

SUDDEN CHANGES PUTS BANK CODE IN EFFECT FEB. 1

NRA Director Delays Scheduled Price Boost and Dismisses Subordinate Following 'Misunderstanding'

All Medford and southern Oregon banks were prepared to invoke the bankers code of the NRA, January 2, and so advised patrons. The telegram below changes the date until February 1, and is self-explanatory: New York, N. Y., Dec. 30, 1933. Oris Crawford, President, Southern Oregon Bankers Ass'n. First National Bank, Medford, Oregon.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Banks in every corner of the nation were under sudden NRA orders today to withhold projected schedules designed to sharply increase bank charges to customers.

While the Capital speculated upon the first outcome of the swift move by Hugh S. Johnson in cancelling the increased levies, the NRA administrator himself added only silence to his order that the charges be suspended "indefinitely and immediately," or at least until he had approved them.

The first action came as the result of what was officially described as a most unusual "misunderstanding." Johnson lost little time after learning that a proposed uniform higher schedule under the NRA bankers code had been circulated by the code authority among all clearing house associations with the notation that Johnson had approved them.

The NRA chief declared immediately to newspapermen that he had not approved the schedules; in fact, had not even seen them. Simultaneously he summarily dismissed Gary N. Weisger, Jr., deputy administrator in charge of the banking code, who was said to have been instrumental in a public announcement that Johnson had approved the banking code authority plans.

Although the proposed higher schedule circulated among the clearing house associations was made public, it was understood to approximate a "metered" system by which customers would pay more for virtually all bank services.

In addition to uniform service charges on all small checking accounts, it was said to include levies of so much per check above a certain number of checks, charges for each deposit slip and each item on the slip and a minimum charge of ten cents for cashing checks presented by non-depositors.

Johnson said in a brief public statement accompanying his order last night that he intended to give "a careful scrutiny in the public interest" to every schedule of charges submitted by local or regional clearing house associations. The associations were given an extension until February 1 to submit them.

KLAMATH WOMEN HURT IN MISHAP

Mrs. Rose Rice and Juanita Stone of Klamath Falls are in the Community hospital, Mrs. Rice suffering severe cuts to the face and her sister Miss Stone has a broken jaw as a result of their car crashing into a parked automobile at one o'clock Saturday morning in the six hundred block on North Riverside avenue.

SUSPEND SENTENCE ON WOMAN FORGER

Chalea Bernice Cook, 26, a married woman, charged with the forgery of a $14 check on the J. C. Penney Co. store, was given a suspended sentence of six months by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton Saturday morning. The court, in passing sentence, declared an epidemic of check forging was prevalent in the county, and that it could be curbed by merchants and others ceasing to "cash checks blindly." The court declared this "made a collection agency out of the district attorney's office," and in many instances the forger escaped prosecution because of the delay on the part of the merchants in reporting to the state or city police.

ANNOUNCE PRIZE WINNERS IN YULE LIGHTING CONTEST

The Christmas lighting contest, conducted by the Chamber of Commerce ended Friday, when a committee composed of Mrs. Louis Ulrich, Mrs. J. R. Woodford, and Col. W. H. Payne visited the residential sections, and named the prize winners. It was announced by the Chamber of Commerce.

The committee reported that it was very difficult to pick the winners, as the decorations were extremely beautiful this year.

However, after a very careful survey of the city, the following prize winners were announced: For the best decorated homes—First prize, P. C. Dillard, 39 Summit avenue; 2nd prize, Val J. Fisher, 31 Summit avenue.

For the best decorated trees—First prize, George C. Huber, 1216 E. Main street; second prize, J. T. Davis, 1112 East Main.

Honorable mention for the best decorated homes went to George F. P. Phythian, 828 Minnesota avenue, and P. H. Reum, 922 S. Oakdale avenue, and honorable mention for the best decorated tree was awarded to P. W. Taylor, 300 S. Central avenue.

Merchandise prizes were awarded to the winners as follows: First prize for the best decorated home, $12.50 electrical merchandise prize; second prize, $6.25 electrical merchandise, both donated by the People's Electric Store, and for decorated trees, first prize, $12.50 electrical merchandise, second, $6.25 electrical merchandise donated by Palmer Electric store.

LICENSE PLATES OR STICKER ONLY AUTO PASSPORTS

After the first of the year, passenger cars must have 1934 license plates or temporary stickers, Captain Lee M. Bown of the Oregon State Police stated yesterday. Money order receipts showing that plates have been ordered, will not be accepted as permits to drive the car.

Due to the new legislation concerning trucks and the necessity of obtaining new licenses and forms, strict compliance of trucks to the license law will not be demanded for a week, Captain Bown stated. However, by January 8, all trucks will be required to display the new plates in order to operate.

All foreign license plates will be checked by the state police, and thru a reciprocal agreement made by the state department, out-of-state cars will be extended the courtesy of their home states relative to the date of receiving new plates.

SALEM, Dec. 30.—(P)—Issuance of 1934 automobile licenses was still below par as the last plates which will reach motorists by January 1 were issued today.

At close of business last night 66,939 sets of plates had been issued, compared to 78,425 for a corresponding date last summer when half-year licenses were sold.

State Police Superintendent Charles P. Pray has announced that motorists must have new licenses if they wish to drive after the first of the year.

W. H. Lydiard of this city has been appointed as one of the three members of the state mining board, the other two members being Robert McCulloch of eastern Oregon. The new board will have a meeting early in January to organize for J. H. Batchelder, of the school of mines at the Oregon State college, acts as secretary.

L. M. Lydiard, in addition to being greatly interested in the mining industry, is a successful business man and his appointment will be of great benefit to the mining industry of the state and will keep southern Oregon in touch with one of the principal industries.

WARNINGS ISSUED TO CEASE SALES OF HARD LIQUOR

(Continued from page one) Urging Jackson county people to respond to the call for funds to aid the flood victims in Washington, the Red Cross here issued another statement yesterday. The $300 quota, asked of Jackson county, is far from realized, officials here stated, and the need is an ever-increasing one.

It is believed that Jackson county, which has responded often in the past to calls from much more distant neighbors in distress, will not fail to help the refugees in the north. A report from the Beuewah county Red Cross chapter shows that many of the refugees in that section lost everything. A great many cattle, chickens and pigs were drowned. The river rose so rapidly it was impossible to save all the livestock. Many also lost their winter supply of food.

Woodland, which is a dairy-farming area, presents a desolate picture, the overflow from the Lewis river dam having deposited tons of mud and debris on farms and in homes, as well as destroying 20 homes. Stock feed has been destroyed. Two thousand cows were moved to higher ground, where milking is continued through co-operative farm effort.

The law also provides that an auto used in the transportation or importation of illicit liquor, may be confiscated. Liquor may be transported in bonded carriers only.

To Close 'Joints' On the heels of repeal came a number of "social centers," where drinks were served. The call of "easy money" also resulted in drinks being served from a bottle under the counter. All did a good business, and paid no license fee. They have enjoyed three weeks of unrestricted sale. Fires were built under many stills, according to reports, and moonshine flowed in from the coast and northern California. Some of the supply posed as "bonded stuff." The campaign is intended to stop all this.

The clean-up is conducted under the nuisance clause of the Knox law, which provides for a lien against a building, where liquor is sold unlawfully to pay the fine and costs. In part it reads as follows: "Any room, house, building, boat, structure or place of any kind where alcoholic liquor is sold, manufactured, transported or given away in violation of the law, or where persons are permitted to resort for the purpose of drinking alcoholic beverages in violation of the law, or any place where such beverages are kept for sale, barter or gift in violation of the law, and all alcoholic liquor and all property kept and used in said place, hereby are declared to be a common nuisance; and any person who maintains or assists in maintaining such common nuisance shall be guilty of a violation of this act. And if it shall be proved that the owner of any building or premises knowingly has suffered the same to be used or occupied for the manufacture, sale or possession of alcoholic beverages, contrary to the provisions of this act, such building or premises shall be subject to a lien for, and may be sold to pay all fines and costs assessed against the occupant of such building or premises, for any violation of this act; and such lien shall be enforced immediately by civil action in any court having jurisdiction, by the district attorney of the county wherein such building or premises is located."

CWA WORK, COIN CHEERS UP VALLEY AT CLOSE OF '33

(Continued from page one) and irrigation district projects and other participating in clerical work necessary to the surveys being made. All receive their money from Washington, D. C. where the final check, which determines whether or not work shall go on, is given. From Washington the money is allocated to the states, where boards accept the applications of each county's administrative board. Allotments of skilled and unskilled labor are apportioned to each project approved, and the local administration has no jurisdiction over that number. Jackson county to date, has been allotted 694 men. They are all at work. The county allocates the men on projects up to the quota strength granted by the state.

There are now 2500 persons registered for work in Jackson county. The first aim of the CWA is to put men to work, the second is to keep the work economically sound. All projects, approved in this county, have been meritorious ones, the committee pointed out yesterday.

The skilled labor is paid at the rate of 50 cents up to $1.20 an hour, the unskilled 50 cents an hour. The money paid each man is his to use as he pleases. There is no red tape attached to it, which separates the work from any relief or dole characteristics, which it might otherwise have. The first allotment of men, however, was taken from the relief rolls, in keeping with instructions from Washington, D. C., the first aim having been to aid those persons in greatest need.

The Oregon CWA has already approved projects for Jackson county, which will absorb 500 additional men. As soon as the federal governments grants allocation of these men, they will be placed on jobs. Men are chosen, as closely as possible, from the proximity of the job, whether it be at Copper, Dead Indian, Butte Falls or Medford. They are now at work on projects that far reaching.

There are 50 at work on the retaining wall, bordering Bear creek, where it flows through Medford; 33 are building the Roxy Ann road; 40 are improving Summit street; 20 are at work on Hamilton street and 48 on Monroe in Medford, and so on the allocation goes from the Bellview school to the Evans valley road. In every case hand labor is used to the greatest extent possible, and a surprising amount and quality of work has been noted by the various foremen. "The men are getting wages and trying their best to earn them, and they're doing a good job," they declare.

To expedite the cashing of their checks and to aid the stores in avoiding congestion at the close of the day, the Chamber of Commerce yesterday arranged to cash checks. Around 60 persons had been cared for at 6 o'clock.

Under the CWA each person works six hours a day and five days a week and every week brings a pay day.
