A Great Job—Well Done!

THE workers in the Community Chest campaign are to be congratulated... Thanks to their public-spirited efforts, and effective organization, there is no doubt that the drive will go over the top...

These workers and their leaders gave liberally of their time, their energy and as contributors their money—for WHAT! To make the lot of those less fortunate than themselves a little better...

These men and women solicited from house to house, gave talks before a score of different audiences, devoted the better part of a week to this great humanitarian service, and nothing else.

This successful result not only shows that Medford is heart in the right place, but that the true Medford spirit, in spite of the distressing experiences of the past few years, is as strong as it ever was.

NOT only will the money raised be a great help, at a critical time; but the drive has also revealed to the community as a whole, as nothing else could, the crying need for a community chest at this time.

The community chest was out to the bone, the total was the lowest ever set. Yet that total represented the largest contribution ever made.

Add to this small total, THE SPIRIT IN WHICH IT WAS GIVEN, and the 1933 community chest represents the finest response to a humanitarian appeal ever recorded in the history of Medford and Jackson county.

A Shocking Tragedy

THE plane tragedy near Portland, casts a pall of gloom over the entire city, ending as it did, the life of Dr. Robert Coffey, nationally known surgeon and well known in this city, who was flying south on an emergency call, from the bedside of Dr. L. A. Salade, who is critically ill at a local hospital.

Such tragedies are not uncommon in air travel, and yet this was the first of the kind that has happened on the northwest division of the United Air Lines, which has carried thousands of passengers safely since the P. A. T. started its present regular service.

There should be under the circumstances no doubt, general rejoicing that of the ten people on the ill fated plane, SIX were saved. Frequently in such a disaster the fatality list is 100 per cent.

All honor to them! And all honor to Floyd Hart, of this city, also a passenger on the plane, who suffering from shock and injuries, made his way through two miles of wilderness to report the accident and secure help.

Such catastrophes to the friends and families of the victims, are crushing, but through the tragedy, so often come flashes of self sacrifice and heroic devotion, which do in a sense, bring a solemn sense of exaltation, which makes the loss easier to bear.

Comment on the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS

THIRTY-EIGHT states, as these words are written, have voted on constitutional prohibition.

THIRTY-SIX have voted against it.

THUS, thirteen years after it was put in, prohibition GOES OUT of the constitution of the United States.

It goes out with few regrets. It has NOT been a success.

WILL control of the liquor traffic, in some form or other, which must now be undertaken, be a success?

The answer is that it WILL NOT. It never has been, and it never will be. We might as well make up our minds to that.

Liquor is just one of those evils that, like poverty, seem to be with us, in spite of all we can do.

SOCIETY, acting as a whole, has FAILED SIGNALLY, ever since the beginning, to solve the liquor problem.

The individual, acting for himself alone, can solve it in a perfectly satisfactory manner.

How? By BEING TEMPERATE.

REPEAL of prohibition, starting strong, ends rather weak.

North and South Carolina vote dry—the first states to do so. Utah, the 36th state, votes wet, but by a far less decisive majority than the wet states that have preceded it.

early returns indicate that the outcome will be close.

DOES this indicate that repeal sentiment is weakening toward the close? Probably not.

North and South Carolina were expected to go dry. They are in the South, and have a heavy negro population.

In Utah, prohibition was favored by the powerful Mormon church.

IN KENTUCKY, as these words are written, the result is not known. Early counting, as already stated, indicates that the voting will be close.

Why? This writer doesn't know, positively. But the hill moonshiner may have something to do with it.

It seems highly probable that sentiment for repeal of the prohibition amendment is just as strong now as at the beginning of the voting last spring.

IN NEW YORK CITY, Tammany goes down to overwhelming defeat, the Tammany candidate running badly third in a field of three.

The ins are still in disgrace, and Tammany was IN.

THE voters are still sore under the buffetings of depression, and are still looking for somebody's cat to kick. Tammany was a Lousy cat.

It's too much to hope that the people of New York have revolted against the corruption typified by Tammany and are turning to purer and better politics.

McKEE, backed by Postmaster General Farley, Roosevelt's political strategist, and supposed to have been at least privately favored by the President, goes down to defeat. At the same time, the Democrats lose control of the New York assembly, which is the word they use there for legislature.

WHEN MY GORGE RISES I BECOME CHOLERIC

The hallmark of a gentleman in Robert Louis Stevenson's era was the way he took a slap with a smile and a kick in the pants with gentle expostulation. His gorge rose only when another gentleman questioned the regularity of his origin.

Haven't time now to stop and tell you what peristalsis is. But when your peristalsis is right the world's a grand place to live. You can learn all about it by reading Prof. Walter Cannon's "Bodily Changes in Pain, Hunger, Fear and Rage". Cannon first noticed, when he was patching the digestive process with the X-Ray, that anger immediately stopped all movement in the stomach or intestine.

What I need is more bowling. If I were old enough I might make it golf. If I lived where there is no bowling on the green most of the year I'd go in for gardening, carpentry, wood working, hiking, archery, shooting, casting, curling, skating, skiing, or what have you. Anything at which one can play or work whenever he has the time and inclination.

Read particularly and thoughtfully what Prof. Cannon says in the end of his book about "Physical Substitutes for Warfare". Any kind of agreeable or wholesome physical ACTION is a fine substitute for one's own little warfare with the vexations and tribulations of life.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Lime Water Please tell me how to make lime water. Is it safe to use lime from the hardware store? (Mrs. D.)

Answer—Yes, ordinary lime from the hardware store or building supply store is the right kind. Put a piece of unslaked lime the size of a walnut in an earthen jar or crock with two quarts of water, stir up, and let settle. Pour off the upper clear fluid. That is lime water. A tablespoonful or two of lime water to the cup or pint of milk is the usual quantity.

Diaphragmatic Breathing We are using your little brochure on Breathing as a textbook in our vocal classes. We feel that you give the clearest and simplest instruction for diaphragmatic breathing. (S. B. L.)

Answer—No doubt you refer to bellows-belly-breathing. It is a good practice not only for singers and readers but for silent folk, especially those with high blood pressure, asthma, "nervous tension" and difficulty in getting to sleep nights. Send a dime and a stamped envelope bearing your correct address, and ask for "The Art of Easy Breathing."

Fatherhood Is there any way to prove the fatherhood of a child? (M. H.)

Answer—No. In some cases blood grouping tests prove that a given person is NOT the parent of a child.

Ed Note: Readers wishing to communicate with Dr. Brady should send letters direct to Dr. William Brady, M. D., 255 E. Camino, Beverly Hills, Calif.

DOES that mean that President Roosevelt's popularity is waning? Again the answer must be: "Probably not." LaGuardia, his successful Republican opponent, is a colorful figure, a fighter who loves a fight for its own sake, a sort of Huey Long of New York.

IN TIMES such as these, colorful figures are popular in the voting. The people want candidates who will DO SOMETHING—or at least PROMISE spectacularly to do something.

STILL, the fact remains that last spring ANYBODY favored by President Roosevelt for ANYTHING would have been elected.

The first flush of wild and spontaneous enthusiasm is beginning to die down, and the President's hardest days are ahead.

He probably knows that as well as anybody else.

REDUCE THE TAX BURDEN of the citizen with an average income. A working man's average annual expenditures for commodities in this state amount to $900. His average expenditure for shelter is $300. A two per cent sales tax on his $900 expenditures would amount to $18. The average tax credit or saving he would receive from shelter tax exemption would amount to $45. A saving of sixty per cent.

I believe voters who voted against the last sales tax measure, that would have increased their tax burden, will vote for a sales tax measure that will reduce their tax burden. J. C. BARNES, Medford, Nov. 10.

Communications Buy at Home To the Editor: A solicitor for a local job printing establishment, that employs the heads of several families, recently called on a local business firm and found a solicitor for an out-of-town firm that does not employ any men in this city, does not pay any taxes or contribute to community chest or help solicit for the chest, or do anything to help the city or community, with his samples spread over the summer and the business man giving him an order for printing, thereby reducing the payroll of the city in which he depends to sell his goods.

If the same business man, or any other one, would enter any of the job offices here and find an out-of-town solicitor selling hosiery, ties, shoes, shirts, clothing, auto or electric supplies or anything else, he would throw a good-sized fit.

The payroll of the job offices in this city is quite a large one and is only maintained as the job offices receive the work of local firms and professional men.

Remember, you can buy everything needed in the printing line, including sales books, sales registers, cash slips, calendars, blotters, personal stationery, etc., at home and buy them as cheap, and often cheaper than from traveling firms.

Mr. Merrell is Answered To the Editor: E. T. Merrell's opposition to the sales tax is based on the assumption that it would increase the tax burden of a citizen spending the greater part of his income for living expenses.

The sales tax measure we propose with a shelter tax exemption would relieve by Swedish Massage and corrective exercise. OSCAR S. NISSEN, P. T., 328 E. Main, Hrs. 2 to 5 p. m.

NEW TYPE ENGINE SEEN FOR RAILS

CHICAGO.—(UP)—The days of steam locomotive, with its belching smokestack and hissing cylinders, definitely are numbered, in the opinion of Fred Sargent, president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad.

Single unit gas and electric locomotives of various designs gradually will supplant the iron horse in both suburban and long haul service, Sargent believes. The single unit system is more practical, flexible and economical than either steam, or a comprehensive, centrifugal electrified system.

"Elaborate studies made by Westinghouse and General Electric show that it would cost at least $60,000,000 to electrify the three suburban branches of the Northwestern with a fixed power plant system," said Sargent.

"I predict that within eight or ten years, possibly sooner, the gas unit, or oil-electric engine will be so far developed that it will take the place of steam on American railways."

The present method of electrifying railroads with a stationary central plant and either third rail, or trolley power transmission, is not flexible enough to be practicable, Sargent contends. The single unit system, however, would permit flexibility of time and service which is necessary for efficient suburban transportation.

Analysis Made On Costs Of Logging

SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—Of particular interest to lumbermen of the Pacific Northwest is a bulletin "an analysis of logging costs and operating methods in the Douglas fir region."

It was prepared by Axel J. F. Brandstrom of the experimental station at Portland and covers results of a series of time and cost studies of methods of logging and types of lumbering machinery conventionally used in the region.

LONDON.—(UP)—"Yes, the man was drunk, your honor," said the police physician. "He swayed when I gave him the test."

"What is the test?" asked the judge. "You stand with your feet together and your eyes closed," said the physician, "like this—"

The doctor closed his eyes, swayed and nearly fell over.
