

MEDFORD GRADE A WINS HONORS AT DAIRY AIDE MEET

To the editor: Having just returned from the International Stock Show and Oregon Dairy Inspectors convention at Portland, I feel justified in an increased community pride for Jackson county, because of the high scores won by two of our own milk producers...

Both these contestants won scores entitling them to silver certificates, one scoring 87.1, the other 87.8. One of said contestants tied for high score on raw cream, which scored 98, but owing to the tie-off he lost the gold medal which went to Vancouver, B. C.

A fine cooperative spirit obtained in the Inspectors' convention and all were agreed that some drastic course must be adopted to save the dairy industry and thereby aid each dairymonger, and this course seems to be the NRA route.

It has been said, none are so blind as those who can see, but won't—a case of the blind leading the blind, and both falling into the ditch. To save this situation they must by some means be made to see.

You and I, through an honest-to-goodness interest, can aid greatly. Let's have no hypocrisy in this "we do our part" and "you do your part" business. Let's have a stand up, glad and anxious to be counted on 100 per cent with the NRA—No Wrong Actio.

These times are real trials of the metal in our personal and community acts, and dear old battle-scarred Jackson county is still demonstrating to many eyes...

As in the march of all progress, so in dairying the pioneer methods and its opportunity have passed and gone. The frontier settled, conquered, and now yielding its golden harvest, thus adding its effects to the increasing surplus, which in turn prompts the activity of the chiseler.

He may think his intentions honest—perhaps using only his mental unit of one, because of not yet having familiarized himself sufficiently with tens, thousands or millions, to feel safe in their usage.

Chiseling leads to the open ditch of racketeering and disaster. Must it ever be thus, or have we as a community enough "high octane" in our mental gas tanks to see to it that we do our part in now helping the NRA push the old milk industry bus back up the hill.

It's our last chance, so let's not sit idly by and be put to sleep by some would-be wet nurse singing her lullaby awn song.

If we awake some morning and find this nurse's so-called "milk of human kindness" all spilled in the ditch, no gas in the capitated milk industry wagon, and Papa gone hunting, then don't blame some wide-awake chap, like Messrs. Swift and Company, Golden State, and possibly Henry Ford on the dairy hill, with a brand new outfit.

Dreams do sometimes come true, and Henry has long intimated he's been quietly riding a little nightmare that foals synthetic milk, or he might with Armour, Standard Oil & Co., frame a secret alliance in breeding a patented cow, trademarked to give both gas and milk—two tests of each. Oh, oh, NRA. Goodbye surplus milk, sixty percent of the block, beef eliminated, seventy percent of the veal never born, and would alfalfa go up? Git along little doggie, git along!

EAGLES MOVE TO AID CIVIC PLANS AND VET BODIES

Another large class was initiated last Friday night at the Eagles hall, in honor of their president, Jack Hueston.

Plans were made for an initiation to be held next Monday evening, at which time it is hoped that enough new members will be secured to gain an Eagle star for the Medford office. If the article is successful in securing the star, it will mean national advertising for the city of Medford.

A resolution was passed, endorsing the Community Chest, and the secretary was instructed to write a letter to the manager of the Community Chest, Frank Hull, pledging the support of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and asking how many men would be required to assist him in his drive.

Another resolution was passed pledging the support of the wives of the members, to assist the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the sale of poppies, to assist them in raising funds.

A resolution was also passed and a committee appointed to arrange for a parade to be held on Armistice day with the American Legion. It was predicted that there would be more than 200 Eagles in the parade.

Plans were completed for the initiation of another large class of new candidates which will be held in the Armory next Friday evening, at which time the state president, D. D. Hall, is to initiate and address the members of the Medford lodge.

Accordin gto Jack Hueston there will be more than 50 additional candidates initiated next Friday night. According to the organizers in charge of the drive in Medford, there will be no question but what the Medford series will be the largest in the state of Oregon outside Portland.

A report was given by Thomas L. Lockhart, one of the organizers at Grants Pass, assuring this lodge that there would be a lodge with more than 300 members in Grants Pass, and reported that it was the intention this class three weeks from last Thursday night, Mr. Lockhart invited all members of the Medford serie to attend this initiation.

TENGWALD TELLS OF REALTY DEALS

Increased activity in the real estate business has been reported for the past several weeks by Medford firms. And a list of sales and rentals, substantializing further the claims, was released yesterday by the Tengwald agency.

It includes: 40 acres in the Eagle Point district, leased for five years to Jim Lawrence; five acres in Perrydale, chicken ranch, leased to Guy A. Crosby; home at 19 Elm street, Medford, sold to Dr. R. C. Van Valzani; home at 1000 West Main street, leased to the University club; home at 700 Iowa street, Astoria, sold to Wayne W. Wells; 110 acres near Jacksonville, leased to R. B. Haddock; home at 603 North Bartlett, sold to Clyde E. Mercer; home at 41 Barnersburg road, Medford, sold to Mrs. W. T. Virgin; 21 acres on Spring street, leased to Frank T. Emerick.

Home, which was well maintained, are finding a ready market now, a number of people being in search of such properties, real estate men emphasized in urging the improvement of houses, yesterday.

A building permit has been granted for the remodeling of the Free Methodist church, located on the corner of Tenth and Ivy streets, and the crew of men, already at work, expects to have the improvements near completion by the middle of next month.

The old church building has furnished inadequate space for the needs of the church for many years and members and friends are now anticipating an attractive structure, which will add beauty to that section of the city as well as enable more people to come to church.

Services have been held in the church for nearly 30 years. One of the present members, J. T. Ends, helped build the first Free Methodist church here and is still active in offering his help in the erection of the improved structure.

Two well dressed young men, Philip M. Schuss, 22, arrested by Medford Chief of Police Clotous McCredie Friday afternoon, and F. D. Marble, 28, arrested Saturday by Ashland Chief of Police Charles P. Talent, are being held in the county jail here, facing charges of forgery.

Schuss was arrested after he had passed a worthless check at the East Side pharmacy for five dollars, officers stated. The check, signed "Gerard Peterson," carried the address of 220 South Riverside. Police said that Schuss had blank checks from Portland, Corvallis, Klamath Falls, and Medford, in his possession. His baggage, they said, which was on the stage, went on north.

Although Schuss had $4.98 in his pocket, according to police, he told them that the reason he had gotten the money, was so that he could buy some food.

Chief Talent said Saturday afternoon that Marble had confessed to writing a series of checks in Portland, Seattle and various points, including two in Medford, for $10 each.

R. A. Lane, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was arraigned in justice court Friday afternoon, and his preliminary hearing set for Monday morning at 10 o'clock, with bail at $500.

Lane was arrested by city police for allegedly presenting Mrs. Port Hubbard of 440 South Riverside avenue with a $10 bank draft drawn on the Farmers & Fruitgrowers bank. The draft was in payment for room rent, and Mrs. Hubbard told officers she gave Lane four dollars in change.

WELL DRESSED AND HELD FOR FORGERY

STATE CONTRACTS FOR PAINTING OF 10 HOUSES HERE

Bids on the work were opened Saturday and contracts let for the painting of 10 houses. Successful bidders were Fred H. Gardner, C. K. Williams and Roy Tremaine.

These first bids let, will be followed by a number of additional ones in Medford and Ashland, as the state has chosen this means of aiding the employment problem.

The state holds the title to 18 properties in Medford and seven in Ashland. These constitute the total number of repossessions in the more than 300 properties on which loans were made in Jackson county.

NURSE LYDA KING HAS VARIED EXPERIENCE IN NEW POST AT GALLUP

Residents of the valley, who remember Mrs. Lyda King, formerly county nurse here, will be interested in reading the following news item concerning her, published in the newspaper at Gallup, N. M., where she now makes her headquarters:

Horses as well as Indians are included in the list of patients which Mrs. Lyda King, field nurse for the southern Navajo jurisdiction, is called to treat in a day's work.

Returning home recently, the nurse found a bay horse badly gashed by barbed wire, waiting for her at the Kintzel trading post, brought there by Indians who had heard of the magic of the nurse's mysterious black bag.

It was necessary to blindfold the horse because it had never before seen a white woman, the nurse reported. While Indians watched in awe, Mrs. King sewed up the animal's wounds. Mrs. Dora Balcom, trader's wife, put the horse in a corral there so that the animal would be near enough to receive daily visits until the cut was healed.

Mrs. King, while here, was known as a lover of animals and was seldom seen without her large sheltie dog, "Jerry."

Ford Motor Company Dearborn, Mich. A Policeman and a Bishop Henry Ford Dearborn, Mich. On a downtown corner the traffic policeman stepped over to the curb where a Ford V-8 was standing. "That's the car that makes the boys down at the Police Garage get up early mornings," he said. "How is that?" "Well, you see we have two kinds of scout cars and flyers, and the boys hustle down early to get the Fords. If you're not there first you must take out the other make of car." "But why do they all want the Ford?" "Safer. Easier to handle. Takes the corners better. A car with Ford springs doesn't lean over or tip on a curve or a quick turn. A police flyer has to be a safe car." It was pleasant to find a layman placing his finger on this exclusive feature of the Ford car, namely, the Ford transverse springs. They are used in our car for the very purpose he described, to perform their triple function of providing comfort, stability and safety. The Bishop came down from the Northwest to Michigan and eventually arrived—as every Detroit visitor does—at Dearborn. "I thought we had pretty nearly all the Ford cars in the world up where I came from," said he, "but I can scarcely see anything else around Detroit." The Bishop is not the first to say that, and what he observed has a meaning. People in this Detroit area know cars in a different and more penetrating way than perhaps is possible elsewhere. This is the acknowledged automobile producing center of the world. Nearly ninety per cent of all cars produced in the United States are made within a radius of 100 miles around Detroit. Hundreds of thousands of workmen moving from shop to shop know the methods used on each make of car, and by word of mouth they spread complete first-hand information of manufacturing methods among the people. Suppliers also know which manufacturers insist on first quality of materials and workmanship. This information also leaks out. That is, the people hereabouts KNOW THEIR CARS. And they buy nearly twice as many Fords in Wayne County, the central area of automobile manufacture, as any other make. We are naturally a little proud of that fact. But, then, we are never doubtful of the result when the decision is in the hand of a buyer who knows. October 27, 1933 Henry Ford
