BUSINESS SURVEY SHOWS RECOVERY EFFORTS GAINING

Business surveys conducted in key industries over the United States, tabulated today in the office of Frank Messenger, Oregon-Idaho NRA compliance director, reveal steady progress toward economic recovery. It was reported to the committee here this week.

The national retail dry goods association reported that 450,000 workers will be given employment during the Christmas buying rush over the United States. Payroll will be increased $20,000,000 during December. The association estimated that December sales will approximate $4,000,000,000 in U. S. department stores.

Retail toy sales, judged by preliminary purchases, will be 10 per cent higher this year than in 1932, the toy manufacturers' association reported. Sales of $200,000,000 are predicted by this industry.

Merchandise manufacturers reported business increased 50 per cent during the fall season, and orders booked for the spring trade are likewise half again as high as the 1932 total.

Exports of automotive products were valued at $8,901,846 during October, the last month for which figures are available, compared with exports of $5,355,793 during October, 1932.

These are but scattering examples picked at random from nation-wide surveys. Messenger said. "These figures, from widely divergent industries, are reliable indices that the recovery program is steadily recovering the ground lost during the 1929-33 depression."

COMMUNICATIONS

No Politics in It!
To the Editor:

Your editorial in Tuesday's paper, entitled "Money Talks" was certainly very logical and true to present conditions—but in my estimation, the one headed "The Lion and the Lamb" was quite to the contrary.

You say that the farmers and organized labor have fought, for nearly half a century, against each other; but that now they are, to use your phrase, "political bed fellows" in seeking the repeal of the sales tax.

Politics has very little to do with the stand which these two organizations are taking. They find themselves confronted with class legislation, which they must fight or find themselves doing without still more of the necessities of life than those which they do without at present.

Surely, there are but a very few taxpayers who would object to paying a property tax sufficiently high to bear the cost of government, if only they had an income from the property upon which they are taxed. But the money interests have seen fit to pile up wealth so fast, that the producer gets only a small fraction of the true value of his product. The result is that he is constantly seeing his products of labor sold for a small part of their value, and he is forced to delinquent in his tax payments.

Now the legislature has again voted ADDITIONALLY tax the struggling producer.

We see the large property holders attempting to have property taxes reduced by means of a sales tax, and, as a large percentage of the property is in the hands of a very small percentage of holders, this small group of holders will pay only a small part of the sales tax; and, as a result, the majority of the producers, most of whom are the load for the tax, who have large holdings of INCOME-PRODUCING property.

You say that both organizations are opposed to the power trust, yet they are lighting a sales tax on public utilities. Why, in the name of reason, do you insist on making a distinction between a sales tax and a tax on utilities. Such a tax on utilities is certainly not a tax on the utility company, as can be seen by the example of two or three months ago when the tax was ADDED right on the bill for the service.
