

BANKS COST BILL ARGUMENTS SET NOV. 25, EUGENE

Arguments on the bill of exceptions and cost bill in the case of L. A. Banks will be held before Circuit Judge George F. Skisworth at Eugene, Saturday, November 25. The cost bill totals $7344.99. One of the largest items is for defense witnesses, the greater portion of whom were not called to the stand, but remained in Eugene at county expense, until the verdict was reached. Cost bills will be argued in this county, for the ballot burglary trials, probably early in December. They are:

Gordon L. Schermerhorn — $1,925.06
Earl H. Fehl — 5,094.50
J. Arthur LaDieu — 780.09
Walter J. Jones — 1,659.00

Objections have been filed by attorneys at all the cost bills. High expense in the Banks and Fehl cases was due to changes of venue to Klamath and Lane counties. The cost bills are returnable as a lien and docketed as a judgment, under Oregon law.

It is possible that preliminary arguments in the appeal of Gordon L. Schermerhorn, former sheriff, under sentence of three years for ballot theft conviction and at liberty on $7500 bond, will be held early next month. Schermerhorn has been granted until December 3 to perfect his appeal and file a bill of exceptions. It is the second extension granted him. All others actively involved in the Banks-Fehl turmoil are now either behind prison walls, or on parole. Friends of the former sheriff are said to be planning a plea for a pardon. They point to Schermerhorn's 40-year record as an exemplary citizen, whose rugged honesty was never questioned. They claim he was a "dupe" of Banks and Fehl, and took their advice, to his sorrow, instead of the counsel of life-long friends. Banks' last legal efforts to escape the penalty of his crime are financed by George Moran of Cleveland, Ohio, a brother-in-law.

MITCHELL REMEMBERS DAYS IN CANADA WHEN 'DIXIE DARLING' HEARD

When the Lumber Jacks played "Dixie Darling" yesterday noon at the luncheon arranged to honor Hugh B. Rankin, retiring supervisor of the Rogue River national forest, they aroused for one member of the audience a lot of pleasant memories. G. E. Mitchell, supervisor of the Siskiyou national forest, present from Grants Pass, was carried back on the strains of the tune to the "celebration of the Queen's birthday."

May 24, 1909, in a little town just over the border in British Columbia, Mr. Mitchell played the same tune with the small town band. It was new then, in fact quite the newest thing out, and so the band played it on the Queen's birthday. Mr. Mitchell was living in Orville, Wash., but folk from miles around hitched up the old gray mare and went to the celebration. It lasted far into the morning. In fact, all celebrations did in the early 1900's. Mr. Mitchell recalled yesterday. There was no use in hitching up the horses if you weren't going to make a night of it. Dancing lasted until daylight and daylight was a long time coming in the winter in Canada.

The people didn't get tired, though. They didn't disperse in other ways then, so a lot of energy was stored up for celebration. And it was all danced up when "Home Sweet Home" was played.

NORRIS REACHES EAST WITH PEAR SHIPMENT IN TRANSPORT STUDIES

Robert K. Norris, of the Pinnacle Packing company force, arrived in New York City yesterday, aboard the ship that carried 80,000 boxes of Rogue River valley pears to the east coast. The ship sailed from Portland three weeks ago, via the Panama canal.

Norris, on the trip, made a study of ship refrigeration and temperature and other tests, to determine the feasibility of water shipment of pears. He will also make a survey of the condition of the pears after their ocean voyage, and compile his findings in a report. Pear shipments by rail out of this valley continue, at the rate of as high as 20 cars a day. They are consigned to various cities of the union. Apple shipments are also underway by rail, more than 50 carloads, mostly new towns, being shipped to date.

Truck transportation of apples from this section continue, to California points, chiefly San Francisco, Bakersfield and the Los Angeles areas. Purchases are made from orchardists direct, at from 70c to 80c per box, loose pack, unwrapped and no box cover. This price is said to net the grower a small margin.
