs. W. I. Vester and Mrs. N. T. Hodges presenting the program.

Review Given Of Bible Class Study

The Weekly Bible class enjoyed the lesson of the Book of Job in session Tuesday evening, and the following review of the study was given yesterday:

"The book is a dramatic poem; it is probably the oldest of the Bible books and was written before the giving of the law. It sheds a remarkable light on the philosophic breadth and intellectual culture of the patriarchal age. The problem is Why do the Godly suffer?"

In the land of Uz, a region south of Edom and west of the Arabian desert and extending to Chaldea which was capitated by that great city Ur, the home of Abram; lived Job. He was perfect and upright; he feared God and refrained from evil. But he was righteous in his own eyes. So were his four friends—dogmatic and self-righteous. Each ascribes Job's troubles to some sin he has committed. Otherwise, according to their conception of God, Job's sufferings would be unjust. Job will not so accuse the justice of God. Elihu, the fourth of his friends, has a higher conception of God and a juster and more spiritual conception of the problem. The God of Eliphaz, Bildad and Zophar is small God, because their conception is of One who is petty and exacting in His relations with mankind. Elihu's account of God is noble and true, but his discourse is marred by dogmatism and self-assertiveness. Jehovah's judgment of Elihu is that he darkened counsel by words; the very charge Elihu brought against Job. Jehovah's discourse is wholly free from the accusations of Job which his friends discourses abounded. The words of Jehovah bring Job consciously into His presence. The previous discussions had been about God, but He was conceived of as absent. Brought into the presence of God, Job is revealed to himself, as self-righteous and lacking in humility, and the problem is solved. The Godly are afflicted that they may be brought to self-knowledge and self-judgment. Such afflictions are not penal for their sins, but remedial and purifying. 1 Cor. 11: 31-32 and Heb. 12:5-11, also John 15:2."

The class is undenominational. The lesson text Tuesday at the Y. W. C. A. at 7:45 p. m. will be led by Chas. E. Dunham, pastor of the Baptist church of Ashland. The lesson will be a study of the Book of Psalms. Mr. Dunham is a well known Bible student and will have an inspiring lesson for all who attend, and an invitation is extended to all.
