WEED HIGH BEATS MEDFORD 19 TO 16 IN OPENING TILT

By Harold Grove

In a hard fought battle before a small crowd of people, the Medford High Tigers were defeated 19 to 16 by Weed high school last night at the Senior high gym. The Junior high were defeated by the Tiger Cubs 30 to 10.

Play was slow during the first quarter with each team cautiously picking openings for a chance to score. Wayne Harris, lanky Medford center, chalked up the first basket of the game and the first score for the 1933 season for the Tigers.

The game was gradually gaining speed as the teams got more used to each other. The climax was reached during the latter part of the third quarter and all through the fourth quarter. First the Medford team was ahead and then the Weed team was ahead with the Weed team holding the uphill edge when the gun sounded the game. The last minute spurt proved unsuccessful.

STANFORD CLOSES HOME DRILL FOR PASADENA BATTLE

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Stanford's Cardinals completed their "at home" practice today before leaving tonight for Pasadena to meet Columbia in the Rose Bowl football classic, New Year's day.

In the second workout since examinations were finished, Coach Claude ("Tiny") Thornhill let down the bars and sent his charges through a session as lively as any mid-season preparation.

The scrimmage lasted an hour and the players appeared to have found themselves after a rather loose workout yesterday.

Keith Topping, 179-pound youth from Pasadena, and Harry Carlson, 191-pounder from San Francisco, alternated at the right end position in place of Lyle Smith, who was sent to the sidelines when hard work started.

Smith, slated to be the starter at right flank since Al Norgard, veteran, was declared ineligible Wednesday, suffered a bruised shoulder in the opening drill yesterday. The 173-pound Bakemfield boy complained of stiffness in his shoulder when he turned out. He was used during signal practice.

Aside from Smith, the others are in perfect condition. Carlson, one of the right end replacements, looked promising, according to Thornhill, especially on defense. Until this week, Carlson always has played tackle.

Stanford's next workout will be held Monday in Pasadena. Thirty-eight players were named for the trip.

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Johnny Dawson, Chicago amateur, finished his second 18-hole qualifying round in the Pasadena $4,000 open golf championship today with a 76, five strokes over par. This gave him a 36-hole total of 147.

Ben Coltrin, San Francisco, had a 145, scoring another 73 today.

Paul Bunyan, of White Plains, N. Y., Agua Caliente open champion, continued his sensational game today, going out in 35, which with his first round of 69, two under par, gave him a 27-hole score of 102.

A Line On Little

—By Pap

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Thirty travel weary Columbia gridsters arrived here today and immediately set about conjuring some football tricks for the edification of Stanford in the Rose bowl, Pasadena, New Year's day.

Worn out from their hard trip, a siege of banqueting at all stopping points and a stiff scrimmage against the Texas College of Mines team yesterday, the Lions welcomed a light workout today and a promise of a complete rest tomorrow.

"The boys are all worn out right now," said Coach Lou Little and then declared:

"We'll have a thing or two up our sleeves," adding with emphasis:

"From now on this banqueting business is out. We're here to get ready for a tough football game and we'll be ready."

"If you think I'm a good chaperon now," Little said with a grin, "wait until you see me out on the football field. That's my dish." And so it was, as Stanford may know January 1, 1934.

Little said he would keep the team here until next Saturday.

GRID ACES START WORK FOR ANNUAL EAST-WEST GAME

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Football stars from practically every section of the country assembled here today and plunged into preparations for the charity game that annually pits the pick of the east against the west on New Year's day.

The eastern squad of 22 players arrived late in the city and consequently were late in starting practice, but during the afternoon they rushed through a brisk session to iron out travel kinks and get accustomed to the feel of Kezar stadium.

Andy Kerr of Colgate and Dick Hanley of Northwestern, co-coaches of the eastern half of the country, lost no time in selecting two backfields. In one they placed Joe Laws of Iowa, Charles Solest of Colgate, Nick Lukats of Notre Dame and Beattie Peathers of Tennessee. In the other were Paul Pardonner of Purdue, Mike Sebastian of Pittsburgh, Herman Everhardus of Michigan and Ed Danowski of Fordham.

Coach Hanley emphasized the two combinations were merely temporary. The ball carriers will be shifted around to gain the most effectiveness.

Line men were started on blocking and other fundamentals, but no attempt was made to select separate forward walls. The workout lasted about an hour.

The western squad, coached by Orin Hollingsbery of Washington State and Perry Loyce of Denver, got out for practice this morning. It was somewhat of a warm-up affair with the coaches explaining plays to be used and the type of game to be played.

A luncheon today was followed by a civic reception on the steps of the city hall. Mayor Angelo Rossi, who returned this morning from Washington, D. C., on the same train bearing the eastern players, welcomed the 44 stars who will parade their wares in the big charity classic.

After a round of entertainment tomorrow the two squads will set up headquarters, the East in Palo Alto and the West in Berkeley. The eastern players will practice on the Stanford University field and the westerners at the University of California.

CONNIE MACK AT 71 ENJOYS FIRST AIRPLANE JAUNT

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Connie Mack, veteran of half a century of baseball, passed the 71st milestone of his trail of life today by eagerly venturing into a new field for him.

The diamond dean, who said they never get him off the ground, took his first airplane flight as part of his birthday celebration, riding in a cabin monoplane for 45 minutes with his nephew, Dick Bircher, at the controls.

"Say, that's great," was his exclamation, after alighting in an airfield. "Now I can understand why everybody who goes up once wants to be in the air all the time."

He soared over Philadelphia and its suburbs with his daughter Ruth, and the wife of his nephew, picking out the two major league baseball parks, his home and other points of interest to him.

As for retiring, Mack says the thought hasn't entered his mind, and anyone who asks gets an emphatic denial.

For next year, the leader of the 'A's' will be surrounded by a group of youngsters and, while he predicts nothing extraordinary in their performances, he says he'll have "a good team."
