

Grid Giants of Old "Puny" Compared to Current Crop

By PARKER H. DAVIS
Noted Football Statistician
(Written for the Associated Press.)

NEW YORK—(AP)—There is a belief current that the football players of by-gone days were taller, heavier and more rugged than the exemplars of the present time. Apparently distance lends enhancement, as well as enchantment to the view.

An assembly of the personal statistics of the players of the United States reveals that this belief is not founded upon fact. Indeed, the contrary is true. The players of the present are taller, heavier and probably equally as rugged as the men of the past. This characteristic of men to associate greater height and size with the representatives of the past has always prevailed.

Forty and more years ago we pointed to Walter Hefelfinger of Yale, six feet, two and one-half inches and weighing 210 pounds, as our representative giant, and down the years Walter has come as the classic giant of the sport.

This year there are more than 60 players taller and heavier than Walter Hefelfinger. Any discussion of the giants playing football this fall would have to begin a full half-inch above the mark where Walter Hefelfinger left off.

In short, Hefelfinger, mathematically today, would not even be the starting minimum, for there are more than 100 players fully as tall and heavy as he was.

Six-Three Just a Start. There are 35 players on our records standing six feet, three inches, and probably half as many more not discovered. Among these are several of national pre-eminence in their play: Charles B. Bernard, center of Michigan; Frank J. Butler, center of Michigan State; Barton Cummings, tackle of Illinois; John M. Hutchinson, son, tackle of the Army; Edward Krause, tackle of Notre Dame; Bernard Masterson, halfback of Nebraska; Walter Mueller, end of California at Los Angeles, and Peter Zamboni, tackle of New York University. All of these men have been accorded honorable mention in All-American discussions.

Fourteen men have been found who measure six feet, four inches. Notable among these are Mat Brannyo, tackle of St. Mary's, and Peter Kopsack, end of the Army.

In the bracket marked six feet and five inches we find nine players. Standing forth among them for fame and skill are "Ted" Rosequist, tackle of Ohio State, and Jack Torrance, tackle of Louisiana, weighing 275 pounds and the largest man in all football.

Still They Come.

Now we move up another inch to the line labeled six feet and six inches. Here we find two players and, curiously, upon the same team, New York University. These two men are Jim Ruddy and Stephen Shields, both tackles.

The cry is "atill they come." And still we climb, on up to six feet, seven inches. Here we find the tallest player in all football, Edward Menhower, tackle of the University of North Dakota. He weighs 245 pounds, and is every inch a football man, fast, lithe and athletic.

For those who long to be in the society of giants, I suggest they visit our football fields any Saturday.

SOLO VACANCIES WILL BE PROBLEM FOR LEGISLATURE

The special session of the legislature scheduled to meet next Monday, after the opening speeches, and the hearing of the Governor's message, will start providing ways and means for providing Jackson county with two solos. This will be done by joint resolutions, to be introduced. The present plan is to have the appointments made the first order of business and for the appointees to get to Salem and the legislative halls as soon as possible thereafter.

There are five vacancies in the legislature due to death, appointment to other positions, and in one instance an unfortunate circumstance. In Clackamas county one of the solos is under a legal cloud. He wants to serve anyway, on the grounds the "judgment has not been docketed."

The joint resolution affecting Jackson county will provide that the governor make the appointments; the other resolution will provide that the county court do the job in counties that desire them made that way. The Jackson county court feels that the chief executive should make the selections, so that the political pot may not boil over, by any chance.

Whoever makes the appointments, and whoever are the appointees, nobody is enough of an optimist to imagine they will please everybody. Attorney Porter J. Neff, prominently mentioned as a Democratic choice, has announced his inability to accept, due to several cases coming up in the federal court, while the legislature is in session.

T. E. Daniels has been urged for one of the posts, by both sides of the political fence. So far Mr. Daniels will not hear to it.

In lieu of Daniels, one wing of the local Democracy offers Attorney Frank DeSouza. Attorney E. E. Kelly is also mentioned as an heir to the seat his son left to hold a federal post in Washington, D. C. J. P. Wortman, farmer-banker, of Phoenix, is also mentioned.

Some Republican leaders argue that because a Democrat was elected to the legislature, is no sign a Democrat has to be appointed to the vacancy.

The Republicans have not concentrated on anybody, and the party chiefs manifest no interest in the selection, save that he be steadfast in the Republican faith.

ASHLAND BREW CLOSET ROBBED

Apparently gathering a bit of home brew for homecoming festivities which open at the Southern Oregon Normal school tonight, Ashland city police were today seeking the culprits who were transporting two cases of home brew (alcoholic contents unknown) Wednesday night.

Shortly after the beer had been taken to the police station, an Ashland man called and said his garage had been broken into, with six cases of home brew stolen.

While riding about Ashland in the patrol car, city police saw three young men transporting the beer

'HAD CONSTIPATION SINCE BIRTH OF MY FIRST CHILD'

Then Mrs. King Discovered ALL-BRAN

We quote from her voluntary letter:

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child—9 years ago! I have tried everything and nothing has any lasting results. Very reluctantly I tried your 'ALL-BRAN' with no faith in it at all. Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN, 4 months ago."—Mrs. Doris Eyre King, 16 Abbey Road Oxford, England.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GEN. WESTOVER OF AIR CORPS HERE

General Oscar Westover, assistant chief of the United States air corps, Washington, D. C., and Major Asa N. Duncan, also of the chief of air corps' office in Washington, were visitors in Medford overnight, leaving this morning in their plane for Portland. They arrived at the local airport Thursday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock, from Crisey field.

A. H. Banwell, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, saw General Westover walking down the street, and recognized him as a previous visitor to Medford with an army air fleet. With Mr. Banwell, General Westover and Major Duncan visited the CGO district headquarters here.

CHISHOLM FUNERAL SATURDAY AT 2 P. M.

Funeral services for Samuel Chisholm, 68, of Gold Hill, who died of injuries sustained when struck by an auto several weeks ago, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Conger chapel.

Services will be conducted by Rev. W. R. Baird of the First Christian church and interment will be in the Gold Hill cemetery.

Hey—STOP!
we've dropped our new box of Honey Maid Grahams

Honey Maid Grahams are recommended for children

School days are keen-appetite days for active little bodies. And nothing "hits the spot" like good-tasting Honey Maid Grahams. They help provide energy for romping youngsters, elements and vitamins for bone and tissue building. They are crisp and crunchy, sweetened just enough with honey. You always get Honey Maids fresh because they are baked in our Pacific Coast bakeries, then wax-wrapped to seal in the freshness. Save money—get the larger green packages—the thrifty size.
