

C-C ART DISPLAY ATTESTS TALENT VIVIENNE LOGAN

There is something exceedingly refreshing in times such as these about the display of portraits appearing in the Medford Chamber of Commerce today—a something not to be ignored even by the connoisseurs. For it is pervaded with definite talent, and the promise and ambition of a young girl, into which the depression has apparently made only financial inroads.

That girl, for the benefit of those who do not know, is Vivienne Logan of Ashland, home from Mills college—a tall, alert, young being, seen occasionally on the streets of Medford wearing, casually, a corduroy suit of burnt orange, which seems in its own flamboyance to reflect further the desire to live and do, evidenced in her face.

There are also samples of art moderne, preferred by present day advertisers, in the display, showing the versatility of the exhibitor. Portrait work, however, is her hobby (with charcoal, pencil or pen) she said yesterday, and she is just longing to do faces she has seen in Medford. Her ultimate ambition, she announces is "costume and stage designing." And the one job she enjoyed most in the number she had while attending school in the south, was that of assistant designer for "Sorcerer's Drums" when the production was given by the Bohemian club in Redwood Grove on the Russian River in 1932. She got to make puppets, then, giants and costumes, and found the work fascinating.

She also designed the sets for the production of "Hansel and Gretel" at Mills in 1933. She studied under Harold Helverston at Stanford University and under Roi Patridge-Cheney at Mills. She also majored in art in Palo Alto high school. She is interested in children's drawings also, she said yesterday, in helping to train their talent, in addition to having a definite yen for a fling at advertising art.

She has done a few portraits since coming to Ashland, where she is living with her mother at 860 Boulevard, but has divided her time between art and nursing as her mother has been ill for most of the winter. Miss Logan also feels that Medford and Grants Pass are home, she said yesterday, for she lived in both cities as a child.

Mrs. Bunch Sings
At Bible Class Session.
The Weekly Bible class took up the study of the New Testament at its last meeting.

Mrs. Ruth Bunch brought the message in song and was accompanied at the piano by Miss Joyce Doran. Mrs. Ellen Doran led the group singing.

A resume of the fulfillment of the prophecy of Daniel 11:35, covering the four hundred years during which Judaea had no prophet in the land, was given by Mrs. E. N. Warner in a sketch of the history of the land from the Persian empire under which the last of the prophets, Malachi, wrote; through the Grecian rule to the Roman conquest, B. C. 63; and covering the revolt of the Maccabees. The tendency to idolatry seems to have been destroyed by the Jew's experience and observation of it during captivity. During this period was created the mass of tradition, comment and interpretation known as Mishna, Gemara, Halakoth, Midrashim and Kabbala, she stated. This is also the period during which arose the two great sects known as Pharisees and Sadducees.

Amongst such a people, rent by bitter and unspiritual religious controversies, appeared Jesus, the Son and Christ of God.

As an introduction to the study of the four Gospels, the genealogies of Jesus as given in Matthew 1 and Luke 3 were compared and studied. The next meeting will be Tuesday, January 30, at 7:30 p. m., at the Y. W. C. A.

"Forgive," Hardest Word To Voice Is Evangelists Claim
Evangelist Archer told the congregation last night that the hardest word to pronounce in the English language was "Forgive."

"How hard it is to say 'Forgive me, I was wrong,'" he pointed out. Tonight the evangelist invites all young people to be present. He will speak to them on the subject, "Why Here, Where From, Whither Bound?" There will be services Saturday evening.

On Sunday the evangelist speaks three times, at the church both morning and evening, and Sunday afternoon at the Howard school house at close of the Bible study.

Rev. Archer is fast winning his way into the hearts of the people, and says he is here to help every man, woman and child of Medford that he can.

Mr. Barna, who was accompanied by A. S. Stephens, district manager for the Firestone organization with headquarters in Portland, conferred this morning with G. L. Hopkins, manager of the Firestone Service store, and William Cool, sales representative in southern Oregon.

"Conditions look better in southern California," Mr. Barna said. "On this trip to the northwest, I will visit the major centers in the state with Mr. Stephens. The points I have already covered show general business recovery, which indicates a substantial upturn in economic conditions throughout the Pacific Coast. On this inspection tour, we will especially contact all independent Firestone dealers," he said.

The Firestone factory in Los Angeles is operating on a greater production scale than this big plant has for the past two years, according to word brought to Medford by Mr. Barna. This increased production is also true of eastern Firestone factories.
