

ASHLAND 'LAYING' FOR MEDFORD IN SATURDAY CLASH

Game Which Means Unclouded Title for Tigers, if They Win, No Set-Up for Locals, Is Prediction

(By Harold Groves)

Down on the sand-covered gridiron of Ashland the Grizzlies are grieving over their defeat Saturday at the hands of the Klamath Falls Pelicans, while in this fair city, where the pears grow big and football heroes are made, the Medford high school grid squad sits back eating a nice big meal and thinking over the civil war in which they will participate next Saturday at Ashland.

The Tigers threw away the pearls last night and started their practicing maneuvers. Ashland settled down to strict practice and are picking their armaments for the crucial battle.

Tigers Take No Chance. Medford is putting everything it has in this week's practice, because the state championship isn't far from their grasp.

In the game with Grand Pass, Medford lightened its hold on the state championship with a 40 to 0 triumph over the Cavemen.

Medford, if not selected for the annual battle Thanksgiving day in Portland, "if they defeat Ashland, has three alternatives to turn to in case Bend or Salem is selected to play there November 30.

First, if Bend should get the call and win from the Portland school, and if they proclaimed themselves state champions, Salem could step in and say they have just as much right to the state championship as Bend has.

Second, Medford could step in and say that they are undefeated and untied and thus automatically claim the state championship.

Third, Medford could challenge either Bend or Salem, whichever didn't get a crack at the Portland intercollegiate champs, to play for the state championship, and by winning the game would be undisputed champs. However, before any of this comes to pass, the decision of the Principals' association must be made. Forget Statistics.

The high school authorities are not forgetting the fact that Ashland hasn't been put out of the way. All football statistics can be forgotten when Medford and Ashland meet, because they are rated on a par when it comes to a football game or any other athletic event for that matter.

Ever since football teams in the two schools were created, these two teams have put on an exhibition that is worth four-bits of anyone's money.

Ashland has a man in the line that outweighs any Medford player. He is a 247-pound "Primo Carnera" who plays guard.

By no means has Medford got the same in the bag. You can bet your socks that the Grizzlies will show the Tigers what a football game is like, this coming Saturday.

REFEREE LOSES PANTS IN RING

SALFORD, Ore., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Bulldog Jackson, Klamath Falls middleweight grapple, took two out of three falls from Logger Heibert of St. Helena here last night. Jackson also took Referee Harry Elliott's pants.

The main attraction of the evening was in the dressing rooms when Elliott retaliated.

Robin Reed, Beadport writer, took two out of three falls from Dorry Decon of Salt Lake City.

Don Sugar of Salem took the deciding fall from Jack Stewart, Seattle, Wash., middleweight.

METER MEASURE HELD FOR SPORTS

PITTSBURG, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The meter as the unit of measurements for running events in track and field championships is firmly entrenched in the United States with the unanimous approval of the annual convention of the Amateur Athletic union.

It remains to be accepted by the colleges—but it is the sentiment of the coaches attending the A. U. convention are any indication such acceptance will be forthcoming.

Not a college coach spoke against the meter, either in the meeting of track and field committee or on the floor of the convention and three of them, Henry Schulte of Nebraska, George Branshan of Iowa, and John Magee of Bowdoin, were among its strongest supporters.

SANDPAPER AND TACKS IN WRESTLER'S TRUNKS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Al G. Feehey, Indiana's three-in-one fine marsh, state police chief and athletic commissioner, pondered today on the problem of which of his powers he should invoke in dealing with the case of Chief Chew-chin, heavy-weight wrestler.

The chief believed as being from Armore, Okla., set the fans afire, disturbed their peace of mind, and committed a breach of athletic etiquette when he came into the ring last night for the third and deciding fall of a wrestling match with two pieces of sandpaper stuffed with carpet tacks tucked down in his trunks.

The chief's opponent was "Irish" Pat O'Shocker of Salt Lake City, recent favorite of the Detroit Society.

Grand Dames, who not long ago were reported to have been delighted with his drawing room demonstrations of the grappling art.

The chief had taken the first fall but had lost the second last night. He started out earnestly to win the deciding fall and flopped the curly-haired O'Shocker, who, however, wriggled from beneath the ponderous redskin and darted for the ropes rubbing his bare legs and gesticulating toward the Indian's tights.

Referee Haze Clark backed the chief into a corner and, while the fans howled, pulled off the chief's trunks, leaving him with not much more covering than a fan danner. From the light Clark extracted the tacks and sandpaper and awarded the third fall to O'Shocker.

BEND'S CHALLENGE TO SALEM SILLY DECLARES COACH

BEND, Ore., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A challenge was on its way to the Salem high school football team today for a game with Bend next Saturday, the coach to withdraw his bid as a candidate for the Shiloh hospital benefit game at Portland Thanksgiving day.

Bend proposed that the Salem-Bend game be played at Eugene, a properly neutral field.

The circumstance that Salem already has a game scheduled with Corvallis for Saturday may prove an obstacle, however, although Bend backers of the challenge game have proposed that the Salem-Corvallis match be postponed one week.

School officials here said yesterday they were assured by Washington high school of Portland that if that team wins the city championship, it will be glad to meet the survivor of the Bend-Salem game.

SALEM, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Coach Hollis Huntington of Salem high said Bend high school's proposal for an elimination football game Saturday to determine the Thanksgiving day participant at Portland, is "silly."

"There is no chance to have the Corvallis high school game postponed," Huntington said. "The State High School Athletic association would not permit us to play Corvallis after Thanksgiving day and Corvallis thinks it will win from Salem."

Salem would be very glad to play Bend Saturday if it were not for the Corvallis game, Huntington said. "I believe we would beat Bend," the usually modest Huntington stated. "It was our first game of the season when Bend, then in mid-season form, managed a last minute tie."

Huntington said Salem would doubtless attract a larger following to Portland for the game than would Bend.

LEGISLATORS OK APPOINTMENT OF JACKSON CO. MEN

ing at the opening of the legislative session for the day.

They fill the vacancies caused by the appointment of Earl B. Day as county judge and the resignation of Edward C. Kelly to accept a federal berth at Washington, D. C.

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Confirmation of Governor Jullia L. Meier's appointments to fill the four vacancies in the Oregon house and senate was speedy and without any protesting voices in both chambers as the two legislative groups convened today. It was expected that the new members would be sworn in this afternoon or Thursday morning.

Those named were Arthur P. Ireland of Forest Grove to succeed Senator Edwin Allen, and Senator Lynn E. Jones to succeed himself. In the house the new members are Glenn O. Taylor of Medford to succeed Earl B. Day and Alvah E. Brockway of Medford to succeed E. C. Kelly.

Liquor Law Hearing Set
First public action on the Knox liquor control bill will be taken late today when a hearing was called by the alcoholic control committee to listen to suggestions and changes proposed by members of the house. Outside views will be heard by the committee tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

In line with the liquor bill Representative Abrams today introduced the unemployment relief bill calling for an appropriation of $3,000,000 from revenue from liquor sales to be used for state relief. If more funds were necessary for relief the board of control would be authorized to issue certificates of indebtedness against this revenue.

Follows Meier Idea
The bill is in line with the recommendations of the governor in his message, and carries the emergency clause. It has already been approved by the steering committee and should be up for action within the next few days. Another new measure introduced providing for postage fees on smelt was also approved. Ten bills were introduced in the house and three in the senate.

same company did the work last year and the recommendation was approved by the council. The finance committee also recommended passage of an ordinance authorizing the city treasurer of Medford to accept certain bonds in payment of all or any part of special assessments, liens, interest or penalty, payable to said city.

Val Fischer of the Richfield Oil company presented a petition, asking permission to erect a storage tank at the corner of North Riverside and Walnut streets, and the petition was granted.

Get Beer Permit.
Application for dispensing of beer, filed by G. E. Ferguson of the Colonial club, was granted. Report of the Medford Boxing commission, submitted by Attorney J. F. Fiegel, secretary, was read and showed the sum of $2474 in cash on hand.

A communication from the League for Preservation of Municipal Credit was read by Mayor Wilson, opposing the law, now being sponsored to permit cities to go into bankruptcy. The letter set forth that such a law would cause a depreciation of city bonds. The matter was taken under advisement.
