FREE BEER DAY SLATED AT FAIR

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Free beer and sandwiches, at the world's fair Nov. 8.

It was Mayor Edward J. Kelly's idea and he'll pay for it.

The mayor said repeal would be effected by 6 state elections on Nov. 7 and the next day should be "personal liberty day" at a Century of Progress. The W. C. T. U. protested it as an insult and an undignified finale to a great exposition purporting to demonstrate the progress of a hundred years. So the fair management said Nov. 8 would be called "Personal Responsibility day."

JUBILEE PLANS ARE EXPLAINED BEFORE ROTARY

"The Oregon Diamond Jubilee celebration will be the greatest event of its kind in the history of this state."

Mr. Jerome stated in urging the support of Medford business and professional men in the gigantic task of preparing for the Diamond Jubilee. The speaker was loud in his praises for the unselfish and generous backing various Oregon communities are giving to the Medford Chamber of Commerce committee. It was pointed out that Mayor Carson of Portland, the Rose City chamber of commerce manager and directors and officers of the manufacturers' association, have pledged their support to Medford's jubilee plans, and Governor Meier has already rendered invaluable assistance in making possible this city's celebration next June.

Mr. Jerome and A. H. Banwell, manager of the Medford Chamber of Commerce, recently conferred with manufacturers, civic leaders and Governor Meier, laying the preparatory work for the statewide event.

Elaborate plans are already materializing for the jubilee, according to Mr. Jerome, who heads the committee for the celebration. Dog racing, contests of every description, aviation exhibitions, home products and manufacturers' exhibits, and the culmination of a statewide queen contest are but a few features the committee is already working on. Jacksonville will not be forgotten, either, as this famous pioneer community will have an important place in the jubilee plans.

W. A. Gates will head the home products committee and Floyd Hart will be in charge of aviation activities. Mr. Jerome said in mentioning the fact that these prominent Rotarians have been named as heads of his first two committees appointed. The speaker further urged the Rotary members to "talk celebration" in all contact with people, inside and outside this community.

A projected program of beautification for this city was also mentioned by Mr. Jerome. The Lions club and American Legion have already pledged their cooperation, and other civic organizations are rapidly being assigned their parts in preparatory work.

County Judge Earl Day, a member of the club, spoke briefly of the passing of a resolution at the legislature, designating Medford as the official Diamond Jubilee city. Members of the Grants Pass Rotary club golf team were presented by Chairman George Henselman, and Program Chairman Hamilton Patton introduced an interesting "roll-call" feature which enabled members of the club to familiarize themselves with old and new members. C. D. Bean and George Hunt called the Rotarians' attention to the high school benefit show at the Craterian tomorrow night.

M. D. Clark, George Riddle, V. M. Hammond, Rae Cowdin and Charles Cooley, all of Grants Pass, attended today's luncheon as visiting Rotarians. A. H. Banwell, Jack Dennis and J. H. Cooley were guests at the interesting weekly meeting, which was held in the basement banquet room of the Hotel Medford.

SILVER SCREEN REVIEW

By Mary Greiner Kelly.

Moving faster than the minute hand on anybody's turnip, and clicking every second, Lee Tracy winds up one of the best all-around performances of the year in that whimsically clever comedy, "Turn Back the Clock."

With the vital, inimitable Tracy occupying practically every foot of film from start to finish, the piece fairly azzles with interest in both situation and dialogue.

The play is essentially a comedy—a great portion of the lines being positively farcical. But they are so subtly interwoven with tender, human sequences that one wonders at times if this master of smart-cracks isn't also capable of being one of the best lovers on the screen.

The question as to whether you would have acted differently (and if you did, what would happen) could you only turn back the clock—say for 20 years—is entertainingly answered at the final curtain. If you'd like to compare your conjectures with Lee's findings, don't miss this show.

Oh, yes, there are others in the cast, and they all do very well indeed. Otto Kruger, Mae Clark, C. Henry Gordon, George Barber and Peggy Shannon.

Vital Questions Subject of Film

Will the American home prevail against the evils and pitfalls confronting our younger generation? This is one of the vital questions of the present day that is said to be answered in the startling film drama "The Seventh Commandment," opening a three-day engagement at the Rialto theater today.

How the shifting morals of mankind have switched in recent years until the greatest dangers which youth faces today is not the scarlet menace, but a combination of bootleg liquor, ignorance and a mania for new experiences, which is poignantly brought out in this unusual picture.

Although the scarlet menace still exists as she has since time began, she is no longer of the type familiar to former generations. When once she was a type easily picked out, today she is a greater menace to inexperienced youth because she bears no trace of her trade. Herself ignorant in many cases in regard to sex, she relies more upon the effect of strong drink than upon her wiles to ensnare her victim. In many cases the gin-befuddled youth is unconscious that he is dealing with a woman of this type until he awakens to the dreadful realization that he, his bride, and his children must pay a frightful toll.

Not in any sense a preachment, but a great powerful drama of modern life, "The Seventh Commandment" will nevertheless prove a revelation to many young folks and their parents. Amazing revelations of the consequences which follow in the wake of the hectic, jazz-mad life led by many of our youth of today are made in the course of the picture. Subjects so delicate they have seldom been handled on stage or screen are brought fearlessly into the limelight and are treated with the most consummate tact.

It is a picture graphically relating the most powerful story ever brought to the all-talking screen and should prove an important factor in the great battle now going forward for better morals and a healthier, saner world.

The picture comes direct from the Hollywood Music Box, where it closed an unprecedented run of 15 consecutive weeks in Los Angeles.

Thriller Coming To Holly Screen

For color, gaiety, smart chatter and love-making, the deck of one of the south-bound steamships can hold its own with any pleasure resort in the world. As for romance, it fairly runs free. Couples who are not honey-mooning soon get that way, and it's safe to bet that more people become matrimony-minded on a trip to the South Seas, Honolulu, Bermuda or some such torrid spot, than in any other environment on earth. It may be the moon, the deep blue of the ocean, the flying-fish or the porpoises that switch their tails around the stern of the boat, but the fact remains that Cupid is here, there and everywhere.

It is this lively, leisurely, fascinating atmosphere that Monogram has chosen for the background of "Sensation Hunters," its new feature, scheduled for the Holly theater on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Sunny decks, swimming pools, bathing beauties and fashionably dressed men and women, all in a holiday mood, are part and parcel of the gay and colorful ensemble that charac-

Vina Delmar's "Pick Up," published originally as a short story in Red Book magazine, is now showing on the Roxy theater screen, with Sylvia Sidney and George Raft in leading roles.

Like "Bad Girl" and other of Miss Delmar's stories, "Pick Up" centers around a boy and girl from the streets of the city, who are buffeted about by social and economic laws, but ultimately find happiness in each other's arms.

MRS. LINDBERGH HOMESICK FOR SIGHT OF BABY

GALWAY, Irish Free State, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh is getting homesick.

"I'm terribly anxious," said the wife of the famous American aviator after their hop from Southampton, England, "to see my baby..."

"Yes, I'll be glad to be back home again."

She insisted, however, the long trip with her husband has not been tiresome and she said she considered Ireland one of the most delightful lands over which they have flown.

But perhaps there was a reason: The westerly part of Ireland, Colonel Lindbergh pointed out to his wife, gave him his first sight of land after his historic lone Atlantic crossing year ago.

Even the quiet-mannered colonel confessed seeing the land again gave him a "thrill of pleasure."

Colonel Lindbergh said he and Mrs. Lindbergh intended to fly to Inverness, Scotland, tomorrow.

Today's inactivity was due to a heavy coastal fog. The flight tomorrow will be by way of Loch Foyle, where Air Marshall Italo Balbo halted on his flight from Italy to America.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—(AP)—A block powder bomb exploded and partially wrecked a new beauty shop its owner had planned to open today, several miles from where a senate subcommittee is conducting hearings on how to curb crime and racketeering.
