'HEIL HITLER!' SHOUT GERMAN-AMERICANS

Twenty thousand German-Americans made Madison Square Garden, New York, echo with Nazi cheers as the long-delayed German day celebration of the Steuben society of America was held. At left Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador to United States, is shown giving the Nazi salute before starting his address. At right the crowd is shown saluting as it shouted "Heil Hitler." Fifteen persons were removed from the hall when they attempted to start a demonstration. (Associated Press Photos)

ALICE WILL GIVE GROCERY GIFTS

"The time has come," the Walrus said, "to speak of many things," But Alice in Wonderland didn't want to listen. She went to the grocer's, where there are so many nice things to choose from, and here she is on her way to the Duchess with a Christmas gift basket of groceries. (It's really nineteen year old Charlotte Henry, who will play the title-role of "Alice" in Paramount's version of the phantasy. She was chosen from over seven thousand candidates because of her close resemblance to Tenniel's drawings for Lewis Carroll's famous story). "Everyone is giving grocery gifts this year," says Alice. And she is right because thousands of smart gift shoppers will remember friends and relatives with a basket of extra nice groceries that the whole family will enjoy. And thousands more will make it a real Merry Christmas for needy families with a generous basket of food.
