TORRENTIAL RAINS HEAVY WINDS HIT NORTHWEST AREA

SEATTLE, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Two storm deaths were marked up today as rains of high winds and snow still held sway over the Pacific northwest in the winter's first severe storm.

Struck down by an automobile in a driving rain and strong wind last night at Burlington, Elmer L. Wilson, 72, president of the First National bank there, was killed. The driver of the car was exonerated by a coroner's jury.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The stock market melted in moderately irregular areas today as the trading enthusiasm of yesterday cooled considerably. Firmness of the rails and some specialties was an argument against any extensive liquidation or short selling, however, and most of the leaders held around their previous levels. Mixed prices ruled at the close. Transfers approximated 1,350,000 shares.

At Craterian

"DUCK SOUP"

The Marx Brothers, peerless comedians of the screen, are starring at the Craterian this week in their latest riot, "Duck Soup," in which Groucho appears as Rufus T. Butterfly, dictator of Freedonia. Southern Oregon people who witnessed the opening of this rollicking laugh hit last night have voted it the best of the Marx creations.
