

HUBBELL RANKED STAR PERFORMER SPORTS SEASON

A. P. Poll of Sports Editors And Writers Shows Giants Lean Hurler Outstanding Individual During 1933.

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor.) NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP)—In a year marked by some of the most amazing achievements of this turbulent athletic age, a national jury of expert opinion today ranks Carl Hubbell, lean Oklahoma southpaw, ace of the world champion New York Giants, as the outstanding individual performer of 1933.

The pitching hero of the world series, already designated as the National League's most valuable player, leads the year's stars in all other sports, amateur or professional, in the third annual national-wide poll of sports editors and writers, conducted by the Associated Press.

Second in line to baseball, Hubbell is the second baseball star to gain this crowning honor within three years. John Leonard (Pepper), Martin of the St. Louis Cardinals, hero of the 1931 world series, ran away with the first Associated Press poll. Last year first place went to Gene Sarason, world champion golfer, who received only one vote in the 1933 contest.

As the ballots poured in from all parts of the country, Hubbell steadily piled up a wide and convincing margin over all rivals. With the field wide open to the star performer of every athletic land, the pitcher more than doubled the vote of his nearest competitor, Fleet Jack Lovelock of New Zealand and Oxford, who made foot-racing history in a world record one mile race with Princeton's Bill Bonthron last July.

Hubbell received 55 votes, or nearly one-fourth of the total of 206 cast. Lovelock was named on 25 ballots and is the first foreign star to figure so prominently in the contest. Third place goes to Johnny Goodman, the Nebraska amateur who won the United States open golf championship, with 19 votes. Another foreign ace, Fred Perry, British Davis cup hero and winner of the United States tennis crown, comes fourth with 15 votes.

These four stars, all figuring in the most dramatic accomplishments of 1933, dominated a poll which covered an unusually wide range. The list included 45 leading performers at everything from fist-fighting to transoceanic yacht racing and reflected the extraordinary variety of the year's exploits.

Terry Gets Votes. Not all the baseball acclaim went to Hubbell. For his skill in leading the Giants to the world's championship, Manager Bill Terry received eight votes and tied with Glenn Cunningham, Kansas miler, for fifth place. Chuck Klein, the Phillies slugger recently traded to the Chicago Cubs, collected five votes for topping the National League hitters. This was one more than the total for Jimmie Fox, ace batsman of the American league. Lou Gehrig was mentioned on only one ballot and Babe Ruth not at all.

There were six votes each for Jack Westrope, champion jockey of the year, and Barney Ross, the new lightweight boxing champion. Cotton Warburton of Southern California, all-America quarterback, topped the football players with five votes. Max Baer earned a 4 to 2 margin over Primo Carnera, the world heavyweight champion.

WEBFOOT STARS PRACTICE HERE

Bernie Hughes, Bree Cuppoletti and Mike Mikulak, University of Oregon football stalwarts, and all given "all-American" mention this year, are in the city en route to San Francisco, where they will play in the annual Shrine East-West game New Year's Day. The trio will work out every day at Van Scoyoc field until Wednesday, when they leave for the south. They report for practice Saturday.

Hughes, former Medford high school star, and idol of Medford small boys, will get the call to play center in the Shrine game, because of his defensive ability. He is also an All Pacific Coast center selection on most of the mythical teams. Mikulak and Cuppoletti are his guests during the stay in this city. Hughes completes his college course next year.

Mikulak is generally regarded as the outstanding fullback of the past season in Pacific coast gridiron warfare. He was selected on most of the mythical All-Coast teams, and on the New York "Sun" All-American squad. Cuppoletti, a guard, was one of the most colorful players on Pacific coast squads this past season, and was a great defensive player and tackler.

To make it real good George rolled one game of 227 just before entering the tournament. His average for the four straight games was 228. Some bowling on anybody's alley, Jim Murray, winner of last week's sweepstakes rolled a nice 624 to cop second place.

CHICAGO BEARS KEEP PRO TITLE IN WILD CLASH

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Professional football was back in its winter haunts today with the Chicago Bears champions.

In what was probably the most spectacular game of the year, college or professional, the Bears conquered the mighty New York Giants, 23 to 21, in the title playoff at Wrigley field yesterday to retain the championship they won a year ago.
The game was a brilliant display of offensive power and the 30,000 chilled spectators hardly knew from one spectator to the next when either team would break out with a scoring play. The lead changed no less than six times and the Bears had to produce one of their famous last period rallies to snatch victory out of the air. With less than three minutes to play, the Bear, trailing 21 to 16, opened up with a dazzling shower of forward passes to score the winning touchdown.

The play saw Bronko Nagurski, once a terror as a fullback for Minnesota, shoot a long pass to Bill Hewitt, one-time Michigan end. Hewitt, after spearing the pass and running 10 yards down the field, hurled the ball laterally to Bill Karr. The Giant defense was caught napping as it closed in on Hewitt. Karr was in the clear when he grabbed the ball and dashed on, eluding a pair of Giant tacklers, to the goal line. The play was good for a net gain of 38 yards and the national title.

YOUTH SENTENCED FOR LONG STRING OF LOCAL CRIMES

yourself, you will be out in a year—maybe less.
"After you come out you can have the knowledge you have paid your debt to society, and can look the world in the face. All self-respecting citizens and the officers will help you."

Poole showed no emotion when sentence was passed. He told the court, "I will go straight—if given another chance," when arraigned last Saturday. His father made a plea to the court, in behalf of his son, but felt he needed "discipline." The father said the youth had bought a second-hand auto, and attributed the thefts "to wanting to keep the thing going."

Poole was born and reared in the Eagle Point and Butte Falls districts. He started, his admissions showed, with the theft of a saddle from a Butte Falls barn. He stole five autos from the streets of Medford. Most of the cars were found hidden in the brush near Butte Falls. In several instances, the autos were stripped of tires and tools. Poole denied he had done this, claiming it was done by others, who had found the autos hidden in the woods. Charles A. Wing, Lee P. Watson and Hubbard Brothers were among local residents who had vehicles stolen by Poole.

Poole will be taken to state prison with Richard B. Warner, transient, sentenced to two years, for attempted passing of a forged $16 check.

American Legion Commander Endorses Christmas Seal Sale

Edward A. Hayes, National Commander of the American Legion, is shown in Legion headquarters, Indianapolis, signing his endorsement of the Christmas Seal sale. The campaign is launched throughout the country on Thanksgiving Day each year by the 2,584 affiliated tuberculosis associations. A campaign poster stands on the desk.

INDIANAPOLIS—Pointing out the "appalling fact" that "one out of every five persons who die between the ages of fifteen and forty-five is a victim of tuberculosis," National Commander Edward A. Hayes of the American Legion issued here today an endorsement of the nationwide Christmas Seal sale, in which he expressed the "vital interest" of the Legion in the work of the tuberculosis associations and assured a continuation of "full cooperation." Christmas Seals are the little stamps sold annually for a penny each between Thanksgiving and Christmas by the 2,584 affiliated tuberculosis associations and finance their work. The endorsement follows:

"The American Legion is vitally interested in the work of the anti-tuberculosis societies, and is of the firm conviction that the campaign carried on to prevent the spread of the disease is one of the greatest humanitarian movements ever inaugurated in America. It is really appalling to consider the facts. One out of every five persons who die between the ages of fifteen and forty-five is a victim of tuberculosis. It is estimated that we now have two million children who are infected, either active pulmonary tuberculosis or are potential victims requiring special care and treatment.
"In these days of stress and financial limitation, there is grave danger that much of the progress that has been made in the past will be nullified to a certain extent unless the anti-tuberculosis efforts are continued with even greater vigor than ever before. These campaigns and the work carried on under the direction of the societies have been very largely responsible for the reduction of the death rate from this disease over sixty per cent during the past twenty-seven years, and the establishment of certain machinery for prevention and cure.
"This work must be carried on. It must not be permitted to lapse for want of means. The American Legion has, throughout the years of its existence, given its full cooperation throughout the country and will continue to do so. Its Posts will be active throughout the month of December assisting in the sale of the Christmas Seals, from which funds are derived to finance the anti-tuberculosis associations and societies throughout the United States."

OREGON COAST IS POUNDED BY FURIOUS STORM

county, a $55,000 wharf was swept to sea by the fury of the storm, and ten small fishing boats were hurled upon the shore in wreckage.
Terrific rain poured down on the gale-wracked country throughout Saturday night and Sunday. The wind's velocity reached 55 miles an hour at the Portland airport.

Telephone and telegraph wires were smashed flat by falling trees and poles in hundreds of places on the Oregon coast, and similar damage of hardly less extent was wrought in the interior.
The Willamette river rose nearly two feet at Portland, but the situation was not considered dangerous. The storm brought 2.10 inches of rain to Salem. Portland had .96 of an inch.

Traffic Hampered
Train, stage and airplane service was virtually back to normal today, except for transportation between Tillamook and the interior.

Astoria was still cut off by failure of communication facilities. At one time yesterday on the lower Columbia highway, 21 trees were laying across the road.
A severe dust storm raged over Umatilla county Sunday, borne by a high gale from the west and south. Motorists found it extremely difficult to drive as the dust clouds sometimes reduced visibility to a few feet.
