

WRESTLING BOUT ENDS IN FRACAS

Everett Marshall, Colorado cowboy turned wrestler, staged a one-man riot as his match with Jim Londo in Philadelphia came to a sudden halt. Marshall had just tossed Londo out of the ring when the fracas occurred. The westerner started out of the ring after his opponent and Referee Ben Paul (left) is shown trying to push him back. Fists started to fly and finally a squad of police stepped in and subdued the cowboy, who was disqualified and indefinitely suspended by the state athletic commission. (Associated Press Photo)

SOUTHLAND FLOODS TAKE LARGE TOLL IN LIVES

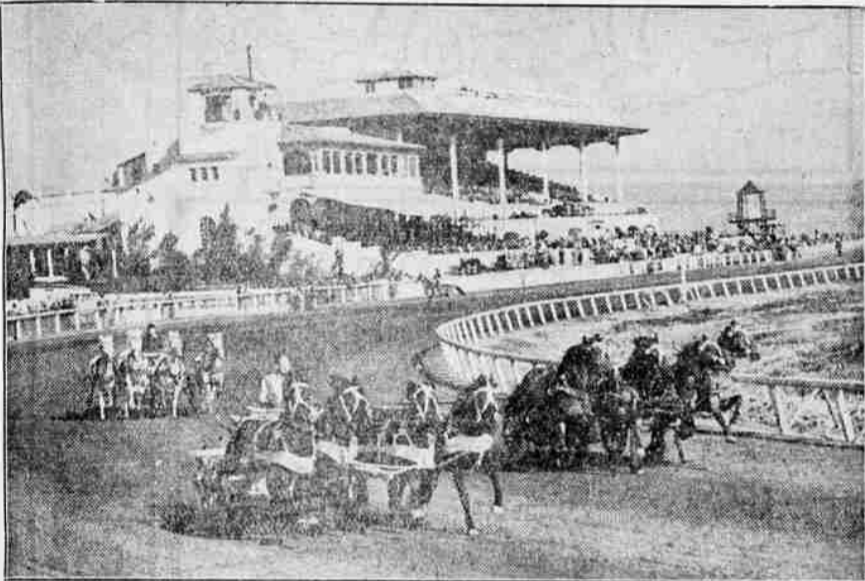

A striking air view of the half-submerged residential district of Venice, Cal., after flood water from torrential rains poured over the lowlands in which the town is located. Property damage in Southern California was estimated in the millions while 60 or more persons were killed. (Associated Press Photo)

WALLACE URGES "TIGHTENING" FOOD AND DRUG ACT

Secretary Henry Wallace (left) appeared before a senate committee to advocate enactment of the Copeland bill to make more stringent the provisions of the pure food and drug act. He is shown with Senator Royal S. Copeland (center) of New York, and Rexford G. Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture. (Associated Press Photo)

CHARIOT RACING REVIVED AT TURF MEET

Agua Caliente winter racing crowds witnessed a thrilling chariot race as one of the opening features of the track season at the famed resort in Lower California. (Associated Press Photo)

STORM VICTIM'S BODY REMOVED

Raging down the canyons in the foothills above Los Angeles, flood waters carried away houses and ripped open highways with an estimated death toll of more than 60. Rescue workers are shown carrying the body of a victim of the torrential rainstorm to an improvised morgue near Glendale, Cal. (Associated Press Photo)

ESCAPED CONVICT CAPTURED

Edward Shouse (inset), one of the 10 prisoners who escaped last September from the Michigan City, Ind., penitentiary, was captured in Paris, Ill. During gunfire incident to the arrest a state policeman was fatally wounded by a fellow officer. The women shown above were captured with Shouse. They gave their names as Mrs. Frances Colen (left) of Port Wayne, Ind., and Ruth Spencer of San Diego, Cal. (Associated Press Photos)

Connie Goes Flying

Connie Mack, baseball's grand old man, took his first airplane flight on his 71st birthday and he enjoyed it if the expression on his face as he leaned out of the cockpit means anything. (Associated Press Photo)

OHIO NEWSPAPER PLANT BOMBED

A bomb tore up the mailing room of the Mansfield, O., News-Journal in the fifth such explosion in Mansfield papers in five years. Police theorized racketeers were responsible. Damage was estimated at $1,000. (Associated Press Photo)

JOHNSON'S MOTHER IN WASHINGTON

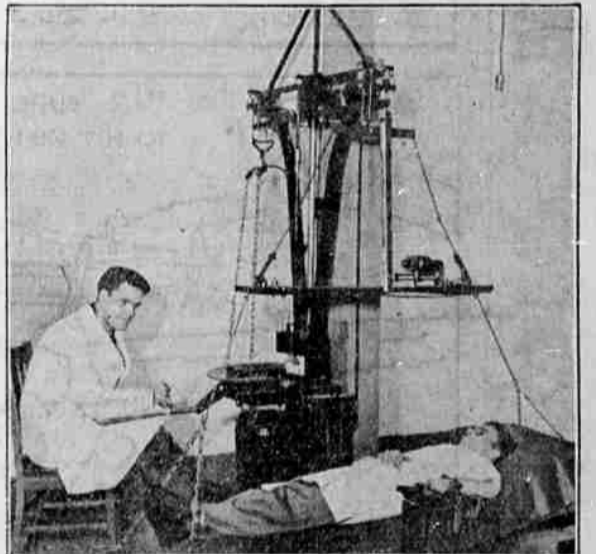

Mrs. Samuel Johnson (left) of Okmulgee, Okla., mother of Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, bids goodbye to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt after visiting at the White House. (Associated Press Photo)

'GOOD LUCK,' HUNK TELLS LAYDEN

With a grin on his face, Hearty "Hunk" Anderson (left), retiring Notre Dame coach, congratulates his successor, Elmer Layden, and wishes him luck in his new post. The two met at the annual conference of the American Coaches' association. (Associated Press Photo)

HERE'S HOW TO CHECK EFFICIENCY!

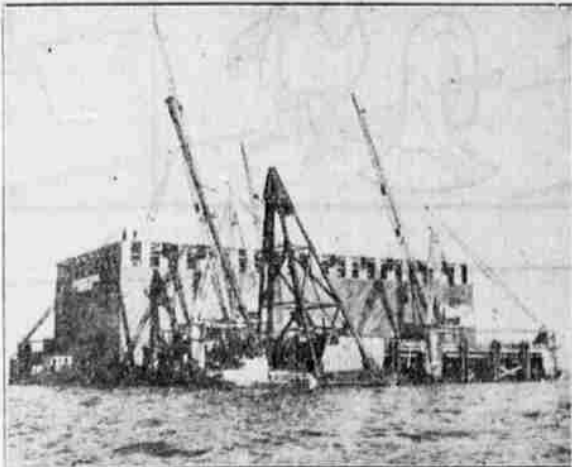

This is the contrivance used by Prof. G. L. Freeman (left), Northwestern university psychologist, to determine the relative amount of man's efficiency at different times of the day. Delicate scales check loss of weight by perspiration. A student is shown on the cot as the subject of experiment. (Associated Press Photo)

HIS SIGHT HOLIDAY'S BEST GIFT

Santa brought lots of good things to seven-year-old Loren Lockhart but the most valued present of all was his sight. Blind since birth, Loren's eyes were recently removed and the first thing he really saw was the glitter of a Christmas tree. He is shown with his nurse at a hospital in Springfield, Mo. (Associated Press Photo)

BIGGEST CAISSON PLACED IN BAY

Measuring 92 feet wide and 197 feet long, a caisson was towed into San Francisco bay and floated into position as the first step in building the center anchorage of the San Francisco-Oakland bridge. The caisson, the largest in the world, will be used to build a great pier that will stand 298 feet above the waterline. (Associated Press Photo)

Quid Leans Over Ocean--To Denver

Mrs. Jack Levy of Denver, formerly Alice Rosenthal of Berlin, had to untangle Nazi red tape to cross the Atlantic and then pass American immigration inspectors before she reached Colorado to become the bride of her childhood sweetheart. (Associated Press Photo)

In CWA Dispute

An argument arose between Adjutant-General Frank D. Henderson (above), state administrator of the CWA in Ohio, and Harry L. Hopkins, national administrator, after the CWA complaints committee at Toledo announced it had reports of men quitting work in private industry to take CWA jobs at higher pay. (Associated Press Photo)

HELD IN SLAYING OF ARCHBISHOP

Two of the five men held in the slaying of Archbishop Leon Tourian, head of the Armenian church of North and South America, are shown above in police custody. They are Matos Leylegian (bald head) and Nishan Sarkisian (striped tie). The prelate was stabbed to death before a horrified congregation at the Holy Cross Armenian Apostolic church in New York. Officer at right is holding one of the knives used by the assassins. (Associated Press Photo)