HUSKIES LOSE TO WARBURTON 13-7 PENALTY HELPFUL

Trojans Win For Three-Ply Tie For Coast Title—Washington Gets Early Lead But Colton Too Much.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Southern California came from behind today to defeat Washington 13 to 7 and go into a tie with Stanford and Oregon for the football championship of the Pacific coast conference.

The final game of the season left the leaders deadlocked each with four victories and one defeat. Some 33,000 spectators saw the season's end.

The Trojans won the game in the second period when the elusive Cotton Warburton scored two touchdowns, cashing in on mistakes of the Huskies.

The Huskies had stepped out in front on a touchdown in the second period, a pass play from Walter Hansen to Bill Smith netting 59 yards.

Warburton was the difference between the winning and losing team. The boys from Seattle could get the rest of Southern California backs off their feet but not the scooter.

The mighty mite was practically unstopable while he was in the game. His activities were confined to approximately half the closing contest.

Bill Smith was the Washington star, making two sensational catches of passes, and playing a bang up defensive game as well.

Southern California had a wide margin in rushing plays and finished with 15 first downs to five for Washington. The winners gained exactly 200 yards, while the Huskies were restricted to 80.

Each team tried 11 forward passes, the Trojans daintily tossing the ball in the game's latter stages, changing an interception and possible touchdown.

Southern California completed five passes for 106 yards, and Washington made three good for 105 yards.

Coch Jimmy Phelan evidently thought his first stringers could not stand the heat, so he turned over the starting chores to the reserves.

The unused heroes held Southern California far down on the five yard line soon after the game started and a few minutes later intercepted a Trojan pass inside the 15 yard line.

Mighty Boot Art Ahonen helped the cause of the Huskies no little with an amazing kick netting his side 73 yards, this goal being the Trojans almost talking to themselves.

CALIFORNIA PAPER RATES 'PRINK' ONE OF COACH STARS

The San Francisco Bulletin lauds Prink Callison, University of Oregon football coach, as follows: "But as great as 'Tiny's' success has been, Prink Callison's has been just about as great and even more dramatic."

"Prink thought he could handle the job, and so did some of his friends. Finally, after a long wait, he was selected for a 'courtesy' year or two until finances improved so they could get a really high-powered coach. Prink got along fine last year, and this year's record speaks for itself.

"Yes, Oregon has good material, but that material knows what this football game is all about. They have a stubborn and intelligent defense and a brilliant, powerful and deceptive offense."

"So Oregon ought to join Stanford and California in stinging 'We've got 'em, doggone 'em; let's keep 'em.'"

ST. MARY'S DOWNS METHODISTS 18-6 IN TORRID CLASH

KEZAR STADIUM, San Francisco, Dec. 9.—(AP)—In the wildest, wooliest pigskin scramble witnessed here this season, St. Mary's giant Gaels overpowered Southern Methodist's Mustangs 18-6 today in an intercollegiate gridiron skirmish that completed the 1933 schedule for the two teams.

Fifteen thousand fans sat through a thrill-filled contest that was climaxed by a second period scoring flurry in which three touchdowns were chalked up during the brief space of five minutes.

After a scoreless opening quarter, in which the boys from Texas held the upper hand by virtue of superior punting, the Gaels went into the lead on the first play of the second period.

George Canrinius, left end, carried the ball over on an end-around play after a run of thirty yards. The Mustangs came right back with the most spectacular play of the game that saw J. R. Smith, left halfback, race 65 yards to St. Mary's three yard line and then crash to the ground on the next try.

Spectators had hardly settled back in their seats when St. Mary's went into the lead again after receiving the kickoff. Nichelini, right half and individual backfield star on his side, scooped up the ball after a teammate had fumbled, and returned 44 yards to Southern Methodist's 43.

Two plays later Erdelatz, right end, caught a pass from Schreiber, sub left half, and ran eleven yards to score. The pass sailed thirty yards.

The Gaels scored again in the third period when Nichelini intercepted Turner's pass and ran 33 yards to cross the Mustang's goal line.

The place kickers had a bad day of it, four attempted conversions failing. The Mustangs blocked two of the Gaels tries while their own effort was poorly directed.

It is the plan of the Snowmen to spend all day today at the location to clear it up and make it available so that a program of winter sports may be carried out immediately sufficient snow is available. There are two or three fairly steep pitches at the places selected, and members believe that a fine ski jump can be built.

FABRICK CHOSEN HEAD OF WINTER SPORTS SOCIETY

With over 30 winter sport enthusiasts present, including many ladies, a meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce Friday night, at which time a winter sports club was organized, and officers elected, according to Glen Fabrick, chairman of the meeting.

The purpose of the organization is to encourage skiing, tobogganning, ice skating, and all forms of winter sports in this section. Those attending the meeting were asked to submit names for the organization and after considerable discussion two or three ballots were taken and the name was definitely determined as the Rogue Snowmen.

The club will embrace the whole of Jackson county. Officers elected at the meeting were: president, Glen Fabrick, Medford; vice president, O. M. Franklin, Ashland; secretary-treasurer, Harold Larsen, Medford; directors, Roland Hubbard, J. C. Boyte and D. D. Kay, all of Medford.

Committees appointed at previous meetings to investigate possible sites for conducting winter sports under the auspices of the club reported the result of their investigations and the site selected was at a point north and west of Russell's camp on the Siskiyou mountains. The property is owned by E. T. Merrill, who has kindly consented to permit it being used by the Rogue Snowmen.

According to the committees who looked over the site it is an ideal spot and provides a good course with lots of variation, and meets all the requirements necessary for both advanced and amateur skiers. It was also reported at the meeting that the location has splendid possibilities for cross-country races and other winter sports, as it is well sheltered from the wind and will not be affected by the sun.

By-laws were adopted at the meeting, patterned after those of the Bend Sky-Liners with the necessary changes made to conform with this locality.

Active membership in the Rogue Snowmen has been definitely set at $1 per year and anyone interested is asked to get in touch with the officers of the association or the members of the membership committee, composed of Joe Marshall, Roland Hubbard, Mrs. J. C. Boyte, O. M. Franklin, and Carl Ramstrom.

Practically everyone attending the meeting Friday took out an active membership and it is believed by Mr. Fabrick, within the next week or so, that at least 150 members will be obtained, as the many winter sport enthusiasts in this territory have been waiting for such an organization to be formed.

Similar clubs in other localities have proved of immense benefit by attracting winter travel with its resultant publicity, and Chamber of Commerce officials announced this morning that such an organization had been set up in Medford.

OWEN ANNOUNCES WRESTLING CARD

Promoter Herb Owen announced Saturday a sterling card for presentation at the Medford armory next Friday when Jack Dempsey, former world champion heavyweight boxer will officiate as referee. The headline match will bring together two of the roughest and toughest men in the northwest—Logger Helbert and Thor Jensen.

Both men have proved sure-fire fan pleasers in their appearances in Portland and other cities of the Northwest and should provide southern Oregon mat followers with plenty of thrills. In the semi-final Robin Reed, one of the greatest wrestlers of his weight, will face Kiem Kueak, Tacoma flash who has a great following in the Puget Sound district.

For the curtain raiser Owen has signed Mickey McGuire, titan-half-wild Salem Irishman and Roy Roy Jackson, Mich. Scotchman, a pair of colorful and fast matmen. With Dempsey in the role of referee it is expected that one of the greatest crowds ever to enter the armory will be on hand Friday night to witness the return of muscle managers here after an absence of several weeks.

Popular prizes will prevail although the bringing of the former champion and star wrestling card has obligated Owen for heavy expense. At the age of 89, N. B. Shaffer of Nevada, Mo., bought a hunting license so he could "get myself a mess of ducks."
