Torrential Rains Bring Death, Damage Los Angeles Area

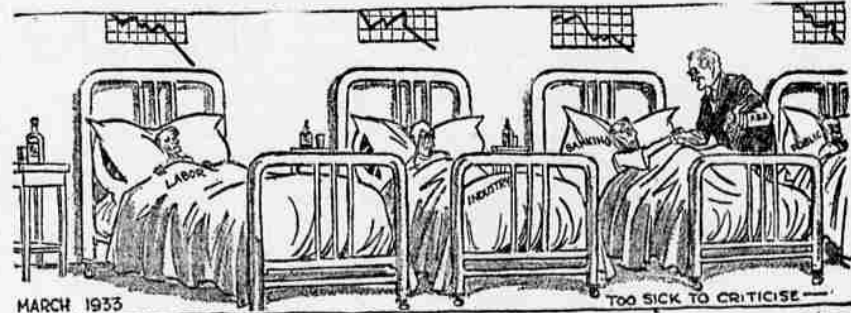

Scenes such as this were common throughout the Los Angeles area new year's day after more than 24 hours of torrential rains. This photograph was taken at a street intersection in the heart of the Venice residential district. Boats were common conveyances in many other sections as cloudbursts made rushing streams out of city streets.

NEW YORK SOCIETY GLITTERS AS METROPOLITAN OPENS ITS SEASON

The famed "golden horseshoe" of the Metropolitan opera house in New York rustled with silken finery and sparkled with jewels as society participated in the brilliant ceremonies incident to the opening of the opera season. Those in attendance heard Deems Taylor's operatic version of George Du Maurier's romantic novel, "Peter Ibbotson" with Lucrezia Bori, Edward Johnson and Lawrence Tibbett playing the principal roles. Among those who attended were John McCormack, noted tenor, and Mrs. McCormack (shown at left), Mrs. George W. Cavanaugh (second right) and Princess Barbara Mdivani (right). Woolworth heiress. ASHLAND TRIMS EUREKA, 34-30

By Logan Nittinger
ASHLAND, Jan. 3.—(Sp.)—In a fast and close game here last night the Ashland Lithians returned the defeat given them by the strong Eureka quintet last week by a score of 34 to 30.

Hardy of Ashland who found that hoop to place the Lithians in the lead.
Hardy and Hess were high pointers of Ashland with 11 each. Hess's phenomenal scoring spree was the stellar performance as his fantastic tosses always found the hoop.
For the southerners Nicol stole the spotlight with 12 points to his credit.

MESSAGE READING CROWDS GALLERY

WASHINGTON, January 3.—(AP)—Tickets to the opening session of congress became so scarce that even Alice Roosevelt Longworth, the veteran gallery fan, had to scurry around at the last minute for a card.
She was finally admitted through Mrs. Henry T. Rainey, the speaker's wife, who said she could think of nothing more appropriate than that the speaker's wife should share her seat for the ceremony with a former speaker's wife, even though they belong to opposite political parties.

LIFE IN CCC SKETCHED BY CAPTAIN M'MAHON IN TALK BEFORE LIONS

Life in the civilian conservation corps camps, and what such opportunities have accomplished for the boys enrolled in them, was the subject of the address given this noon before the Lions club by Captain Bernard B. McMahon, public relations aid welfare officer at the CCC headquarters here, and formerly in charge of Camp Applegate.
Captain McMahon explained to the Lions how the camps are operated, and the various duties of the men. He told the group that the army men are in charge of the boys while in camp, but that they are under the supervision of the forest service while working.
A high compliment was paid to the Medford chamber of commerce and Manager A. H. Bantwell by Captain McMahon, who stated that Medford was the first city in the United States to request the federal government to establish a CCC district headquarters here.
Cigars were passed to the club by Lion J. Verne Shangle, in honor of Carolyn Ruth, his young daughter, born December 22.
