"Strange Justice" Opens At Studio

The trial is over and the verdict is "guilty" . . . the sentence is death in the electric chair.
There is a short walk over the "bridge of sighs" . . . the great iron doors swing shut . . . and another man awaits his doom in the hot heat of Sing Sing.
A daily occurrence . . . there are a few paragraphs in the paper. But the story behind that tragedy is brought to the screen, in "Strange Justice," now at the Studio theater.
Norman Foster portrays the role of the doomed man, Marian Marsh is his sweetheart, Reginald Denny, the man whose conniving placed the boy in jeopardy; and Richard Bennett, the lawyer, who aids in saving his life.
Many people have asked Manager L. L. Lewis to give the Silly Symphony colored cartoon, "The Three Little Pigs," a longer run, so he is holding it over for two more days. This cartoon, which will be on the program with "Strange Justice," has aroused as much enthusiasm over the country as any feature picture ever did, according to Mr. Lewis.

"ZOO IN BUDAPEST" IS UNUSUAL FILM

Gene Raymond and Loretta Young are starred in "Zoo in Budapest," which opened at the Roxy theater today.
One of the year's most unusual pictures, "Zoo in Budapest," is filled with natural drama and climaxed by an episode equaling in terror the most dangerous ever filmed.

HEALTH FILM IS ROTARY FEATURE

Members of the Medford Rotary club were entertained today by Dr. B. L. Lagson and Dr. Ralph Dippel who presented an interesting moving picture film "Health and Happiness." This instructive moving picture was secured through the courtesy of Dr. David B. Hill of Salem, Oregon and was released with the enthusiastic endorsement of the Salem chamber of commerce and health organizations of Marion county.

"Strange Justice" Opens At Studio

The picture, which was shown by Horace Bromley, deals with the living habits and fundamentals of health for young people and forcibly and comprehensively shows the simple rules for building strong, healthy bodies.
A number of well known citizens of this city, interested in health activities, attended today's Rotary meeting and viewed the interesting film. Arrangements are being made to show "Health and Happiness" before other gatherings before the film is returned to Dr. Hill.
President C. J. Semor selected J. W. Kendrick to preside at next week's meeting of the club and Program Chairman Hamilton Patton will have another good program arranged when his new committee is appointed.

FIRST SNOWFALL SEEN IN VALLEY

Between 12 and 16 inches of snow fell during the night at Crater Lake national park, according to reports received at the park offices in the federal building this morning. Little snow had fallen before nightfall, the report stated.
Snow fell in the surrounding hills and mountains during the night, and W. J. Hutchison, meteorologist at the local weather bureau said today that a slight flurry of snow was recorded at the airport at 4:30 a. m. today.
A light flurry was evident in Medford this morning about eight o'clock, and reports were brought from Jacksonville of the ground being white there.
