

Local and Personal

From Medford—Mrs. C. D. Woods of Medford was in Grants Pass Tuesday.—Grants Pass Courier.

Johnson Brought Here—Officer L. G. Johnson of the state police force has been brought to Medford from Tillamook and is on duty here today.

From Sams Valley — Mrs. Anna Chausse and son Norman of Sams Valley were in this city Monday on business.—Grants Pass Courier.

Gets Traffic Fine—Eather J. Kinz, arrested by city police for having four people in the driver's seat of her car, while driving about the city, was fined $5 by Judge A. D. Curry this morning.

Men Go to Work—Ted Seamon, engineer of the Talent Irrigation district, and Mrs. Seamon were in Medford and is stationed at Union Creek, are putting 30 OWA men to work in the district this week.

Thanksgiving Service—First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Medford, will hold its regular Thanksgiving service Tuesday morning, November 30, at 11 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Gets Permit—A building permit was issued by the city building department Tuesday to Mrs. Ray Toft of 245 North Grape street, for extending a washed. The cost was estimated at $75.

Visit in Ashland—Mr. and Mrs. John Sargent and daughter Margaret of Medford visited in Ashland with friends Sunday. Mr. Sargent is federal engineer for the Crater Lake district and is stationed at Union Creek.—Ashland Tidings.

At Medford Luncheon—Miss Lucy Case and her house guest, Miss Catherine Coates of Albany, and Miss Maxine Wieland were in Medford Tuesday, where they had luncheon with Miss Florence Severance.—Grants Pass Courier.

Apollo Recital Friday — Sebastian Apollo, well known local instructor of piano, will present a number of his pupils in recital this coming Friday evening, assisted by Miss Grace Burnett, talented local artist. The public is invited to the recital, which will be held at the Baldwin recital hall on South Grape street, beginning at 8 o'clock. The pupils to be presented range in ages from six to 16.

To Prevent Tuberculosis—As Medford and valley people turn to lend their support once more to the sale of the little Christmas tuberculosis seal, several important facts are brought to light. "So long as tuberculosis is in the community no one can be secure from its threat," one writer declares, and the statement is verified with the following report: "Last year one Oregonian died each day from tuberculosis."

Phoenix Play Tonight—A one-act play, "Stephen Becomes a Pilgrim," will be presented tonight at the Phoenix Presbyterian church, in observance of Thanksgiving. Martin DeVries is directing the play and the cast includes a number of young people and adults. A short worship period will precede the play and will include a talk by Dr. J. B. Webster and a group of songs, led by Leo Taylor and the young people's class.

Men's Night at Church—Rev. C. W. Cutler, D. D., and Mrs. Cutler of Kansas City are still here conducting the revival services at the Baptist church. Tonight will be "men's night." The men of the church will act as ushers, furnish the singing, and welcome the guests. The men's quartet will sing "Just Outside the Door." Dr. Cutler will speak to the mixed audience of men, women and children, invited to be present. Thursday at 11 o'clock, Dr. Cutler will give the Thanksgiving sermon at the Zion Lutheran church and Thursday evening services at the Baptist church. New members will be received by letter and by baptism. Sunday morning Dr. Cutler will preach on "Healing." Last Tuesday night was ladies' night and the ladies' quartet furnished the music.

"Stage Mothers" at Rialto

Undergo Operations—Mrs. Margaret Dorman of Holly street underwent a major operation at the Community hospital today. L. M. Atherton also entered the hospital as a surgical case.

Character Actor Appears In Holly Mae West Picture

Gregory Ratoff, character actor of stage and screen, plays the role of Benny Pinkowitz, Mae West's attorney, in her new Paramount picture, "I'm No Angel," now playing at the Holly.

A well known actor of the New York stage, Ratoff has contributed outstanding characterizations recently in "Symphony of Six Million," "What Price Hollywood," "Secrets of the French Police," "Once in a Lifetime" and "Sweepings." He is the husband of Eugenie Lionovitch, star of the stage hit, "Grang Hotel."

C. A. ANDERSON DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

C. A. ("Gus") Anderson, 57, an employe of Von der Hellen & Pierson, died Monday morning following a short illness. He is survived by one known relative, a sister in Chicago.

A vivid presentation of the heart-breaking ambition that causes "stage mothers" to drive their children to success in the theater has Alice Brady cast in the title role of "Stage Mothers," opening a three-day engagement at the Rialto theater today. Maureen O'Sullivan is seen as the talented daughter about whom the action centers.

Mr. Anderson was a member of the Stockton, Cal., Moose lodge. Funeral services will be held at the Perl Funeral Home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be in the Medford I. O. O. F. cemetery.
