Weather Clear—Permanent Ranger Charles H. Simpson of Crater Lake National Park, who is a visitor in Medford this afternoon, reported the weather clear in the park today.

Owen in Portland—James Owen, who left for Portland Wednesday evening to attend to business matters, plans to remain in the northern city for the Oregon-Oregon State game tomorrow.

Canfield Here—Chief Ranger David H. Canfield of Crater Lake National Park, who is in charge of the park park office in Klamath Falls, is in Medford today, conferring with park officials at the Federal building.

Leave for North—Mrs. J. W. Gustafson and son Jimmy, also her niece, Miss Frances Barber of McAndrews road, left Friday morning for train for a week's visit in Portland and Longview, Wash., with friends and relatives.

To Meet at 10—Announcement was made this afternoon that all Knights of Pythias meet at the K. P. hall tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, in order that they might appear in uniform for the parade scheduled to start at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Emmens Home—Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Emmens returned Wednesday from a trip east, including stays in Philadelphia, New York and Chicago, which were shortened by news of the illness of their son Bob, who underwent a major operation in this city. Dr. Emmens resumed his practice at his office in the Medford building Thursday. His son's condition was reported as much improved today at the Sacred Heart hospital. Dr. and Mrs. Emmens were away from the city about a month.

Sharp is Visitor—Phil Sharp, formerly field superintendent for the United Airlines at the Medford municipal airport, was a visitor in Medford today before continuing to Portland this afternoon by plane to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sharp. He also plans to continue to Seattle to visit his brother, William Sharp, and his little dog "Sandy," who used to be a familiar character at the local airport. Mr. Sharp spent several days in Klamath Falls, duck hunting, with his cousin, Dr. Paul Sharp. Mr. Sharp is on his vacation from San Diego, where he is now stationed with the same company.

Eagles Attention.
All members of the Medford Aerle, F. O. E., as well as visiting brothers, are earnestly requested to meet at the local Aerle hall promptly at 10 a. m. Saturday, to participate in the Armistice day parade.

By Order of the President.

Two Fined—Orville and Harvey Rowden, brothers, who reside in the Applegate country, were each fined $25 and costs, and ordered to purchase hunting licenses, when they were taken into justice of the Peace W. R. Coleman's court this morning. The two were arrested in the Applegate section yesterday by a member of the game division of the state police, on charges of trapping without a hunting license.

Dies of Typhoid—Agnes Miller, 15, died at her home on the north bank of Evans creek near Rogue River City, late Wednesday night, according to word received Thursday from Hull and Hull Funeral Home. The girl had been ill for some weeks of typhoid, they said. They knew no other particulars, the Grants Pass Courier says.

Seek Mrs. Evans—Carl Y. Tengwald of the Tengwald Agency is seeking the whereabouts of Mrs. Maude Evans, who made her home in Medford about three years ago, he stated. At that time she was with the City Sanitary service. Anyone knowing Mrs. Evans' address is requested to get in touch with Mr. Tengwald at his office in the Hotel Holland building.

Robert to Game—Dave D. Roberts, ticket clerk at the Southern Pacific depot, was among local folk leaving by train this morning for Portland, to see the Oregon-Oregon State football game Saturday.

In Rialto Hit

George O'Brien is at the Rialto theater today and Saturday in Zane Grey's "The Last Trail." It has eliciting speed, breakneck action, tender romance and hilarious comedy. Its theme, dealing with the transfer of rocketeer activities from beer-running in the big city to cattle rustling on the plains, is something decidedly new in adventureous film fare. Claire Trevor is again O'Brien's leading lady and El Brendel, with the help of Matt McHugh and Lucille LaVerne, handles the comedy with highly capable hands.

Saturday night is again preview night at the Rialto theater, and "Laughter in Hell," starring Pat O'Brien and Gloria Stuart, has been chosen as the extra feature. It is a motion picture version of the story by Jim Tully, and points sharply at the chain gang system in a certain southern state. Those attending the 9 o'clock show are invited to remain as guests after the regular program, for the preview showing of "Laughter in Hell."

Preview Feature
On Rialto's Bill
For the regular Saturday night preview tomorrow night, the Craterian theater has chosen "The Man Who Dared," featuring Preston Foster, Zita Johann and Joan Marsh.

"The Man Who Dared" is an imaginative biography of the life of the late Anton Cermak, mayor of Chicago, who stepped in front of the assassin's bullet meant for President Roosevelt. The coming to America, the arrival

Famous Star

Beloved May Robson, who recently celebrated her fiftieth anniversary in show business, ascends the pinnacle of stardom in "Lady for a Day," coming to the Craterian theater Sunday. In the picture, Miss Robson plays the role of an old apple vendor who is made "lady for a day" in order to live up to the falsehoods she had told her daughter—a daughter who, educated abroad, had not seen her mother for years. A brilliant supporting cast includes Warren William, Glenda Farrell, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks and many others.

In Chicago simultaneously with the great fire, precede first glimpses of the boy. Then we are shown the miner getting into politics, an assemblyman fighting the miners' battles in the legislature. Then follows his marriage, his election as the mayor of Chicago, his fight to wipe out gangsterism, the shooting at Miami, where he goes to meet the new President; his dying words, "I'm glad it was I, not you."

Contest Tryouts Now At Craterian

Opportunity contest tryouts, now being held at the Craterian theater, bid fair to uncover some exceptional talent locally. Last night's audience was given a chance to see the first five contestants, and the response was stimulating.

Tonight at 9 o'clock the following contestants will be on the stage: Claude VanZandt, Jewel Deter, Joyce Wilson and Thelma Hulbert, Helen Jones and trio, Akiko Saito, Ruth Harwood, Joan Buekter and Barbara Bevan.

Tomorrow night those on the stage will be: The Idaho Cowboys, Kathleen Bratton, Janice MacDonald and Ruth Siorah, Joan Mole and Merland Tollefson.

"The Golden Harvest," with Richard Arlen, Chester Morris and Genevieve Tobin featured, is the feature picture.

GEORGE O'BRIEN IN ROXY WESTERN

"Life in the Raw," a Zane Grey story, will open at the Roxy theater tomorrow. It depicts the arrival of an inexperienced eastern girl into the midst of frontier hazards and intrigues. The film has a number of hair-raising features, not the least of which are the riding and the fighting of O'Brien himself.

REPEAL RESULT OF POLITICS—VOLSTEAD

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Andrew J. Volstead broke his silence respecting prohibition repeal today and in a public letter to newspapers said the "wets" had won through politics, through the lavish use of money, the rankest kind of propaganda and brazen nullification of the constitution.
