FARM LOANS NOT TO BE CALLED ON DATES WHEN DUE

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—(Sp.)—L. J. Paulson, regional manager at Minneapolis of the farm credit administration crop production loan office called attention today to the fact that October 31, 1933, is the maturity date for crop production, livestock feed, and forage crop loans granted during the spring and early summer months.

He stated further that it is not the policy of the farm credit administration to insist on liquidation of crops and livestock at prevailing low prices, the spirit of these advances being that they shall be repaid from the proceeds of the security when sold.

Interest for the funds loaned was deducted up to October 31 and that maturity date is emphasized as a reminder to borrowers that additional interest will accrue thereafter.

Amateurs Given Opportunity To Appear On Stage

Has Medford a match in popular favor to Bing Crosby and Eddie Peabody, famous northwest entertainers, who have acquired radio, stage and screen glory?

George Hun of the Hunt Theaters here is determined to find out through the medium of the big McKesson Drug company's radio and stage opportunity contest, sponsored by them to discover new talent.

The contest is open to everyone and anyone by simply filling out an entry blank, found in this paper, or to be gotten at any drug store. It will climax with a big elimination contest at the Craterian theater on November 15th.

Preliminary tests will start at the Craterian next week and will be held weekly.

Valuable awards await the winners. Medford victors will be heard over KEX, following the final here, of which time NBC officials will select the best of the three Medford finalists. This one will compete in December with winners from over 40 Oregon and Washington cities on the stage of the Broadway theater in Portland.

The judges' final choice there will be given a trip to Los Angeles, all expenses paid; chance to try out at the NBC studio and in addition, screen and voice recording tests at the Fox Film studios in Hollywood.

Second prize winner will also journey to Los Angeles, with tryouts at the NBC studios.

Third prize is a trip to San Francisco and additions with NBC studio there.

Fourth and fifth prizes are vaudeville contracts, with salary, on the K. & R. Empire circuit.

Acts offered must not run more than six minutes nor call for more than four people. Anything suitable for radio or stage fare may be presented, with the understanding that those having material suitable for both amusement mediums will be given preference by the judges. All entrants shall supply their own accompaniment and properties.

Preliminary contests will reduce the number of Medford entries to 10 acts and on November 16, Skipper Don Mills with his mate, Bosco, will arrive in Medford with his Opportunity Ship, to act as master of ceremonies in staging the final contest.

Three winners will be chosen and sent to Portland to put on a broadcast dedicated to Medford, over station KEX. The three winners will be housed at the hospitable Congress hotel, all expenses paid—meals, room with bath, and everything.

The winners representing their respective home towns will return to Portland in December to stage the final contest at the Broadway theater, at which time the lucky ones will be chosen by the judges. Those interested in the contest should fill out the entry blank found in this paper, or get one from any drug store, fill it out and mail or bring it to the Craterian theater.

GATES EXPLAINS CLIFF MESSAGES TO KIWANIS CLUB

Cliff writings in the Klamath Basin and Tule Lake country with their interpretation formed the subject of the lecture given Monday by W. A. Gates before the Kiwanis club at luncheon at the Hotel Medford.

Mr. Gates, who has an extensive library devoted to the subjects of archeology and geology, dealing particularly with the Pacific coast, illustrated his talk with a chart of heroglyphics.

Writings, supported by competent authorities showed a direct contact between those of the Tule lake country and those of races which occupied the lost continent of Lemuria (incorrectly known, according to Mr. Gates, as Mu.)

In his address yesterday, Mr. Gates also traced the exodus of the Lemuria peoples into Mexico and the Aztec civilization. To establish this contact he introduced the architecture, myths, legends, and folk lore traditions of the people for comparison. Their exodus, he stated, was undoubtedly connected with the destruction of Mt. Mazama, where Crater Lake was formed.

The heroglyphics on the islands, left from the lost continent, are the same as many of those found on the coast, Mr. Gates stated. They are religious writings, many of them readable. Reading them, the speaker added, enables one to arrive at the source of many of our own cherished religious traditions.

Mr. Gates will be going to Klamath Falls some time during the next two weeks to speak before an organization there on the same subject, which he has studied for the past 20 years, taking advantage of the findings on the Pacific coast to improve his understanding of the great amount of literature he has read on the subject.

Among other guests of the Kiwanians at luncheon yesterday was Dr. C. H. Paska, who was welcomed home from San Francisco. Dr. Paska announced that he was resuming his dental practice here.

ROGERS APT PUPIL IN DIESEL SCHOOL

Lucius Rogers, former paper carrier at the Mail Tribune, returned to Medford Saturday from Seattle, where he completed a course at the Diesel school of engineering. Rogers entered the school last February, and was enthusiastic today in his praise of the course given there.

He received a grade of 98 in his shop work, a 96 average in written work, and was given a rating of 200 as chief and 450 as assistant. He also obtained a life's scholarship to re-enter the school at anytime he desires.

Tuition costs, he stated, he was able to pay with money earned through special work, which comes to the engineering students. The only complaint regarding the set-up, he had to make yesterday, was that he wished he could have had a little Medford weather in Seattle. He saw just six weeks of sunshine from February to October in the northern city.
