BEND PLAYS HERE THANKSGIVING

By PAUL MALLON
Copyright, 1933, by Paul Mallon

Preparations
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The Republicans have hardly been able to speak above a whisper since the last election, but they are going to set up a national megaphone here about January 1.

About that time a stronger national headquarters staff will be whipped up. The work of chairman Venable of the congressional committee also will be amplified. Scouts are now out trying to stir up some money.

That much has been decided in recent conferences at committee headquarters. How far the reorganization will go will be determined by the assembling congressmen.

Agitation to decapitate Chairman Sanders has been dormant for some months. The congressmen will determine among themselves whether the reorganization should include him.

Publicity
The headquarters has been run on a dime basis.

Those three recent statements criticizing administration policy were devised not by a publicity man, but by J. Bennett Gordon, research director. There is no publicity man.

Gordon sent out 2000 copies of the first one in confidence. He did not expect it to be printed, but his optimism was not warranted. No one can send out 2000 copies of anything in Washington and expect to keep it quiet.

The reaction was so good that current releases are being spread around for publication.

Bungling
The official handling of the government bond market was completely bungled on the inside during the change in treasury leadership.

Mr. Roosevelt had fixed things up with Treasury Secretary Woodin to issue a statement expressing confidence in government bonds before he went off sick. Prices went up for several days, so Woodin failed to make the statement.

Later, when lack of confidence was expressed by Professor Sprague and others, Woodin had to make the statement from New York. It lost its full force then.

Subotage
Similarly, newcomer Morgenthau tried to hasten into print with his confidence, but along came the announcement that the federal reserve was curtailing its usual weekly purchases. That, hurt Morgenthau's effort.

The truth seems to be that government officials are not worried about anything being fundamentally wrong with the government market. They are worried about the creation of a bad national psychology.

They cannot prove it, but they really believe there has been some subotage of the government market by some persons interested in embarrassing the gold price policy. Their suspicions are directed against certain New York interests, and not, of course, against Prof. Sprague.

Douglas
The administration tacticians have been confident Budget Director Douglas (the last of the conservatives) will NOT follow the exit of Dean Acheson and Prof. Sprague.

They have heard he recently submitted his resignation to the president and Mr. Roosevelt declined to accept it. They do not guarantee that information, but they do say Douglas will remain at least until he finishes his budget.

His position is different from the others. He is doing the specific budget job, which has nothing to do with money politics.

Smoking
Those boiler promises of early silver action are being made by the silverites with a purpose.

The administration has been trying with that subject of escape for many months. It is no part of the Warren scheme. It does not fit into the gold price or commodity dollar picture.

Nevertheless, Mr. Roosevelt is supposed to have told Prof. Warren recently to work something out on the subject in accordance with the demands of silver producing states. The idea is that they have as much right to expect relief as the corn or cotton areas.

But publication of the plan has been delayed so long that the silver boys are getting impatient.

These public predictions of early action may amuse the administration.

Very little authentic information has been available on the subject. A lot of bad information has been widely circulated.

The best information indicated the administration would come out at

STATE TITLE AT STAKE IN GAME ON LOCAL FIELD

Eastern Oregon Squad Argues When Salem Picked For Shrine Tilt — Visitors Big And Fast.

Negotiations were completed last night for the Bend high school football team to play the Medford high school on Van Scoyoc field, Thanksgiving day, for the mythical state high school championship.

Time of the game will be decided upon later by Coach Darwin K. Burgher of the local school and the Bend coach. One o'clock is favored to give fans time to keep dinner engagements after the contest.

The Bend team will arrive Wednesday afternoon by auto bus.

Following the announcement yesterday afternoon late that Salem high school, tied once, and Washington high school of Portland, tied three times, had been picked for the Shrine benefit game at Portland the same day, Principal C. G. Smith of the senior high school telephoned the Bend principal and terms were agreed upon. Medford had previously invited Bend to play here if they were not chosen for Portland. The same invitation was extended to Salem.

Medford is the only undefeated, untied, high school football team in the state, and has the strongest claim for state honors.

Bend has swept through all opposition in eastern Oregon and played a tie game with Salem early in the season.

The selection of Salem was regarded as a foregone conclusion by southern Oregon fans, owing to their closeness to Portland. Medford would be too expensive to transport.

The winner of the game here will lay claim to the state title.

Medford has the most impressive record of any high school in the state, but was overshadowed by the start of accepting the Portland game if invited. Medford has appeared three times in Portland, winning two state titles by unmercifully trouncing the Rose City champions. Both Bend and Salem made active bids for the game.

Bend is regarded as the superior of Salem.

Final plans for the game, now assured, will be made today and tomorrow.

The Bend team has appeared once in this city and was defeated, 19 to 6, by the Burghermesters, in the 1930 Armistice day game.

Both teams played Klamath Falls this season. Bend won, 30 to 0; Medford, 7 to 0. Bend played on a dry field; Medford in the rain and mud at Klamath Falls.

Valley people who have seen the Bend team in action say they are a fast team, with two giant tackles, and a backfield star by the name of Strom.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Salem high school was chosen by the Portland high school principals' association and Shrine officials today to meet Washington high school, champion of the Portland interscholastic league, in a Thanksgiving day football game for the benefit of the Shrine hospital.

The Salem Senators, under the direction of Coach Hollis Huntington, defeated Corvallis high, 13 to 0, today, to finish their regular season undefeated. They were tied by Bend high, 13 to 13, in their opening game.

The game here Thanksgiving day will mark the first appearance of Salem against a Portland prep team in the annual post-season contest.

The last out-of-town team to win the turkey day game here was the Medford high aggregation coached by Pink Callison, now University of Oregon coach, in 1928. The Peapack-ers that year defeated Benson Tech 39 to 0.

Washington high was undefeated in the Portland league this season, but was tied three times.

BOMBS BURST IN PENN MINE AREA

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Bombs burst again today in the anthracite mining strike area, but the typical miner was looking to the investigation of a federal fact-finding body to produce a speedy settlement of the controversy.

Nine persons were thrown from their beds, but escaped unhurt in the explosion of a bomb in North Scranton. Less than seven hours before another dwelling in west Scranton had been dynamited, injuring two persons and bringing narrow escapes to several others.

VALLEY TURKEYS SENT SOUTH IN 8 EXPRESS CARS

160,000 Pounds Of Fowls Rushed To Frisco For Holiday Trade — Neat Money Return.

Eight refrigerated express cars, containing 160,000 pounds of Rogue river valley turkeys, left last night, over the Southern Pacific railroad, for San Francisco. The fowls will be placed on sale for the Thanksgiving market.

It was the first time in the history of this season that a turkey special has been run. It was also one of the largest turkey shipments from this valley.

The shipment was made by a group of San Francisco turkey buyers and local shippers.

It is estimated that the shipment will bring to the valley turkey raisers, at prevailing market prices, between $32,000 and $35,000.

Each car contains 20,000 pounds of turkeys, and the total number of birds is about 15,000. All have been dressed ready for the block.

R. W. Martindale, traffic agent, and R. W. Haynes, traveling commercial agent of the Railway Express Agency, have been here all week making arrangements and attending to details of the special service, with A. S. Rosenbaum, district traffic agent of the Southern Pacific.

The turkey special left this city last night at eleven o'clock and will run on passenger train schedule, reaching San Francisco tomorrow morning. They will reach the markets Monday and Tuesday, in ample time for Thanksgiving buying.

MOTHER AND SON HELD FOR MURDER IN DEATH PUZZLE

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Earle Wynkoop and his mother were prisoners tonight accused of an alleged murder still steeped in mystery despite the statement of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynkoop that the victim was shot by her after accidental death from chloroform.

All the best minds of the police, the state's attorney and the coroner's office were concentrating upon a solution of the enigmatic death of Rheta, Earle's 23-year old wife.

Young Wynkoop was formally charged with murder late today, and held without bond. The state's hand had been forced by the order of Judge Joseph Sabath that he be booked or released by 3 p. m., to satisfy an application for a habeas corpus writ in Earle's behalf. Chas. S. Dougherty, ace of the county prosecuting staff, acknowledged after a morning with the youth that he had no new evidence against him.

Dr. Alice, blowing a kiss to her son across the courtroom, was led away to her county jail cell still standing by the confession her son had called "a pack of lies to save me."

That confession was no confession of murder or of homicide, but a statement that her son's wife died of an overdose of chloroform given to ease pain, and that she shot, afterwards, to cover the professional mistake. She said she allowed the young woman to hold the chloroform and inhale it.

Chief point at issue was the exact cause of death.

Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, coroner's chemist, reported that analysis of the girl's body disclosed sufficient chloroform had been administered to cause death before the bullet was fired. A deputy coroner said Dr. Muehlberger made an oral report, however, that blood in the stomach and blood filling the left lung evidently came from the bullet wound, indicative that she was still alive when shot.

The coroner's jury, charging Dr. Alice with murder, had accepted the finding of Dr. Thomas H. Dwyer that: "In my opinion the cause of death was a gunshot wound, hemorrhage and shock."

REVOLT PLOT IN SPAIN QUELLED

MADRID, Spain, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Sunday discovery of a nation-wide syndicalist revolutionary plot, scheduled to begin Monday, was announced early today by the government.

The announcement said the revolution was to have lasted through Sunday's elections, scheduled in many districts where last week's national balloting failed to produce the required 40 per cent plurality for a political party.

The government announced it had arrested five persons, including two women, in Huesca, where the plot was formulated. It said police had seized more than 50 bombs, numerous rifles and pistols and a large quantity of ammunition.

Allot December Cut

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Lumber production allotments in the western pine area, and allotment credits for the month of December, were assigned today by the Western Pine association to 339 operators in the division, under provisions of the NRA lumber code.

PORTLAND EXPORT PRICE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 25.—(AP)—A question of 73 cents a bushel was posted by the North Pacific Emergency Export corporation today for soft white wheat to move to foreign markets.

WARN GULLIBLE OF P. W. A. 'SLICKERS'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A warning to "the gullible" against payment of fees to those claiming influence in pushing public works fund applications was issued tonight by the public works administration.

It said those who paid "lawyers, agents, lobbyists and others" to advance projects were "not only throwing away their money, but are placing the project itself under suspicion."

The statement added that capital hotel lobbies are swarming with those "who claim they can obtain favorable consideration for projects."

At the same time, the administration announced applications now pending before the public works board, if approved, would aggregate an expenditure of $3,160,553,717, or more than seven times the $450,000,000 still unallocated from the $3,600,000,000 provided by congress.

MONETARY SCENE UNCHANGED, DENY BUREAUS SPLIT

President Confers With Treasury Head — Critics Urged To Present Constructive Plans Or Be Silent.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON. — Senator Borah challenges administration critics to offer a constructive monetary program. Governor Black denies a rift between the federal reserve board and the treasury. With the dollar strengthening abroad, the administration holds the price of domestic gold unchanged at $33.76 an ounce.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga.—Henry Morgenthau, Jr., acting secretary of the treasury, and John J. Raskob, 1928 campaign manager for Alfred E. Smith, visited President Roosevelt. Nature of their discussion undisclosed.

NEW YORK.—Dollar holds steady in foreign exchange markets, closing with approximate value of 63.43 cents, compared with 63.32 cents Friday. French franc declines slightly. Pound sterling advances.

WASHINGTON.—United States exports for October reached highest level in two years, amounting to $194,000,000 or $34,000,000 more than in September.

CLEVELAND.—Chairman Henry B. Steagall of the house banking and currency committee, commenting on Alfred E. Smith's denunciation of national monetary program, says this is a time for "constructive criticism and support, rather than fault-finding."

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—William E. Sweet, former governor of Colorado, today charged that Alfred E. Smith's attack upon the monetary policy of President Roosevelt was motivated by the former New York governor's association with Wall Street.

In a statement issued here, Sweet, a member of the national speaker's bureau of NRA, said Smith had always drawn campaign support from Wall street, and that Wall street always knew where to find him. He also predicted Smith would be Wall street's candidate in the next presidential election.

SERVANT GIRL IN FIRM SPY PLOT

HELSINGFOR, Finland, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A 20-year-old girl, who was employed as a servant by a high military official, was arrested in northwest Finland today in what authorities called their second big roundup of spy suspects.

Officials said this development had no connection with the arrest recently of ten persons including Arvid Jacobson, a former Michigan school teacher, in connection with alleged espionage activities.

POSTAL CHIEFTAIN ALSO TAKES REST

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley sailed for Europe for a month's vacation today convinced "that time will prove the President is right" and that his record "excellent in every respect."

Farley, accompanied by his wife, sailed on the liner Conte Di Savoi, carrying Maxim Litvinoff, soviet commissar of foreign affairs, to conferences in Rome with Premier Mussolini.

Wool Active

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 25.—(AP)—(U. S. Dept. Ag.)—The wool market was again active this week and prices on the principal lines of domestic wools were very firm to higher than the previous week. Demand was strong on 60s, 60s, 1/2 blood and finer quality wools and lower grades. The call was rather scattered but prices tended higher.

Honduras Flood Toll

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Several persons were reported drowned in dispatches today from Trujillo which said the Sico river had flooded banana plantations causing heavy property losses.

SANTOS, Brazil, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull, enroute to Montevideo for the Pan-American conference, arrived by motorcar today in time to see a snake fight.

FROM BREADLINE TO EASY STREET FOR PORTLANDER

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Out in the line of the unemployed and away from the need of county relief, W. E. White stepped joyously today to a life of comparative wealth, stepped with magic suddenness thru the climax of a modern fairy story that will tell in its happy ending of how his mother was saved from want to spend her declining years in ease.

White, an unemployed shoe salesman living in Portland, related own story, today.

An uncle, who was a miner had spent his years searching for the substance of Midas, swinging a pick and tending sluice boxes, died in Berkeley, Calif. in 1928. Only $374 was found among his personal effects at the time of his death, and this money was used to pay his funeral expenses.

A few days ago a San Francisco bank found that the rent on the late uncle's safety deposit box had not been paid for five years. The family was notified and the box was opened.

There, carefully wrapped in newspaper printed in 1912, lay $13,786 in raw gold bullion. Attorneys advised White that because of its purity and the fact it had never been minted, the gold is now worth $20,000. And the $20,000 belongs to White, his uncle's heir.

White's reaction was quite too modern for a conventional fairy-story. He said: "Anyway, they can't arrest me for hoarding gold—I didn't even know it was there."

The mother?

"So many things have happened to us," she observed, "that I just couldn't get excited about this. I've prayed and prayed for something to help us and my son hasn't worked for a year now, he even got a severe case of neuralgia yesterday standing in line at the federal employment office for six hours."

THOMAS HITS AT M'KEE STATEMENT

SALEM, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Capitalization of the Electric Bond & Share group in Oregon is 27.8 per cent "water," State Utilities Commissioner Thomas declared today in answering criticism of Governor Julius L. Meier's utility references in his message to the special session of the legislature.

Thomas termed "astounding and amazing" statements by Paul B. McKee, president of the Electric Bond and Share group in Oregon, that "utility companies have not been allowed to make excessive profits or more than a fair return upon the fair value of their property."

COOS BAY MOTHER, CHILDREN, SOUGHT

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Nov. 25.—(AP)—A search for Mrs. Theodore Hansen and her three children, thought to be returning to North Bend by automobile after having taken Captain Theodore Hansen to San Francisco for a position aboard the steamer Solano, was undertaken by state police of southern Oregon and northern California today.

Captain Hansen died from a heart attack within two hours after leaving his post aboard ship. The body was taken to an Oakland, Calif., mortuary, and all efforts to locate the family had failed today.

COFFMAN TO HEAD NEW FOREST BODY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—To assist interior department officials in protecting the forests of national parks, John D. Coffman, of the emergency conservation program, today took charge of a newly organized branch of forestry in the office of national parks, buildings and reservations.

Coffman, for the past five years with the national park service, with headquarters in Berkeley, Calif., came to Washington last spring to aid in the emergency conservation program.

The Weather

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—(AP)—The forecast for the coming week for far western states is for generally fair weather probably followed by rains near week-end, moderate temperature.

OREGON FACULTY ASK INQUIRY ON KERR'S ATTITUDE

Chancellors, As Well As Dean Morse, May Be Involved In Education Board Campus Quiz.

EUGENE, Nov. 15.—(AP)—At a meeting which packed the Guild theatre on the University campus here, the faculty of the University of Oregon Saturday afternoon adopted a statement to the state board of higher education on the recent controversy affecting the chancellorship of William Jasper Kerr.

Members of the faculty declined to discuss their action in any way or to make any comment for the press. They said their communication had gone direct to the chancellor himself and to all members of the state board and it would be up to the board to make publication, if any.

It was reported unofficially that the faculty action asks that the state board expand its proposed investigation of the conduct of Wayne L. Morse, dean of the university law school, to include Chancellor Kerr and all persons involved in the situation.

The faculty request that the inquiry be extended to include the chancellor and all involved in the controversy is held to indicate that in spirit at least the faculty is united in support of Morse, although determined that procedure shall be through channels and above question as to "propriety."

At Albany, Saturday night, Willard Marks, acting chairman of the board, said he had not yet named the committee of three to conduct the Morse inquiry. Informed that the faculty might request that the scope of the inquiry be broadened he said he felt sure the board would be anxious to set up proper procedure which would insure a hearing of all faculty grievances.

The board may not have another meeting till December but Marks indicated this might not be essential.

"It is my understanding," said he, "that the Morse inquiry could go into the whole situation, if need be. It is disconcerting to the Kerr regime to say to go farther than 'personalities.' Since the budgeting last spring, there have been complaints that the chancellor has been arbitrary in his dealings with faculty members, that he has quietly ignored or altered specific board policies, and that the limited funds of higher education are being wasted and educational progress thwarted by unobtrusive but high-handed administrative procedure."

Faculty people claim they have been charged unfairly with obstructing the unified plan and that it is the chancellor himself rather than the faculty who has altered it at many points.

Saturday afternoon's action was believed to have had the unanimous support of nearly 150 persons who

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 24.—The Cubans sent a big delegation to Montevideo, South America, to attend a peace conference. That leaves 'em kinder short-handed in their war at home till these get back.

There certainly is not much incentive for anything to be done right nowadays. A U. S. stamp printer made a mistake on one little batch of 20 4-cent airmail stamps (had it turned crosswise) and they brought $12,000. If he had had it plumb upside down it would have brought a hundred thousand.

We get another illustration of an "expert." This fellow Sprague that left the treasury in such a huff has been all this time finding out Mr. Roosevelt had already inflated.
