

ROSEBURG CAGERS AND TIGERS MEET HERE NEXT FRIDAY

Preliminary Starts 7 P. M., Main Game at 8 — Burgher Boys Developing Smooth Running Quintet

(By Harold Grove.) Two colorful basketball combinations, Medford and Roseburg, will clash on the maple courts of Medford high school Friday night.

The Medford cagers are slowly developing a crafty quintet, after having a bad start. Coach Burgher has a quantity of able-bodied hoop artists on hand but has had trouble in getting them to work together.

The Roseburg Indians are reported to have practically the same lineup they had last year. Incidentally, the Tiger managers came out of the Indiana village last year with a defeat sign painted on their "maps."

COUGARS DEFEAT OREGON, 38 TO 30

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 10.—(AP)—The Washington State college basketball team was not seriously handicapped by a slow start here last night.

The Cougars were behind, 10 to 0, after six and a half minutes of play, but trailed only 19 to 14 at half-time.

Robertson's goal momentarily disrupted the Washington State rally, tying the score at 23 to 23.

The victory made an even break for Washington State on its four-game invasion of the Oregon and Oregon State courts.

BRIDGE FAVORITES LEAD AT TOURNEY HALF-WAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The favorites remained firmly entrenched as the second round of the United States Bridge association contract pair championships passed into history early today.

Reversing, somewhat, the order of previous meetings when his wife topped the lists, Ely Culbertson and his partner, Theodore A. Lightner, led the field at the half way mark with a point total of 499.5.

Mrs. Culbertson and her partner, Albert H. Morehead, had receded to fifth position with 463.5 points, with the following intervening: Michael Gottlieb and Howard Schenken, New York, second, with 457; A. M. Barnes and Edward Hymas, third, with 444; A. P. Roskoff and Leroy Thurteill of Washington, D. C., fourth, with 438.5.

In seventh place were Capt. F. G. French and Mrs. Olive Peterson of Philadelphia, with 426.5; Ralph Kemper and M. H. Besser of Chicago, were fourteenth, with 414; S. N. Ruttenberg and Charles D. Woldenberg, fifteenth, with 411; W. E. Brownback and C. C. Lockart of St. Louis, eighteenth, with 343.5.

Last night's scores were cumulative toward the finals in which the champion pair will be selected.

NEWLY ORGANIZED QUINTET DEFEATS ST. MARYS STARS

The newly organized Drop Seat Athletic club quintet made an auspicious debut last night when they bested the St. Mary's All-Stars, 21-20, on the local high school maple in an overtime game.

The tilt was nip and tuck throughout, being knotted at 20-all at the final gun, and a single gift shot in the overtime go spelled the initial Athletic club win.

The lanky club defense proved a puzzle to the smaller All-Stars' offensive notions, which had carried them to six straight wins, and pulled the clubbers out ahead.

Bob Colvig, 6 foot 5 inch A. C. pivot man, dominated the tipoff and also lead the scoring with nine counters.

The play, which was fast and cleanly contested throughout, moved at a hotter pace in the extra period, although the scoring was limited to Jack Boyd's free toss, which decided the game.

Naumes and Bulls were the club luminaries, which Dick Lewis and George Smith sparked for the All-Star five.

Lineups: Drop Seat A. C. St. Mary's All-Stars Naumes F. D. Lewis Reddy F. Smith Colvig C. Quisenberry Boyd G. Trill Bulls G. B. Lewis

Substitutes: A. C. Spalding, St. Mary's All-Stars, C. Ward, B. Smith and R. Lewis. Referee: R. Ward.

FINE MAT CARD SLATED JAN. 17 TO START YEAR

Following announcement yesterday by the boxing commission of his intention for the coming year as promoter of Medford's ring amusements, Marc Lillard today revealed plans for his first wrestling card of the year, to be staged at the Armory Wednesday, January 17.

In a desire to start things off with a bang, Lillard has signed up some of the best talent available on the coast, and will pit Bob Meyers, former middleweight champion of the world, and Sailor Franz of San Diego, in the one-hour main event. Meyers, who makes his home in Tillamook, is a clean, scientific bone crusher, while Franz, known as the "tattooed wonder," gained his experience in the rough and tough school of the navy.

In a semi-final match, Bunny Martin, the Cherokee Indian who has been a big drawing card on his invasion of coast rings from his home in Oklahoma, will tangle with Roland Warren, Copco engineer of Klamath Falls. This affair, billed to go 45 minutes, should carry nearly as much interest for the fans as the main event.

A special treat has been provided by the promoter in a curtain-raiser between Cecil Barriok, old favorite of Grants Pass, and George Bennett, Seattle roughhouse artist. Barriok, whose antics have amused fans in this neck of the woods for years past, has been doing road work and getting himself into shape for a return to the ring, and promises to put on one of his old-time shows. The Barriok-Bennett affair is to last 30 minutes or until one of the boys secures a fall.

It is Lillard's intention to follow next Wednesday's card with similar good entertainment each week, and keep the fans' wrestling appetite well satisfied during the remainder of the winter.

In listing the membership of the boxing commission yesterday, the name of Fred Erickson was inadvertently omitted from the article regarding the annual meeting of the commission. Erickson, long identified with ring sports in the valley, is one of the most ardent fans.

SEATTLE CLUB OF COAST LEAGUE ON FINANCIAL ROCKS

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Directors of the Pacific Coast Baseball league met here today in extraordinary session, involving the possible forfeiture of the franchise of the Seattle club.

The moguls of the big far western class AA circuit concluded their annual mid-winter session yesterday by completing all routine business, but a development in the case of the Seattle club caused them to remain over another day.

Entangled financial conditions of the Seattle outfit added a fresh chapter to the otherwise fairly serene course of the league. An expected purchase of the northern team was held up. Its sale to a group headed by Henry Broderick, Seattle business man, and Judge Charles Morriarity from the present chief stockholder, George Vanderver and William Kieper, former president of the club, was not consummated as the other league directors had expected.

In case the transaction does not go through, Baggerly said, it probably will be necessary for the league to declare the Seattle club's franchise has been forfeited.

Aside from the Seattle problem, the directors finished routine business as follows:

Voted to increase admission price from 25 to 40 cents for bleachers. Decided upon a 26-week straight-through season, beginning April 3 and ending September 30.

Voted to choose an all-star team, selected from the other seven clubs, to meet the pennant-winning team in a post-season series.

Agreed to give an award for the league's "most valuable" player, who will be picked by Coast league baseball writers.

Adopted as the official ball the one that will be used in the major leagues this year.

Voted to waive the rule prohibiting the signing of spit-ball pitchers in the case of Jack Pius Quinn, former major league hurler for many years.

The pipe organ in Trinity Methodist church at Richmond, Va., has been in constant use 94 years.
