OLD AGE PENSION SEEKER FAITHFUL TO PIPE TOBACCO

One of the Jackson county applicants for an old age pension a 98 years old, has lived in this section a score of years, and has smoked the same brand of tobacco for 76 years. He declares his pipe is his main solace. The patriarch now receives $8 per month relief aid. He appeared before the county court yesterday relative to an old age pension. He was advised to retain his present relief money until the old age pension law is straightened out. This is one of many problems confronting the county court, acting as a board of pension commissioners.

At its first meeting yesterday the pension board interviewed 23 applicants, and explained to them the financial condition of the county, and the difficulties in putting the old age pension law in operation. No methods of providing funds were specified by the legislature when it passed the law.

Many of the old folks decided to retain their present status until the atmosphere clears on the pension law. A number of the applicants are now receiving aid. No pensions were approved yesterday.

Close to 75 applications have been filed, and the majority do not contain answers to all the questions. If all the queries are answered the pension board has a fair thumb-nail sketch of the applicant. The county court desires to impress on applicants that all questions must be answered "yes" or "no." Queries relative to property holdings, and legal responsibility of sons, unmarried daughters, and other kin seem to be the chief stumbling blocks. The county court is considering the advisability of providing clerical assistance to facilitate the filling out of the blanks, but have no funds for this purpose.

Applicants are advised to have their lawyer friends or others familiar with the type of work, prepare their blanks for them to avoid delay or confusion.

De Luxe Fordor Sedan. One of eleven handsome new body types, all with V-8 cylinder motor

New Dual Carburetion and Dual Intake Manifold add to power and economy of the New Ford V-8 for 1934

LIKE a pair of lungs for this powerful motor, this new system of carburetion and intake supplies vaporized gasoline evenly to all eight cylinders. Two distinct advantages result from it:

1. More even compression of fuel, giving still greater power, faster acceleration, quicker starting and smoother performance in cold weather.
2. More complete utilization of fuel, more miles to the gallon of gasoline, with consequent economy. Crankcase dilution is reduced to a minimum, thereby conserving oil with still further economy in operation.

Increased efficiency at less cost is a notable achievement. Yet it is only one of many improvements which distinguish this new and greater Ford V-8 for 1934.

Clear-vision Ventilation. Constant Supply of Fresh Air without Drafts or Obstruction to View

As perfected in the New Ford, this system of ventilation operates efficiently at all speeds, winter or summer. In cold or stormy weather, the new adjustable window ventilators can be opened the desired amount to provide fresh air. Individual control on front door and rear-quarter windows enables passengers to obtain desired ventilation without causing discomfort to others. Windshield and windows do not fog when ventilators are opened.

In warm weather, the windshield—which opens—and the cowl ventilator provide additional fresh air.
