Hot Charges Hurling During Debate On NRA Measure in House — Apologies Made and Record Erased

SALERIE, Dec. 8.—(P)—A battle of personalities developed in the Oregon house of representatives late yesterday during debate on an NRA measure, when a charge was hurled that two members made statements "they knew were untrue."

Voluntary apology was made later and the proceedings struck from house records.

Representative Paget sprang to his feet demanding personal privilege when he and Representative Hall were charged by Representative Dickson with making statements "which were untrue and which they knew were untrue."

Paget Asks Proof.

Representative Paget moved that Dickson "be made to prove the charges or apologize."

Other members were drawn into the debate, while some wished the entire matter dropped. Representative Hannab Martin took occasion to remark that Paget had uttered "half truths." Her remarks were ignored and she later apologized privately.

Dickson attempted to point out the allegedly "untrue" remarks, declaring Representative Hall, formerly attorney in charge of NRA violations and complaints in Multnomah county, knew this exceptions were made to NRA codes on occasions and that Paget, an attorney, also knew the same.

Says NRA Bogged Down.

"You can't get blanket exceptions," Hall declared. He said the NRA has "bogged down" and incidentally opposed passage of the measure before the house, which would place Oregon as a state behind the National Recovery Act for prosecution of local infractions. "The things I said are true and I know they are true," declared Hall.

"It costs the state of Oregon $7 a minute for us to have these little quarrels," said Representative Hilton. He declared the charges and pointed rejoinders were made in the heat of debate. Hilton's motion to lay the matter on the table was carried.

Bill Voted Down.

The bill was then voted down, Dickson changing his vote on its failure, to prepare later to move for reconsideration.

About 20 minutes later Dickson raised to a point of personal privilege and apologized to Hall and Paget for making the remarks. The assembly applauded when Hall and Paget accepted graciously.

Later Paget's motion to have the entire affair struck from the record was unanimously adopted.

CCC INSPECTION PLEASURES CHIEF

Hugh H. Rankin, personal representative of Robert Fehner, national director of the Civilian Conservation Corps, stopped in Medford a short time last evening, having inspected Camp Evans creek, Fort Crocker, Cape Sebastian, Pistol River and Kerby, in this district. He was accompanied on the trip by Captain Charles H. Barnwell, Jr., district commander.

Mr. Rankin stated that he was greatly pleased with the camps in this district, and that they were all in splendid condition. He also expressed appreciation of the co-operation given the CCC movement by the citizens of this district, and commented on the timber assets of this section, which the people seem interested in preserving.

Leaving Medford on the Shasta, Mr. Rankin is today visiting the CCC camps in the Redding, Calif., district.

ELKS' BALL WILL AID YULE FUNDS

J. P. Fliegel, exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, announced today that the Elks will sponsor another one of their popular dancing parties, this time a Christmas benefit, on Saturday, December 16.

Proceeds realized from the affair will be converted into the Christmas tree charity fund, all of which will be spent in bringing happiness on Christmas day into the homes of needy families of Jackson county.

Mr. Fliegel, in announcing the dance today, urged all Elks to remember the date and take advantage of this pleasant means of contributing aid to the needy on Christmas. An invitation is extended to all Elks and their friends. Committees for the affair will be announced later.

GREAT BRITAIN TO GO NRA IS CLAIM

LONDON, Thursday, Dec. 7.—(UP) The Daily Herald said today that in emulation of the United States NRA code, it is likely that legislation will be introduced in the house of commons early next year to compel reorganization of every big British industry. It would apply especially to the cotton, coal, iron, steel, engineering, ship building, building, farming and food industries.

The Herald said that it would be proposed that each basic trade be required by law to promote quickly schemes for: 1—Amalgamation of individual firms into large units. 2—The closing of inefficient, redundant firms, with compensation from the industry affected. 3—Organization of large scale buying of raw materials. 4—Central administration for selling finished products.

SEVEN CREMATED IN BURNING HOME

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Seven persons were burned to death shortly after 1:30 a. m. today when fire destroyed the home in which they were sleeping.

The dead are: Mrs. Genevieve Hibben, 31, and her four children; Genevieve S. Catherine S. Jerome S. and Ernest S. and Mrs. Erlene Orr, 19, and her daughter, Constance, 18 months.

The fire, which apparently started from an overheated stove, completely wrecked the interior of the house and was not discovered by neighbors until it had made considerable headway.

MAJ. ARMSTRONG NOT TO RETURN AS CCC LEADER

Major Clara H. Armstrong, who has been in command of the Civilian Conservation Corps headquarters in Medford since the camps were established in this section, will not return to Medford from San Francisco to continue in that position, it was revealed in a telephone message to district headquarters yesterday.

Major Armstrong will be required to remain in Letterman's hospital for the next three months, he stated, and for this reason it will be impossible for him to continue duties here. Captain Charles H. Barnwell, Jr., who has been acting commander during the major's absence, will continue in that capacity.

In his telephone message, Major Armstrong requested headquarters to express his appreciation to this community for the reception of the Civilian Conservation Corps men and officers, and for the assistance given by various organizations.

Mrs. Armstrong will return here from San Francisco tomorrow to complete arrangements for the family to move to the bay city.
