

COUNTY HEALTH HEAD DESCRIBES WORK TO ROTARY

Dr. C. I. Drummond, county health officer, described the work of his office to members of the Medford Rotary club at today's luncheon meeting at the Hotel Medford. Interesting cases handled by Dr. Drummond's department were cited in the speaker's outline of the activities, aims and accomplishments of the county health department.

"We aim at the prevention of diseases," Dr. Drummond told the Rotarians. "This involves the task of finding and isolating contagious cases and a great portion of our time and energy is directed along this particular line. Every case that is found and successfully handled to prevent the spread of disease results in many dollars saving to the county as well as an actual saving of life in many instances."

Diphtheria was especially mentioned by the speaker who pointed out to Rotary members his department's splendid work in immunizing children, the initial step in stamping out this costly and dangerous disease. The health department's work on typhoid cases was also described by Dr. Drummond and one well publicized and typical case of the results of the spread of typhoid germs was cited.

In combating tuberculosis, the task before health officials is finding active cases so that steps may be taken to immediately isolate them," Dr. Drummond said in telling of the county's work in fighting this disease. Medical examinations in schools and regular calls upon county school children were mentioned by the speaker. Every student is checked and medical attention is arranged for when necessary, he said.

Dr. Drummond was introduced by Fred Heath, Jr., who had charge of today's Rotary meeting under the direction of Program Chairman Glen Smith. Refreshments from sunny southern California, sent to the Medford Rotary club by "Auntie" Johnson, formerly of this city, were enjoyed at today's luncheon. J. H. Cooley, Charles Cooley and Dr. R. N. Stearns were guests at the meeting.

At the Rotary luncheon next Tuesday, George Henselman and Lee Bishop will debate on the subject: "Resolved: That an international medium of exchange based upon commodity values will stabilize world trade." These two members were especially selected to present both sides of this widely discussed subject and Rotary members are eagerly anticipating the hot debate.

HAWKINS, HOME LOAN AIDE, DIES SUDDENLY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Russell Hawkins, Jr., of the Home Loan Bank board, died today in his hotel here. Appointed to the board last June for a four-year term, he was a retired lumberman from Tillamook Bay, Oregon.

He was born in Philadelphia and graduated from the University of Pennsylvania. Death resulted from a heart attack, it was said at his hotel.

30 CARLOADS ONIONS DESTROYED BY FIRE

SALEM, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Fire of an undetermined origin destroyed a large onion warehouse and contents on the Hayes Lash farm about nine miles north of Salem at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday. There were 30 carloads of choice onions stored at the time. Hayes estimates the loss, including building, around $24,000.

PEACH CANNERS' PERMIT REVOKED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—(AP)—The license permitting the Independent Growers association of Yuba City and Oakland, Cal., to can cling peaches was revoked today by Secretary Wallace.

The action was taken after a hearing on charges of license violation. The association was alleged to have canned peaches in excess of its allotment, to have refused examination of records by the control committee, and to have failed to pay assessments to the committee.

MILK LICENSING TIME EXTENDED

PORTLAND, Jan. 15.—(AP)—An additional week in which to obtain permits for milk resale has been granted today by the state milk control board. Midnight last night had been originally set as the time limit for getting such licenses.

The control board will meet with Lane county producers and distributors in Eugene Friday. It also plans to meet in Newberg, St. Helens and McMinnville this week, and in Pendleton and LaGrande next week.

LOCAL HEROISM CASES EYED BY MEDAL GIVERS

Definite word was received this morning by the chamber of commerce from the Carnegie hero fund commission that the applications recently submitted will be investigated in due course.

Recommendations have been made by the local chamber of commerce for medals for Mrs. John Holmer and George Takao and immediately a decision is reached, the chamber of commerce will be advised.
