Craterian Star

Paul Muni's characterization as the restless, ambitious son of the prairie who rises from a daring cattle-drover to be the dominating figure in American industry, is winning acclaim from Craterian theater audiences, where "The World Changes" plays until tomorrow night. Also in the cast are Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee, Margaret Lindsay, Donald Cook, and many other noted players.

On the same program with "The World Changes," Ruth Chatterton is being shown in "Female," the story of a feminine Don Juan, who reverses the man's code of "Love 'em and leave 'em" in her various amorous pursuits with different men. Walt Disney's newest all-color Silly Symphony, "The Night Before Xmas," is also being shown.

COLMAN HAS DUAL ROLE AT STUDIO

Ronald Colman in the dual roles of "The Masquerader" revives the thrills and the heart-throbs of the famous and strange story of two men who looked so much alike that neither wife nor mistress could tell them apart.

'THE LAST TRAIL' COMING TO ROXY

George O'Brien and Zane Grey join forces again in "The Last Trail," which comes to the Roxy theater tomorrow.

The film is a "western" only in that its locale represents the plains of the west. It depicts the transference of racketeering methods from beer-running in the big city to cattle rustling on the plains. Claire Trevor is the leading lady.

Umatilla county, with 2094 acres of state parks, leads all the other counties of the state, with Curry county second and Clatsop third.
