

FIRESTONE, HERE ON VISIT, BRINGS OPTIMISTIC WORD

The directors of the Medford chamber of commerce and a hastily assembled group of Medford business men gathered at the Medford Hotel at luncheon today to welcome Leonard K. Firestone, son of Harvey Firestone, nationally known tire manufacturer.

Unanimously and altogether charming, Leonard Firestone made a decidedly favorable impression on business and professional men of this city who had assembled to honor him.

Especially interested were his listeners in the optimistic message the youthful tire executive brought to this city and his words bear considerable weight as they reflect the opinions of his famous father.

Leonard Firestone may be considered an authority on business conditions himself as he is prominently identified with the sales organization of the great Firestone company and is sales manager of the western division with headquarters in Los Angeles.

"Reports from every section of the United States and sales of our products in practically every city of the country indicate a definite upturn in business," Leonard Firestone told the chamber of commerce members.

"In my opinion, the government must put teeth in the enforcement of codes in fairness to business organizations living up to the spirit and letter of present agreements. There is certainly no place for chislers in the nation-wide recovery program."

Mr. Firestone praised the administration's recovery efforts and, while not subscribing to all phases of the program, confidently predicted continued economic improvement. "The plan of a fairer distribution of labor, with less hours and more men at work, is right," the speaker said.

"I am more interested in just what will happen during our next depression," Leonard Firestone said. "That is why I am intensely interested in efforts now being made to eliminate many of the causes of our present economic condition."

A tribute to the Medford chamber of commerce was paid by the youthful tire executive, who has been constantly in touch with the local organization and is familiar with the enthusiasm and work of that civic organization.

Before introducing Leonard Firestone, George Henselman, who acted as chairman of the extemporaneous meeting introduced A. J. Stephens, manager of the Portland district who accompanied Mr. Firestone to this city.

Following the meeting, Leonard Firestone was asked his opinion of the GWA activities and its effect upon general business conditions by a Mail Tribune representative. This much discussed phase of the national recovery program was also praised by Firestone who said:

"The CWA program is vastly better than a dole. Constructive work is being accomplished throughout the country and men and women of all classes who are actually in want have been given an opportunity to work and earn. This should favorably affect business, although we have not noted the results yet to an appreciable extent, due to the fact that it is just underway. This plan should aid much in the hastening of better business conditions in all sections of the country."

When Mr. Firestone leaves this city for his home in Los Angeles, he will take with him boxes of famous Rogue River valley peaches, provided by fruit growers of this community.

TRANSIENT CENTER WILL OPEN HERE; DURHAM AT HEAD

The center, Medford has taken no initiative in the matter and is spending no money in the establishment of the center, Mayor Wilson added.

Through his interview with Mr. Reynolds yesterday, he stated that he understood that the department's idea is to get away from "real relief" work, by keeping the men at home and at work. They will be cared for at the transient center but for a short period of time. There will be a camp for work located between this city and Klamath Falls.

Deny Sending Transients. No statement was made here today regarding the claims of Ashland that relief funds have been withdrawn from that city's Helping Hand Mission, through establishment of the transient center here, but the claims that transients had been sent from the county relief committee headquarters to Ashland was emphatically denied by Alfred V. Carpenter, chairman of the committee. The statement appearing in the Wednesday Ashland Tidings claimed that a man named E. W. Anderson arrived in Ashland with the story that he had been sent there by the Medford office.

Further protest to the change of location of the center was expressed in the editorial columns of the Ashland newspaper. It was understood here when the state director made the change in location, that support would be withdrawn from the Helping Hand Mission in Ashland. The change was one, city officials here emphasized again this afternoon, one which they had no influence.

'Rats' Says Owner When Wine Cache Found Dried Up

MODESTO, Calif., Dec. 14.—(UP)—Frank Vaccaro said "rats" gloomily today.

He whistled when he went to his attic, for when Modesto went dry in 1917 he had stored there a large stock of wines of 1910 vintage.

Repeat sent him to the attic again after nearly 14 years. Long rows of empty bottles were all that he found. Rats had nibbled away.

Park authorities announced that more persons visited Mt. Lassen in California this year than in any preceding single year.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take.

Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities and one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles.

Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu.

Your own doctor is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion.—(Adv.)

FRUIT GROWERS HEAR GOOD NEWS IN ANNUAL MEET

Bureau Work Reviewed. Rosenberg said one problem was to present the Boac pear to the consumer in an improved edibility. He reviewed the work of the pear bureau for the year, and said that the main effort had been to reach fundamental facts, to aid in the marketing and sale of pears.

William Horley, secretary of the Northwest Fruit Industries, said that, under the marketing agreement of the AAA governing pear prices, etc., "we can say we are beginning to see our way out of the darkness."

Horley declared the minimum price fixing clauses had been beneficial. "There has been plenty of 'chiseling,' but while they were laying awake nights to keep them from it," he declared, "the pear marketing agreement is the only one that is working, and it will be perfected as the powers of the control board under the blanket license become operative."

Shortage of the crop and the foreign exchange rates were also listed by Horley as aids to northwest growers the past season.

Paul Scherer, scheduled to read a paper on the Northwest Fruit Industries, Inc., work, was ill and unable to attend. His paper was read by Horley.

Pear Pack Increased. J. W. Mayo, general manager of the North Pacific Cannery & Packers, said, despite the depression, there had been an increase in packed pears since 1929; that the per capita consumption of canned pears over the world showed a gain; that they were growing as a European food, and that the British trade treaty would "no doubt contain clauses covering canned pears."

Mayo also said that "Oregon pears and prunes were now placed on a par with California peaches and apricots in eastern chain store advertisements."

A. S. Peters of Hood River explained the growth of water shipments in this district and that it was hoped the Bonnevill dam locks would be made large enough to permit water shipments direct.

Both Mayo and Peters were Wednesday afternoon speakers. L. G. Coe, entomologist of the Southern Oregon experiment station, was scheduled to speak on "Insect Control in the Rogue River Valley" this afternoon. E. J. Newcomer of Yakima and R. H. Robinson, chemist at the Southern Oregon station, were also on the short afternoon program.
